It's only The Beginning

We are at The Beginning; High School is The Beginning. It is the beginning of many social experiences. A Prom, a festival, a game, teaches us how to act. When we graduate we are able to make use of these experiences that we learn. The galaxy spirals out from its center. We are at a center, ready to spiral out. It is only The Beginning.

It's only The Beginning

It is The Beginning. It is the beginning of many memories; your class ring, your friends, your work. All of these things will be remembered. It is also the beginning of meaningful activities with other people. We must learn our lines in the play; for our benefit, for the benefit of the others in the cast, and for those who come to see the play. We also participate in sports. Teamwork must be used since we depend on each other. We are experiencing the beginning of all these.

It's only The Beginning

As we pass through High School, we reach a new point in our lives. A point where we have changed from children to young adults. We realize now the responsibilities that must be assumed. We have learned how to work with other people to accomplish goals. We are like a galaxy. It has a starting point and it spirals out from there. We are at that center. It is The Beginning. It is only The Beginning.

It's only The Beginning

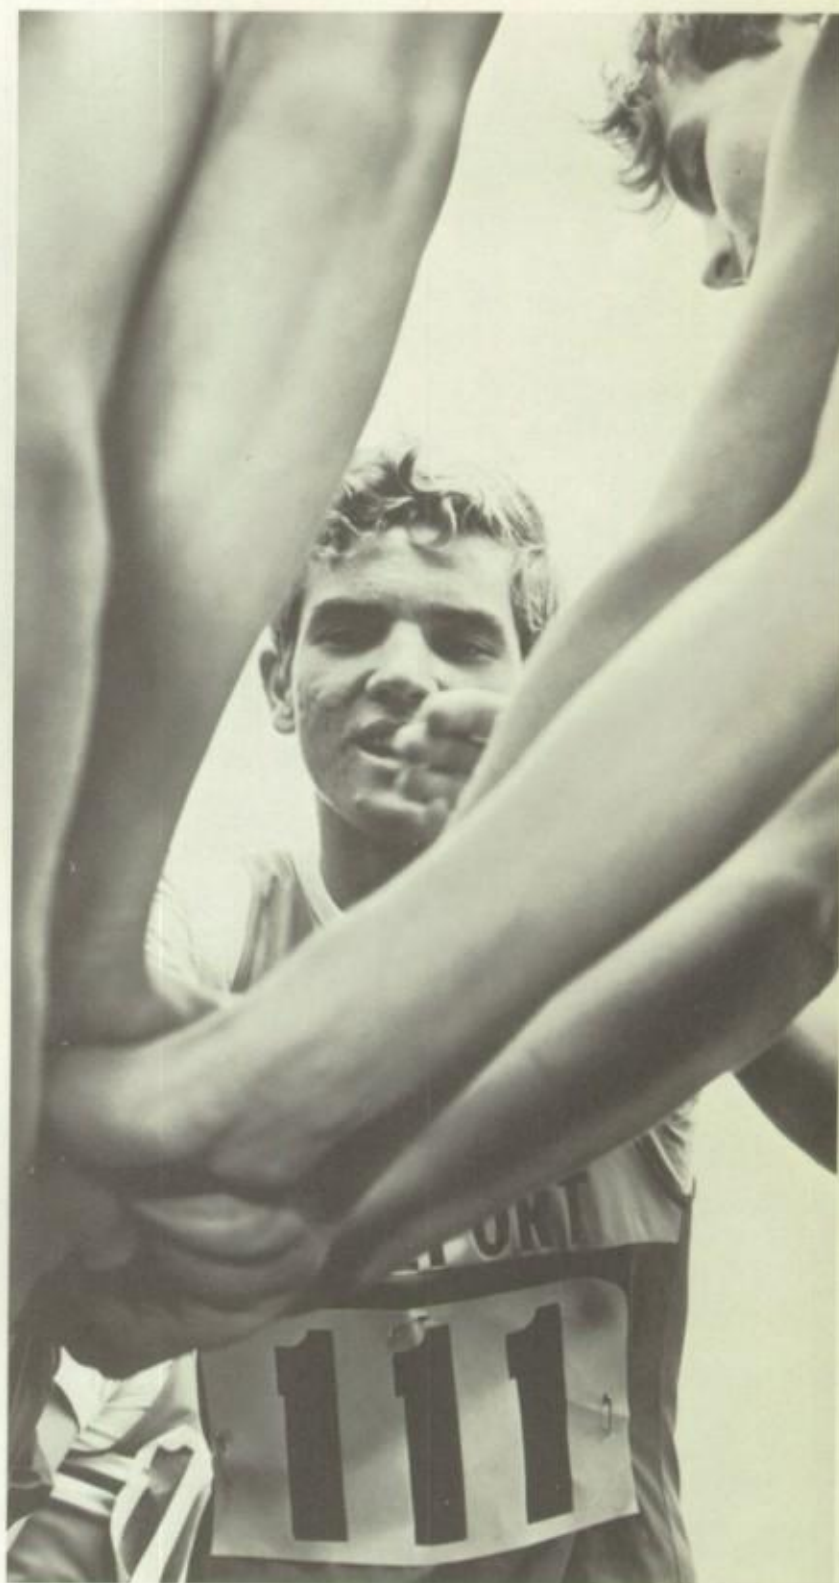

High School is a beginning. It is a beginning because for the first time we must plan our future. We no longer have the security of a school system. We no longer have everything planned for us; our protected lives are over. Before we graduate we are forced to choose our path after High School. So here we are. It is only The Beginning.

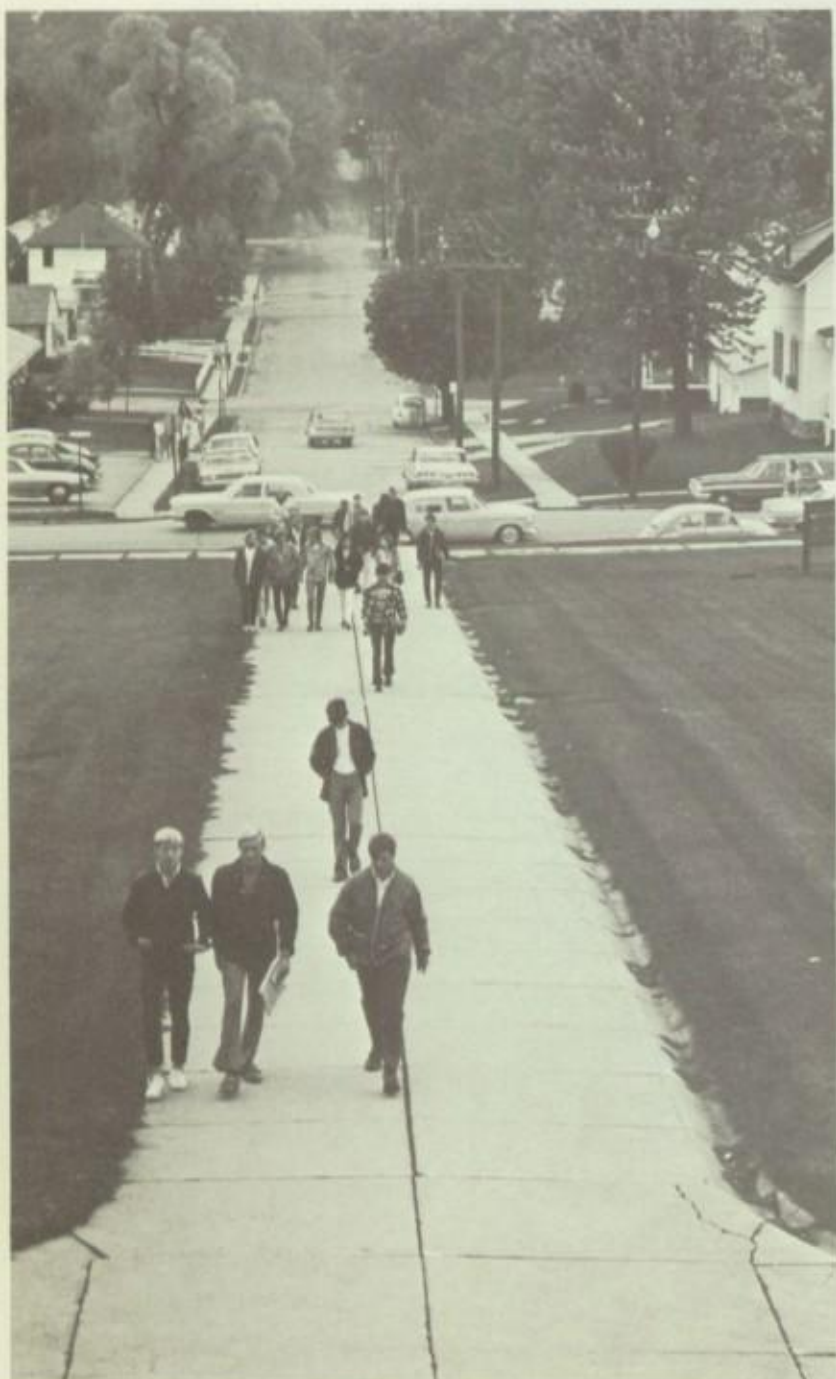

It's only The Beginning

What is a beginning? It is a starting point from which we proceed. A beginning is the start of a race. Our race is living our lives while attaining goals that we have set up for ourselves. Here we are at a beginning. What is ahead? Only each individual person can determine what lies ahead for himself. We are aware now. We realize what the future can or will hold for us. We are at The Beginning. It is only The Beginning.

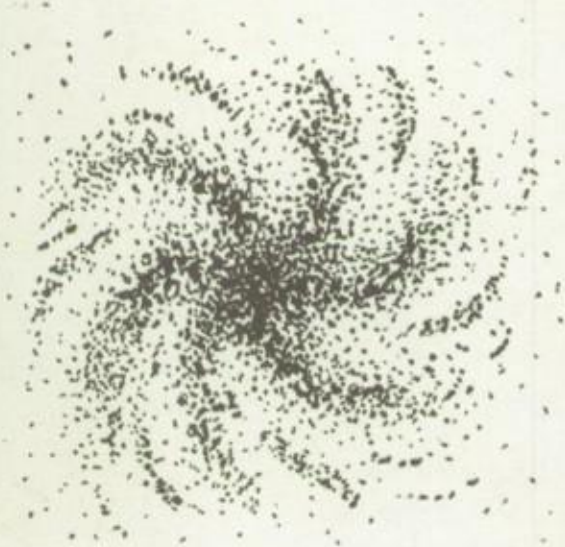

It's only The Beginning

Academics plays an important part in our Beginning. Through academics we become more aware of the world we live in. We realize where we stand; at a beginning. Academics should also prepare us for what lies after The Beginning. We will be able to cope with problems after leaving high school due to academics. Without it there could be no Beginning. But we do have academics. Thus we do have a beginning. It is only The Beginning.

Policies decided

Composed of seven members, the Board of Education strived to make the community "feel in touch" with the schools. Board members, elected by the public alternately to three year terms, represent the public's interest in the schools.

The Board met at least once a month, as well as when important issues arose for immediate attention. Planning curriculum, hiring teachers and the setting of policies were some of the duties acted upon by the Board of Education.

Dr. John Price, Superintendent of Schools, was responsible for informing school administrators of Board decisions as well as implementing Board policies.

70-71—'Year of Self Evaluation'

School year 1970-71 was termed the "Year of Self Evaluation" according to Mr. Rueben Baumgartner, administrative head. It was a year in which the administration took a careful look at the school, examining each department in depth.

To observe the school in operation and recognize any necessary changes was the main objective. Members of the administration were present at various student council meetings to incorporate a relationship between the administration and the student body.

Constantly striving to give all the best education possible with the approval of parents, faculty, the students and the Board was the administrators major aim.

1. Going over an announcement to be read the next day, Mr. Reuben Baumgartner explains what he wants to be typed to Mrs. Schultz.
2. Secretary to Mr. Doctor Evans, Mrs. Marie Engle sorts grade cards according to homerooms.
3. Looking at a college catalog, Doctor Evans explains to Doug Wessel the requirements for Highland Community College.
4. With a look of wonderment, junior Ken Ridgeway, is seen with Mr. Baldwin inside his office.

Students aid office secretaries

"May I have your attention for the following announcements . . .", reported a voice from the main office numerous mornings throughout the school year.

Answering telephone calls, taking dictation, typing letters, duplicating tests, preparing college transcripts, working with attendance and truancy records and aiding the three deans were among the tasks which kept the secretaries of the offices busy.

Students were trained to operate the switchboard in the main office. They also alphabetized information in the attendance office.

1. Daily mail and announcements are picked up by teachers after office helpers "stuff" the teachers' mailboxes each morning. 2. Early in the year, this display case outside the attendance office was used by DECA to aid their candy sales. 3. Foreign exchange student, Richard Robinson, receives a cablegram from home to congratulate him on his eighteenth birthday. 4. Permission slips were turned into Mrs. Burgener by several students requesting a day off to see President Nixon on his visit to Rockford.

Assistance offered

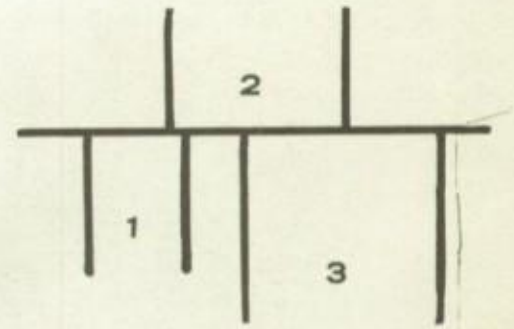

Many times questions concerning tests and college materials were answered by Mrs. Elaine Smith, secretary of the guidance office.

Weekly guidance sessions attempted to help the student in decisions he had to make concerning course and schedule changes. Various career books and college catalogues were available to students to review during these periods. Information about scholarships and entrance exams was presented to interested students.

Outside speakers were invited to encourage students to consider the value of their education. Students viewed film strips with narrations on employment and the world of vocations and careers as it will appear in the years to come.

Mr. Reuben Baumgartner attended sessions to hear criticisms and suggestions on the modified system of scheduling. Counselors were available during unscheduled mods to give students additional assistance.

1. New student, Steve Babcock, relies on his counselor, Mr. McWilliams, to explain his schedule. 2. Busy counselors are reason enough for students to spend many free mods in the office awaiting conferences. 3. Occupational and college references are referred to by Valerie Bruce in the guidance office.

Students pay book rental fees

"Mrs. Cutler, I lost my locker combination and can't remember it!", frantically muttered a nervous sophomore the second day of school.

Students began to appear at the window of the business office on August 24 to pay book rental fees and insurance. Mrs. Martha Cutler and Mr. Robert Davis aided the students by selling books for English classes and tickets for athletic and social events throughout the year.

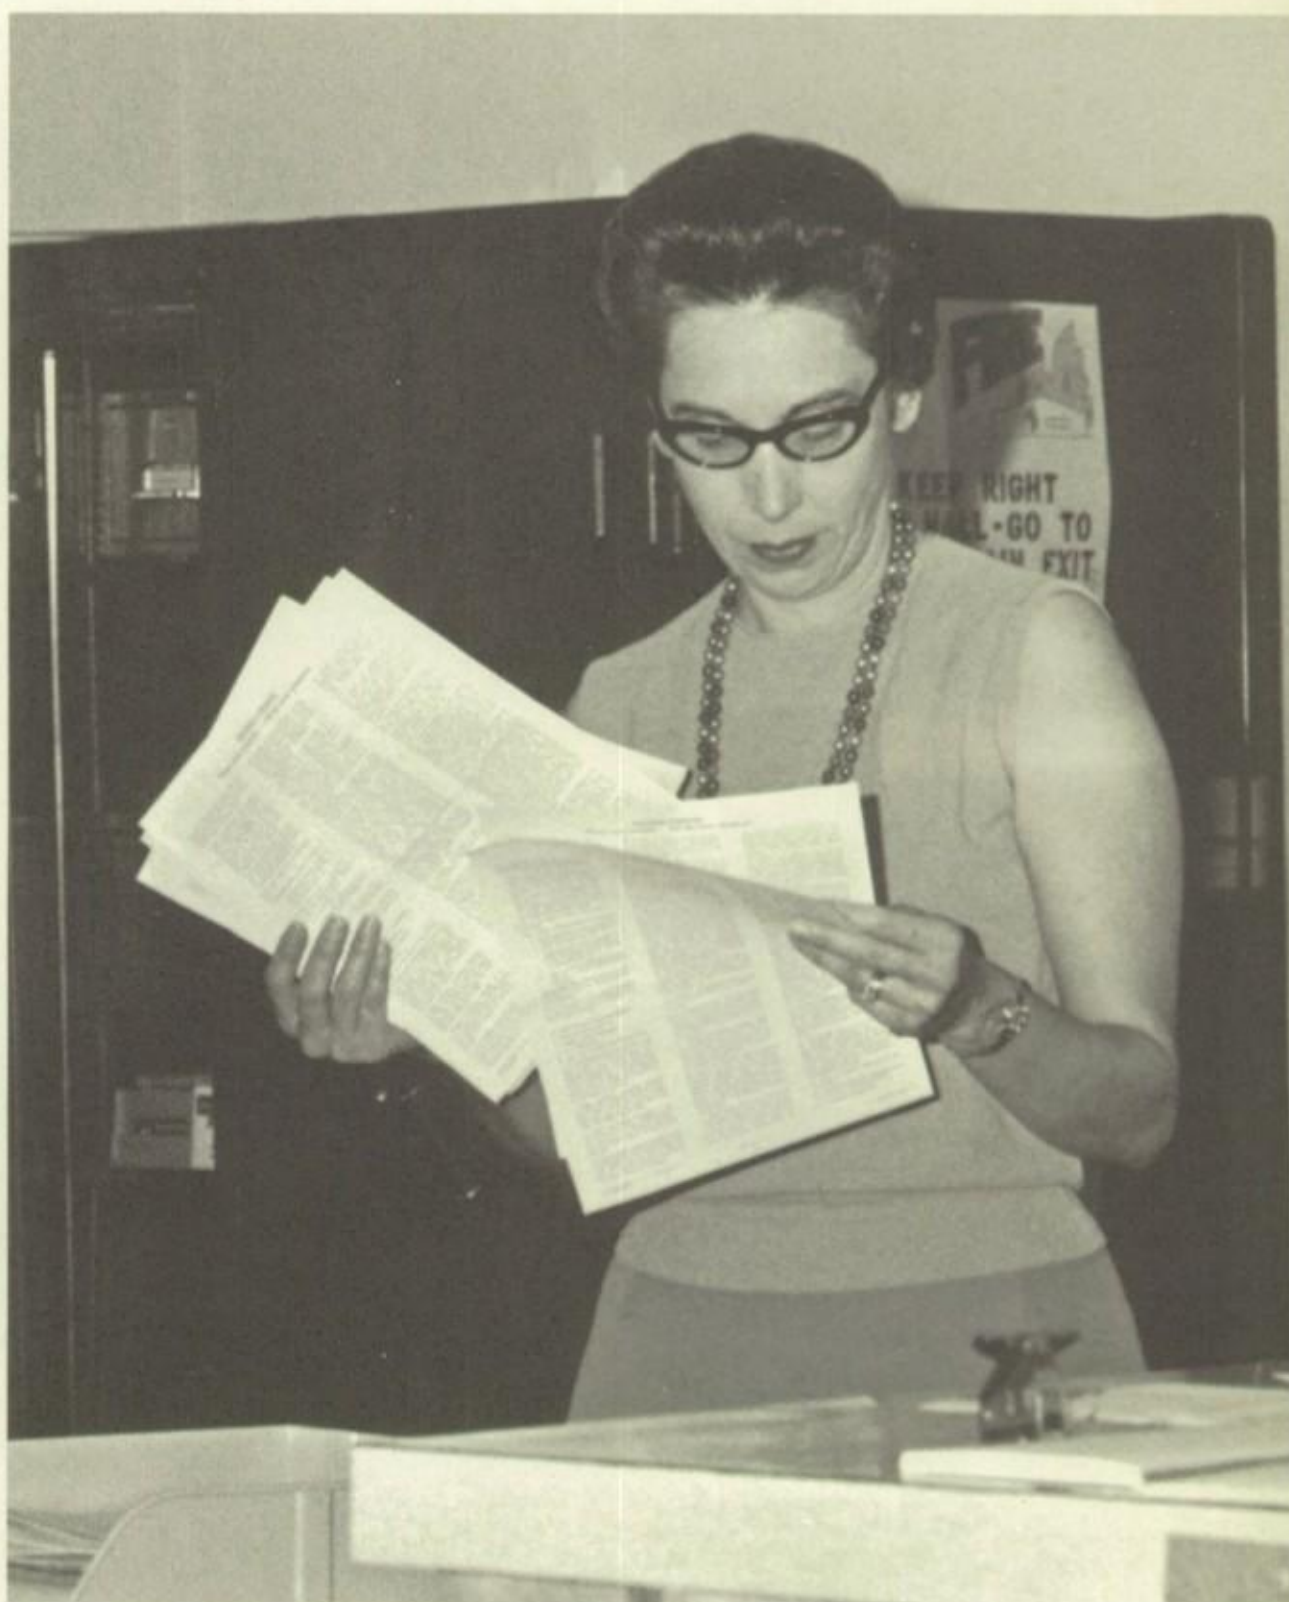

Balancing school treasury books and distributing and collecting textbooks were additional duties of the business office.

First aid is given

On a busy day, Mrs. Donna Manning, the school nurse, administered first aid to an average of 35 students.

Each time a student entered room 120 for the slightest pain, it was the nurse's task to record his visit on his health card. Accidents or injuries which occurred during the school day could be treated on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning, as Mrs. Manning was available only at these times. All sophomores were given the annual vision screening. Hearing follow-ups were also administered to students.

Mr. Kenneth Word, the school psychologist, visited the school every other Tuesday to see students at their request or that of a teacher.

School nurse, Mrs. Manning, writes out Gayle Nesemyer's visit on her health card.

New recorder advances study

Needs for movies and micro-film were administered by Mrs. Mary Ellen McPherson and Mr. Warren Schuster, supervisors of the Instructional Materials Center. Bookshelves were moved to the west end of the library and the east end was supplied with study carrels. This arrangement made it possible for classes to meet in the library.

Added to the IMC department this year was a sync tape recorder. With this equipment, teachers were able to assemble their own tape-and-slide presentations, thus making lectures available to the students.

1. The splicer is put to use as Linden Feller repairs a torn strip of film. 2. Additional materials for many subjects are found on tape and films in the IMC department. Here Dawn Schultz works with the console. 3. As secretary in the IMC office, one of Mrs. Maxine Miller's jobs is to check with the board office about availability of materials. 4. An overhead projector is the subject of much attention from Kurt Miller and Scott Fenton as they check to see if it is in good running order.

Support personnel begin early

Cafeteria and maintenance staffs began their day at 5 A.M. with various shifts working until 11 P.M.

Twenty women, along with the help of nine students, were involved in the lunch production line which served 500-600 meals a day.

Thirteen custodians and one matron were responsible for the maintenance of the 230,571 square feet of the Freeport Senior High School. The staff worked cleaning the offices, washrooms, locker rooms and classrooms. In addition to the interior work, the custodians had duties such as lining the football and baseball fields, trimming hedges and cutting grass.

1. The cafeteria lines are empty until tenth mod, then they become filled with students anxiously waiting their lunch. 2. Busily at work, two members of the cafeteria staff prepare lunches for students. 3. After school, the custodian busily works at sweeping the floors, making sure they are clean for the next school day. 4. A cafeteria worker finishes the daily task of cleaning up after the lunch. 5. This large pushbroom makes the task of sweeping the floors easier for the custodians.

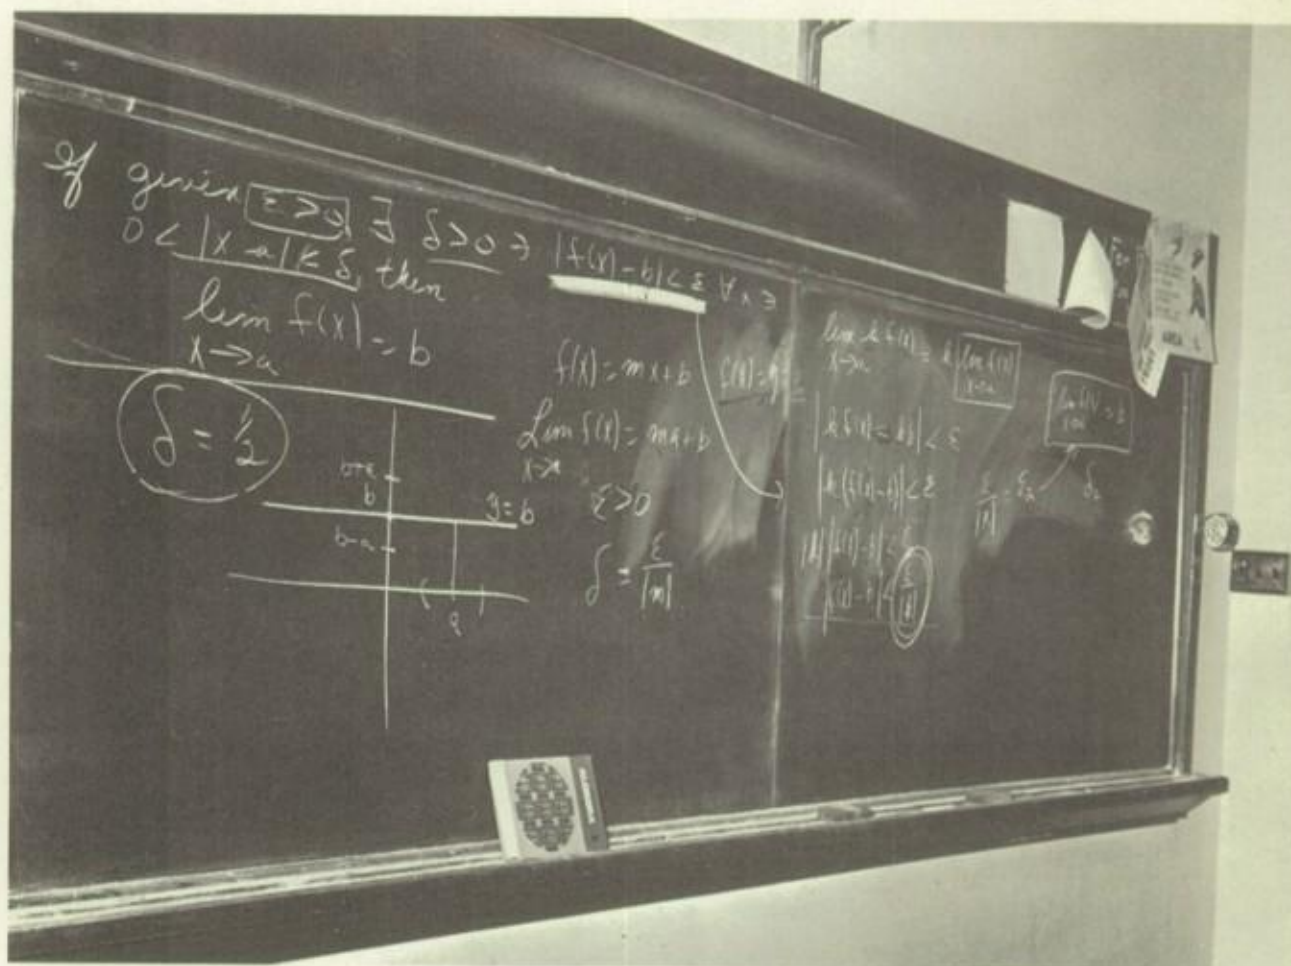

Shop math course introduced

Fragments of mathematical terminology could be heard as one passed by rooms 130 and 133, the new math resource center. Inside the door of 133, Mrs. Charlotte Kritsky, the full-time secretary, was often found typing test forms for the seven math teachers or providing special materials for the students.

Shop math, a new course, was offered by the department for students in industrial education. Taught by Mr. Raymond Robbins and Mr. DeWayne Burck, this course was co-ordinated by both departments to give the student the fundamental math needed to excel in the industrial arts course.

New senior courses added

Seven new courses were added to the English curriculum for seniors. Available as semester electives were: Contemporary Issues in Literature, British Literature, World Literature, Studies in Heroism, Composition I, II and Mass Media.

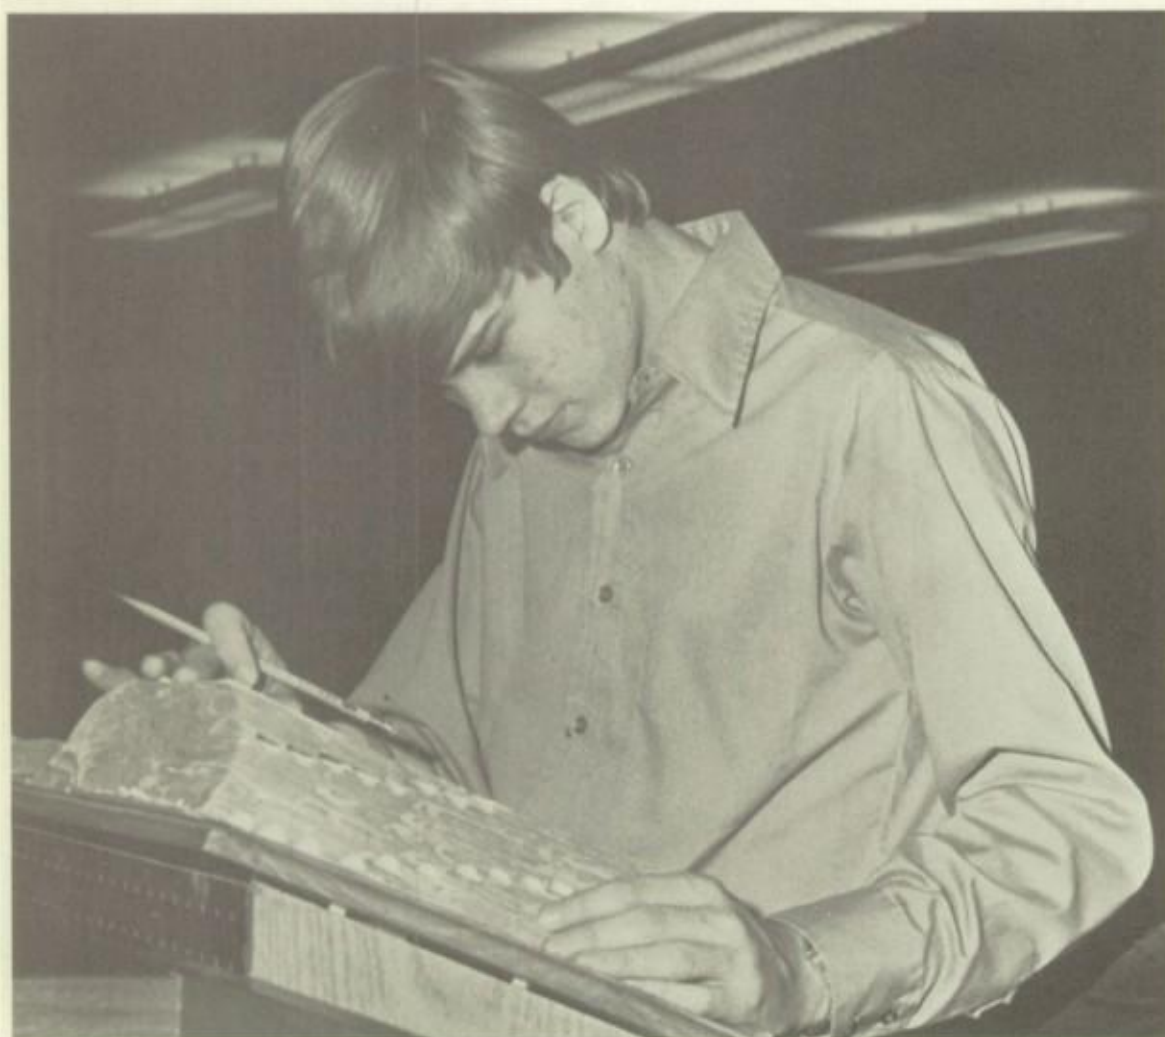

Juniors study American literature in lab groups of fifty under the direction of five teachers. This system proved successful as teachers worked with separate lab groups. Sophomores followed a curriculum with one semester of speech and one of literature and drama.

Beginning journalism was offered to sophomores, juniors and seniors. Advanced journalism, consisting of the yearbook and newspaper staffs, was initiated as a full credit course.

1. Sophomores Joe Vaughn and Valeria Maines discuss and arrange note cards for debate class. 2. In a sophomore speech class, Mr. Ralph Enstrom explains what he likes concerning the student's speech. 3. A new teacher in the English department, Miss Peterson aids this student in finding a parallel reading for The Good Earth.

Individual conferences lead to better understanding between Mr. Boller and his students. 4. Part of the aids available to teachers was a record player. Mr. Baumgartner uses one to help his class.

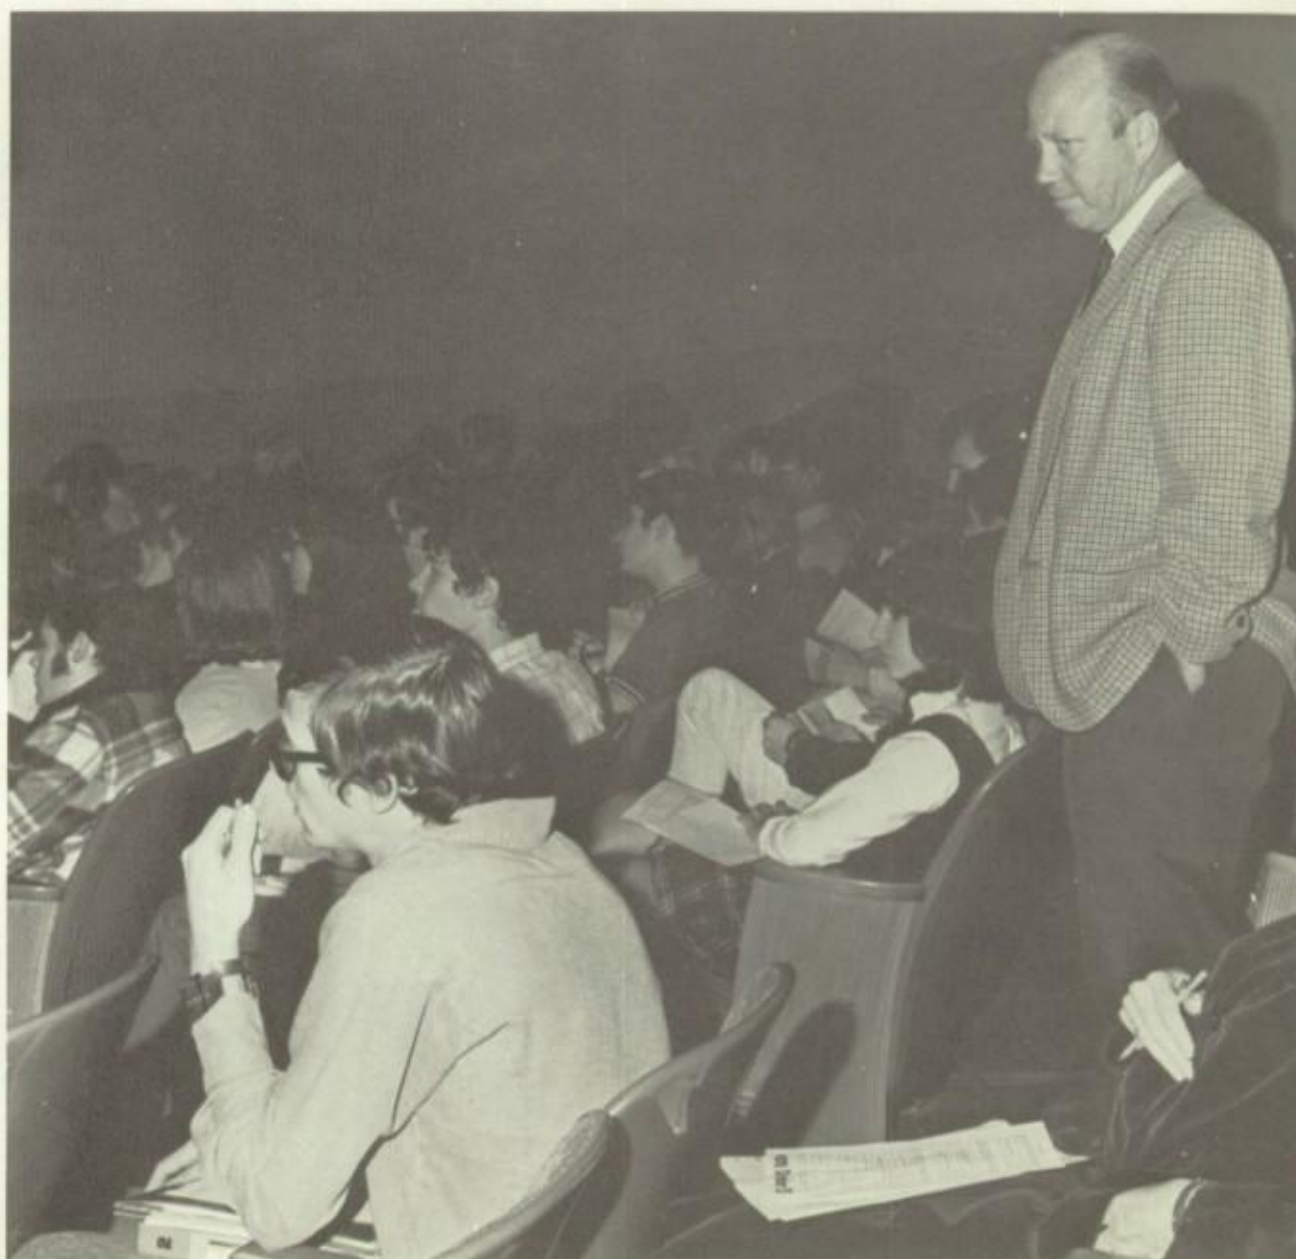

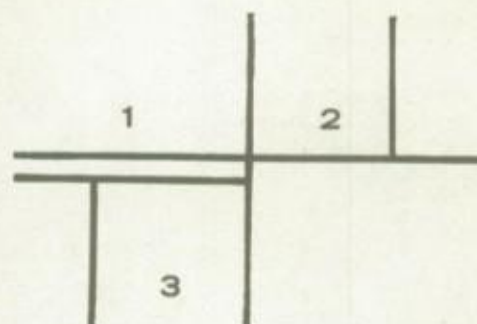

Six semester courses offered

Six semester and three full-year courses were offered in the social studies department. Psychology was the new semester course made available to juniors and seniors. This course was taught by Mr. Richard Lumby and Mr. Dan Humay.

Other one-semester courses offered included sociology, economics, Afro-american history, political thought and problems of democracy. Full-year courses were world history, world geography and U.S. history, a required course for all junior students.

Nine teachers taught in the department with Mr. Richard Lumby as head. Two new teachers were added to the social studies department, Mr. Charles Palecek and Mr. Rolland Vander Zyl who taught sociology and world geography respectively.

1. In a relaxed format, Mr. Stanley Doden lectures to his senior Political Thought class. 2. In spite of the sometimes noisy surrounding, senior Jon Ocker finds a carrel in the social studies resource center a good place for study. 3. A student's attention is turned back to the history lecture after he receives a questioning glance from his teacher, Mr. Bill Chance.

Sciences stimulate progress

Nine teachers instructed students in science courses under the direction of Mr. Edsel Langdon, head of the department. Mrs. Margaret Schaus served as an aide to the teachers and was responsible for much of the necessary typing work.

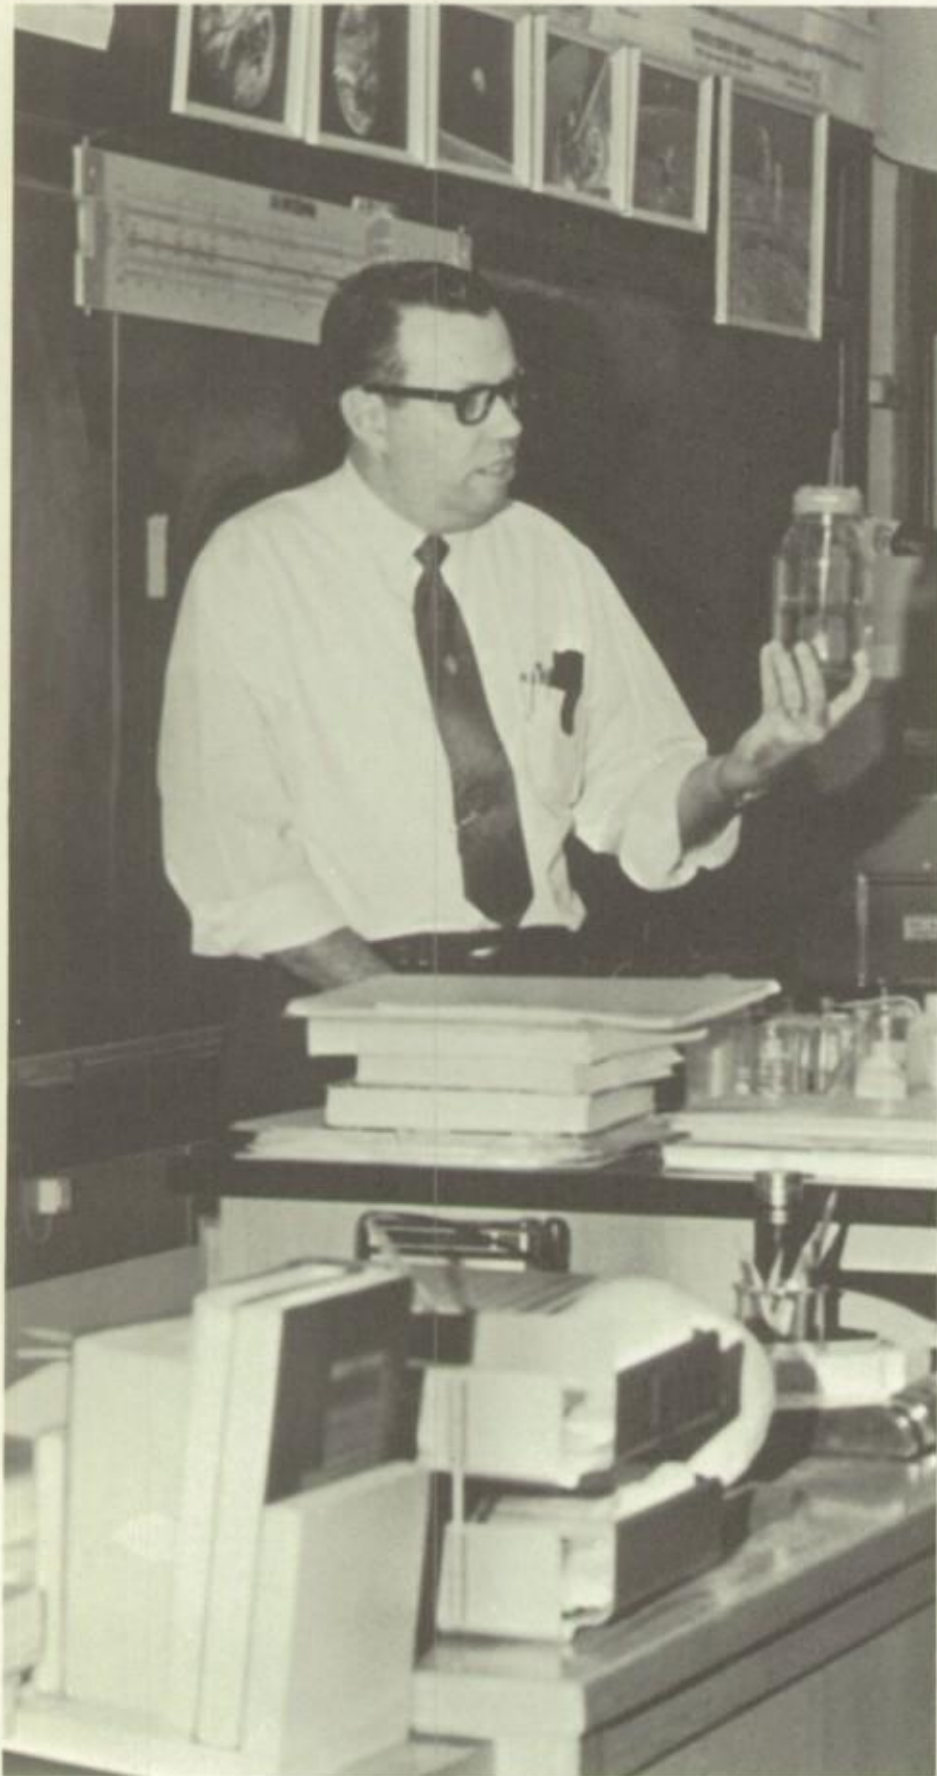

In addition to biology, chemistry and physics, which was offered on three levels of difficulty, astronomy also attracted student interest. New books were used by students enrolled in physics and chemistry. Mini courses were offered in computer logic and photographic and darkroom techniques.

In the spring of the year, those students enrolled in the physics classes participated in a field trip to Dresden, Illinois, to see the Atomic Power Plant.

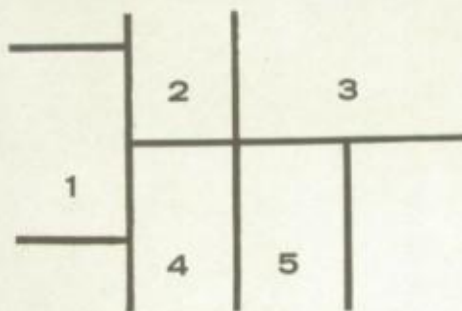

1. Linda Tracy and Bob Mattingly watch as Mr. Gerald Straks measures a power supply with an oscilloscope. 2. Advanced biology student Tom Brooks feeds one of the hamsters used by the science department. 3. Herb Stith and Ken Katel conduct a tension experiment in connection with a lab assignment in physics.

Interested students take 'mini's'

1. Mr. John Hull demonstrates an electroscope to his students. 2. During an unscheduled mod, senior Doug Engle completes a lab experiment. 3. These instruments are analytical balances which are used by those students enrolled in advanced chemistry. 4. Pamela Beer observes a specimen through the microviewer. 5. Preparing an experiment on momentum are seniors Vonnie Hall and Susan Smith.

Personal direction provided

About 7,000 students per semester were served by the language department. New to the department, Mrs. Lila Dougherty aided in the lab from 11-3 each day. Much emphasis was placed on listening and comprehension as the lab was improved to handle thirty-two different programs simultaneously.

Instruction was individualized on the upper level by Mrs. Mary Collins and Mr. Wendell Kurr. Quizzes, called evaluations, were taken when students felt prepared to take them.

Emphasis during the first two years of a language included vocabulary, grammar and basic study of the countries. The third and fourth years were concerned with grammar and reading of articles, poetry and dramas, and improving ability to speak the language. During the 1970-71 school year, the French and Spanish each had a fifth year course. Students in these courses read advanced novels.

ICE offered for first time at fhs

FHS's industrial arts department included unit shops in electricity and electronics, metals and machine shops, power mechanics, technical drawing, woodworking and Industrial Cooperative Education.

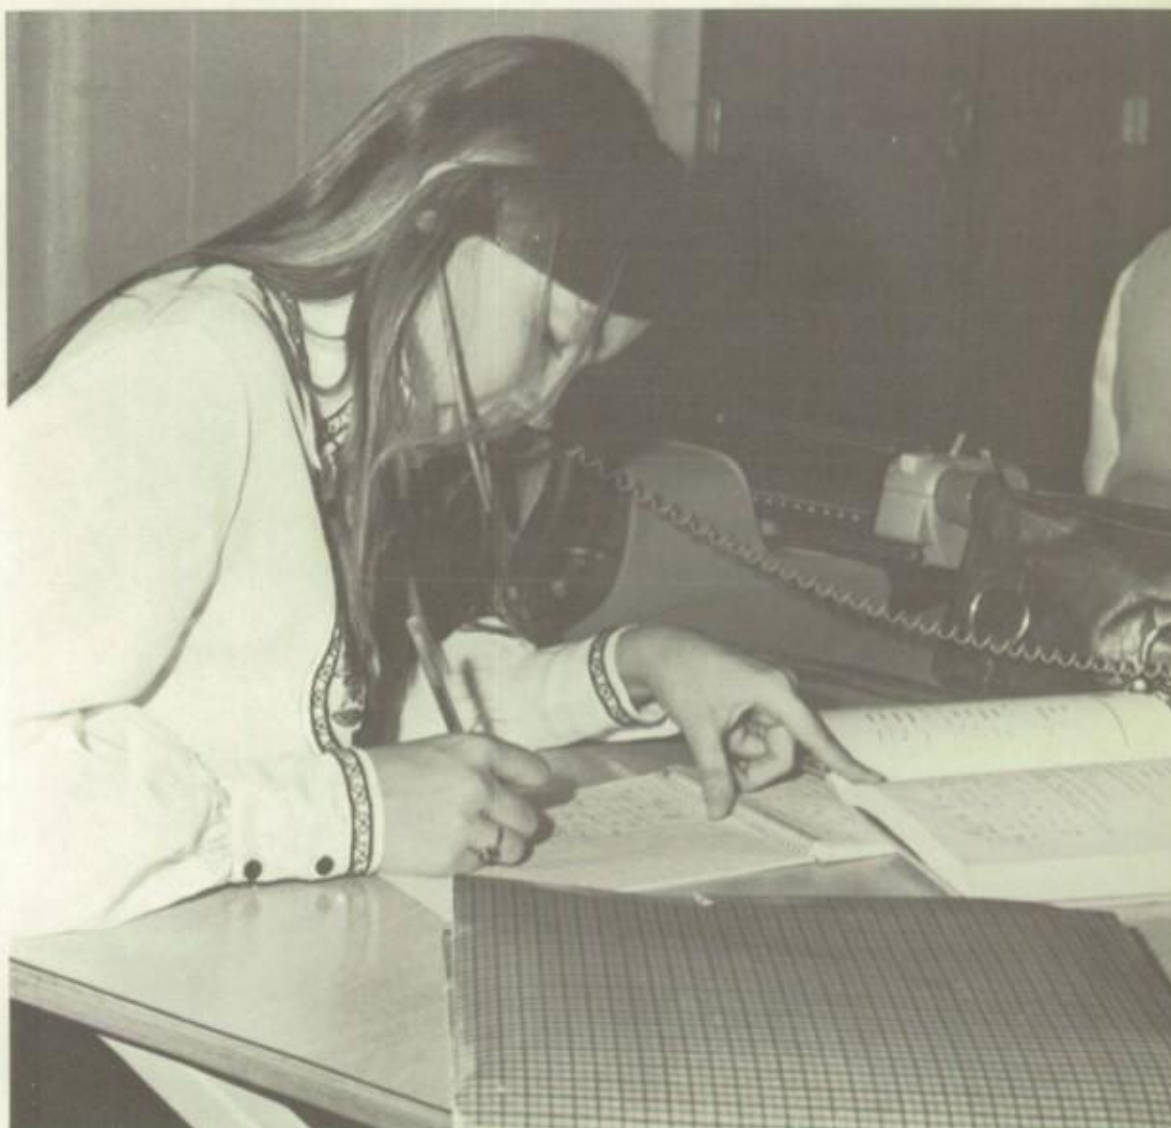

Offered for the first time, ICE was a co-ordinated effort between school and industry to provide a practical means of training youth for employment as skilled tradesmen. Some of the units of study included personality and jobs, labor unions and planning a career for the future.

Interested students in power mechanics entered in the Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest in which they raced against time and other teams in an effort to repair malfunctions in a special test car.

Three new courses available

Under the supervision of Mr. Lee Gerber, the Business Education Department adopted several new courses. Introduction to data processing, offered fundamental knowledge and practice for students in data processing. New equipment for this course consisted of a 402 accounting machine, two sorters and two key-punch machines. This equipment was donated to the business department by the Furst-McNess Company of Freeport.

Another new course entitled Cooperative Office Education was also introduced. This course resembled vocational office practice except that it emphasized on-the-job training and was more individualized. Consumer Finance was also added to the 1970-71 curriculum.

Training is given

Vocational training program, designed to help students get the high school credits needed to graduate, enrolled thirty students. The main objective of the course was to prepare students for future vocations through work experience and on-the-job training.

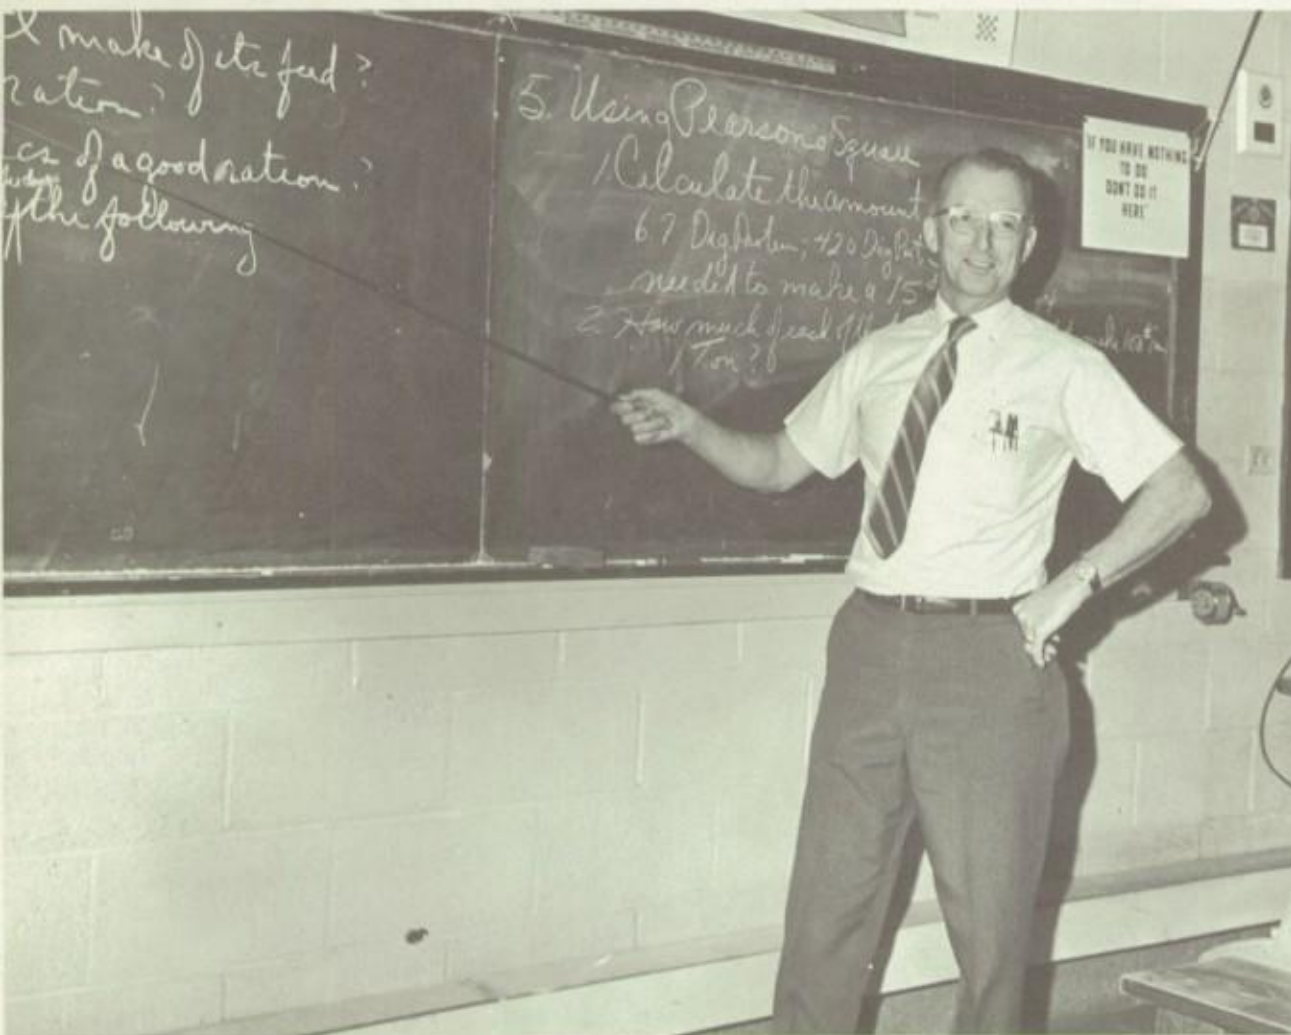

Through the teaching of Mr. Carl Beichel and Mr. Michael Minnick, students were placed in jobs at Sandy's, the Journal-Standard, Holiday Inn and other area businesses. Work experience was also gained in various duties and jobs performed around FHS.

Eight girls enroll in agriculture

Agri-business wasn't limited to just boys, as eight girls enrolled in the course. The curriculum for the agri-business department was composed of a beginning course in soil and plant science, followed by a second year of animal science. This was followed by an advanced level course of farm business management.

Units of study in horticulture and landscaping were also available.

In the fall of the year, the department attended the Farm Progress Show at Sun Prairie, Wisconsin.

1. Junior Robert Stoltz gains work experience as he helps in the cafeteria. 2. Agriculture instructor, Mr. Boke-meier, answers a question about the assignment on the board. 3. Instructor Mr. Beichel helps Gloria Olsen with an assignment. 4. Selection of breeding swine is viewed by members of the animal science class at the Roger Gahm farm.

Minister is heard

Field trips played an important part in the education of home economics students. House and home furnishing classes studied upholstered furniture and carpeting at downtown stores. Broadened understanding of child development through observations at the Child Day Care Center helped those students enrolled in the child care course.

Outside speakers, including a minister, spoke to family living classes.

Seventy take trip to art institute

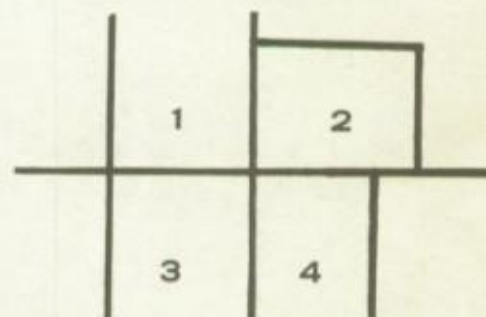

Basic design, the prerequisite for all other art courses, doubled its enrollment according to Mrs. Lucille Madden, head of the art department. This course provided the student with the fundamentals of art which would enable him to proceed in other areas of creative art.

Seventy students engaged in a field trip to the Art Institute in Chicago in the fall. Textile design students took a trip to Northern Illinois University in the spring, where they displayed their projects at an area exhibiting show.

To aid in drama productions the department made posters, painted scenery and constructed needed props.

At the annual Folk Festival sponsored by the art club, Miss Mary Ann Poracky participates in the program which was open to all interested performers.

New change for girls p.e. dept.

Physical education has come a long way from the traditional push-ups and sit-ups. Courses in areas from modern dance to field hockey were offered to girls who, for the first time, were able to choose their own courses.

The sophomores were scheduled in the majority of their gym units. Putting all the same grade in one hour class made this new technique possible. New equipment and courses were added and large groups discontinued so the girls would have more time for independent work.

Boys P.E. classes consisted of four main units: football, basketball, wrestling-tumbling and softball-track.

Chocolate drive cuts expenses

In order to aid in the expense of Tri-Double-I, the Freeport High's orchestra and band members participated in a chocolate drive by selling candy bars. Both band and orchestra traveled to Dubuque for the annual event which was held at Hempstead High School. Both groups participated in district and state contests.

Drum majors for 70-71 were Linda Bangasser and Gary DeLander, with Tawny Palmer as baton twirler. The band director was Mr. Doolittle.

Activities of the orchestra, directed by Mr. McLain, encompassed playing for the Christmas Pageant, drama productions and for graduation ceremonies. Members also participated in several orchestra programs.

Dubuque hosts Tri-Double-I

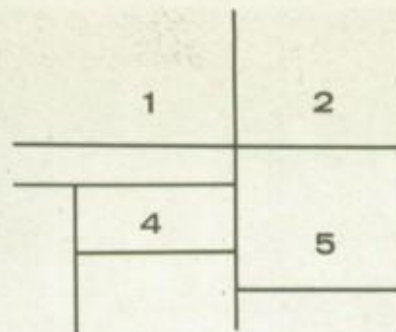

Spring auditions enabled students to qualify for the various choral groups. The choral department functioned under the direction of Miss Dorothy Nelson.

Choral groups participated in the Christmas Pageant and the Spring Concert. Christmas caroling was an added activity enjoyed by choir members. Programs were given for service organizations such as Rotary and Kiwanis. The Concert Choir traveled to Dubuque to Hempstead High School to participate in the Tri-Double-I music festival.

It's only The Beginning

Organizations aid us in working with other people. In order to have a strong and visible organization several things should be done: We must set up and follow rules. People to lead such as a president or secretary should be designated. The organization should also have access to qualified advisors. We find organizations in The Beginning because we can use them to attain our personal goals.

Two boys gain new customs

Through AFS, foreign exchange students are able to spend a year of their schooling in the United States or in another country. Freeport's AFS student abroad this summer was Peter Tkocz who traveled to New Guinea. He attended Boroko High School which is a suburb of Port Moresby in the highlands of Goroka.

Traveling to the United States from the Republic of South Africa was Richard Robinson, who enrolled as a senior at FHS. He was from Florida Hills, a suburb of Johannesburg, where he lived with his parents and ten brothers and sisters.

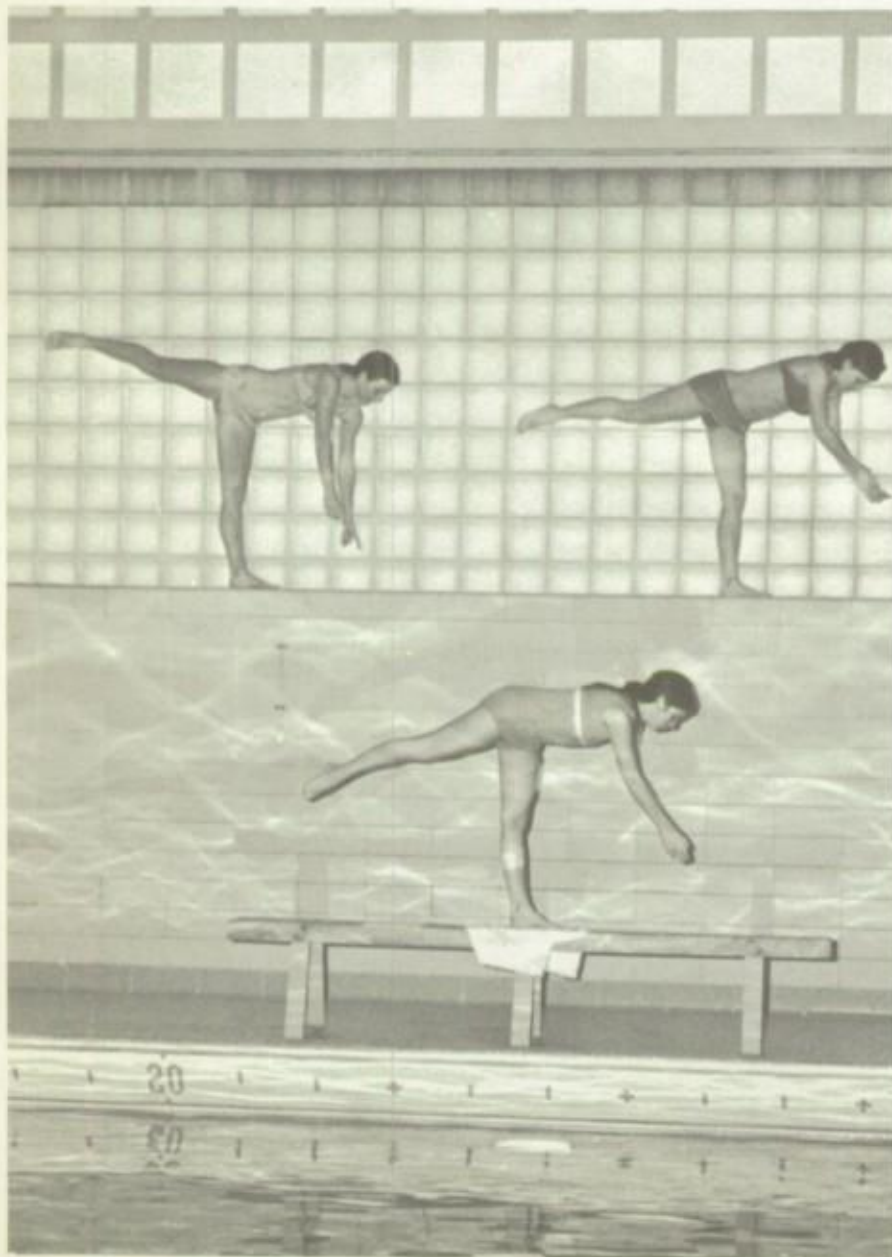

AFS club officers were Eric Knight, president; Sue Harms, secretary-treasurer; and Kathy Burstrom, publicity. This club sold AFS shares to students and the public to raise money for future AFS students at Freeport High.

Catalinas set show

Catalina Swim Club, in its ten-year existence, has taught synchronized swimming and water ballet to over a hundred FHS girls. Tryouts were held for ninth grade girls and once a member they never need to tryout again. Advisors for the club were Miss Bealer and Mrs. Toerber.

Each fall a theme is chosen for the annual swim show. The show is presented as a colorfully-costumed musical. The 1971 theme revolved around the study of astrology. Music and costumes depicted the theme of the show presented April 30 and May 1.

Allied Med joins student nurses

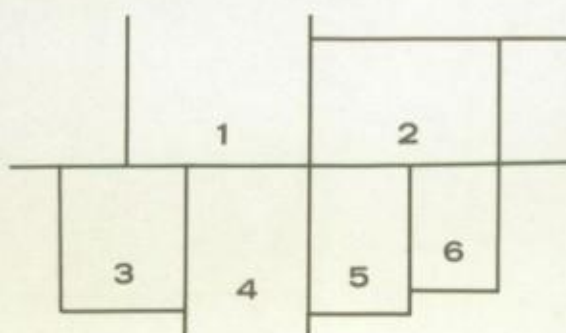

Allied Medical Career Club was an organization which helped interested students decide on a medical career. Club members participated in several activities with the student nurses at Freeport Memorial Hospital, such as a dinner and a splash party. A field trip was taken to a medical center in Chicago during February.

Allied Med met every fourth Monday and Tuesday, alternately, each month with officers, Margaret Kuehl, president; Joan Green, vice-president; Anne Kuehl, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Donna Manning, advisor. Meetings were usually held in dining room of Freeport Memorial Hospital.

Advisor to allied med is another duty of the school nurse, Mrs. Donna Manning.

NFL films observed

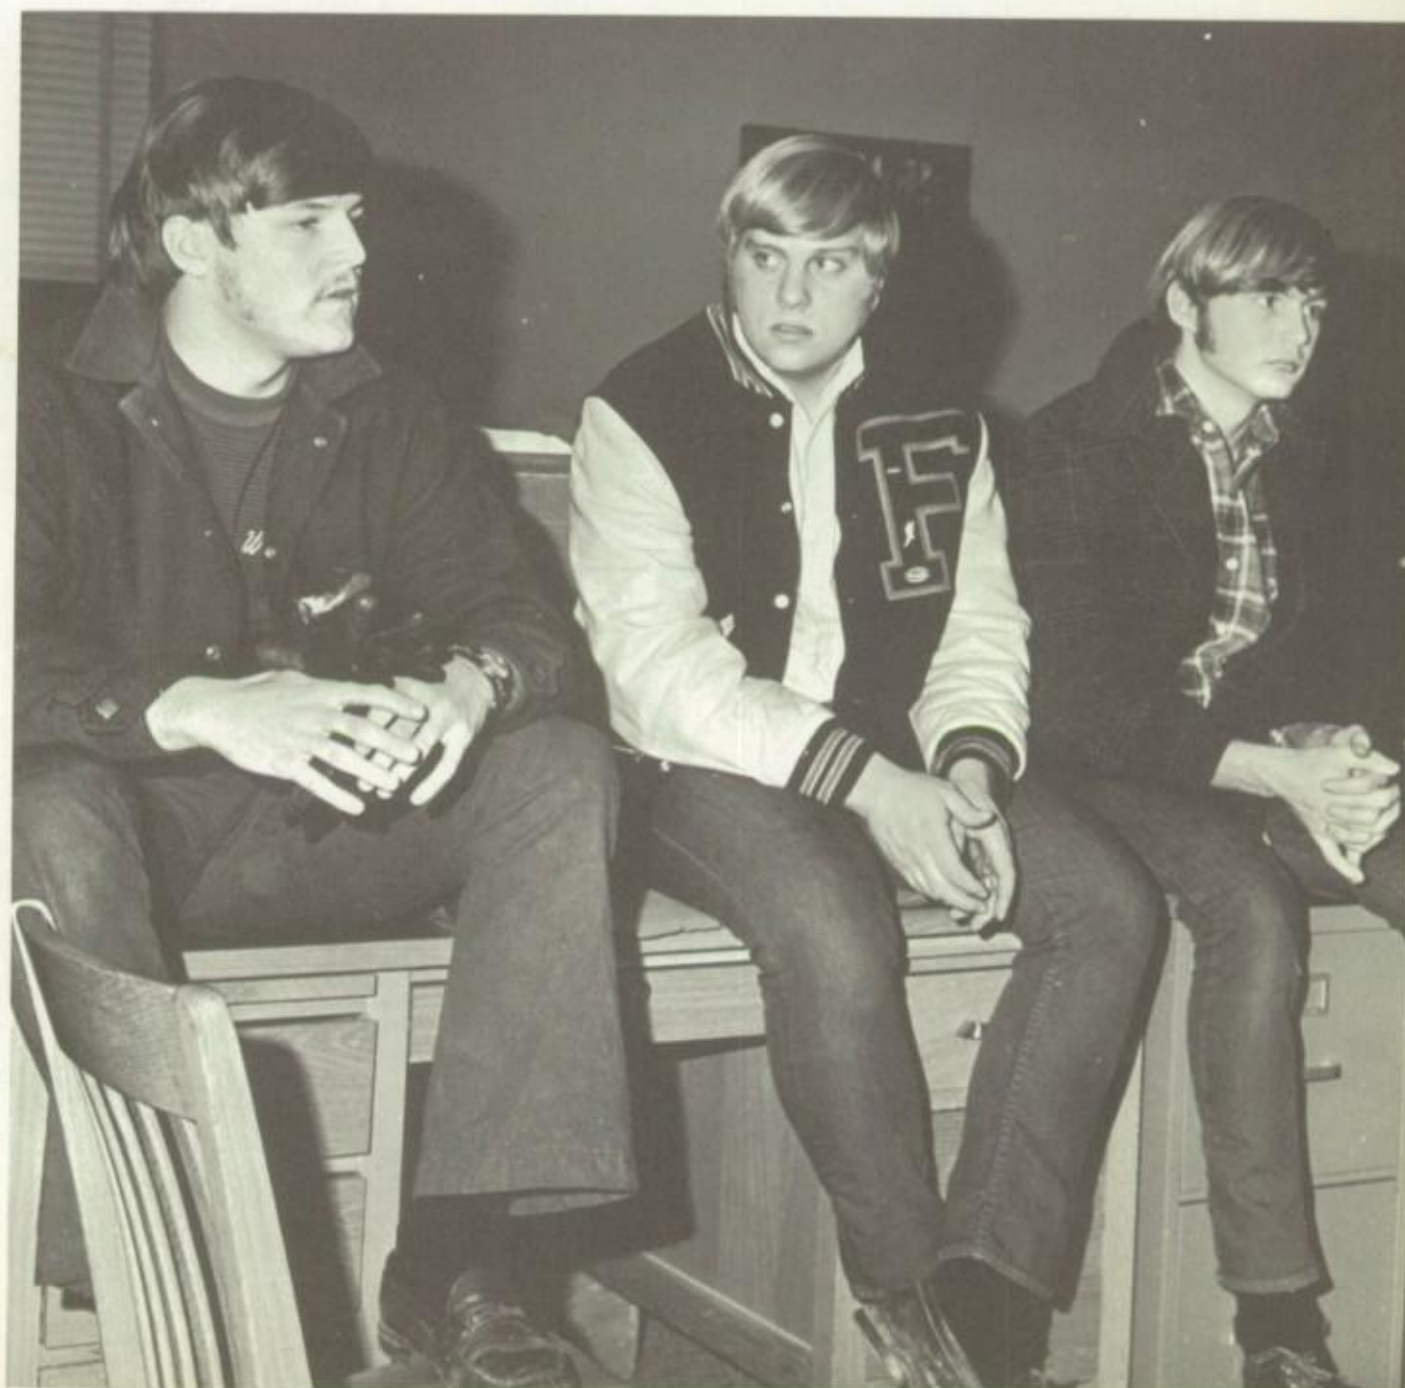

Members of the Letterman's club, who must be varsity letter winners, had a good time at their meetings as well as planned ways to earn money to further athletics at FHS. The club viewed movies of highlights of the 1969 season of the NFL and provided ushers for home basketball games.

All proceeds from projects went towards a weight machine for the athletic department. The machine would work for the advantage of all athletes who would use it.

Voicing her opinion on a disputed question is Donna Parker, while Marsovena Pearson, Darrel Lenoir, and Brian Greene listen without comment.

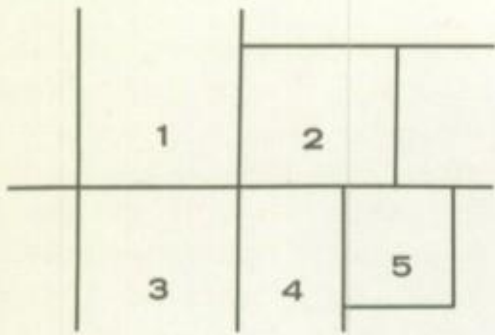

Culture is learned in afro club

Afro-American club was organized for students interested in the culture of Afro-Americans. Celebration of Negro History Week and a trip to Northwestern University were two of the activities in which the club was involved.

Afro club met every second and fourth Tuesday, after school. Officers for the 1971 school year were, Charles Collins, president; Ronnie Bush, vice-president; Rosalind Parker, secretary; Darryl Lenoir, treasurer; Steve Harrell, Sergeant at Arms; and Mr. Stanley Doden and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Johnson, advisors for the club.

1. Programs for business club are discussed by Linda Smith, advisor and Mike Barr. 2. Slides of on-the-job training are explained by Larry Voss to Randy Schasker. 3. Plans to organize a business club are discussed by Tom Kenneke and advisors. 4. At Garrity's Drug Store, Dennis Rowland puts price tags on items. 5. Linda Hass and Kathy Nelson prepare notes.

Six go to meeting

Distributive Education Clubs of America is designed to develop future leaders for marketing and distribution. The club participated in two area conferences, both which were held in the Rockford area. On February 26 and 27, six members of DECA were selected by Mr. William Guymon, advisor, to attend the State-wide DECA conference in Springfield, Illinois. During DECA week, November 11-18, the club decorated the business education hall.

Officers elected were Linda Haas, president; Cathy Runkle, vice-president; Cindy Penwell, secretary; and Kathy Nelson, treasurer. The club met when necessary during the lab period of DE from 10:00 until 11:00 each day.

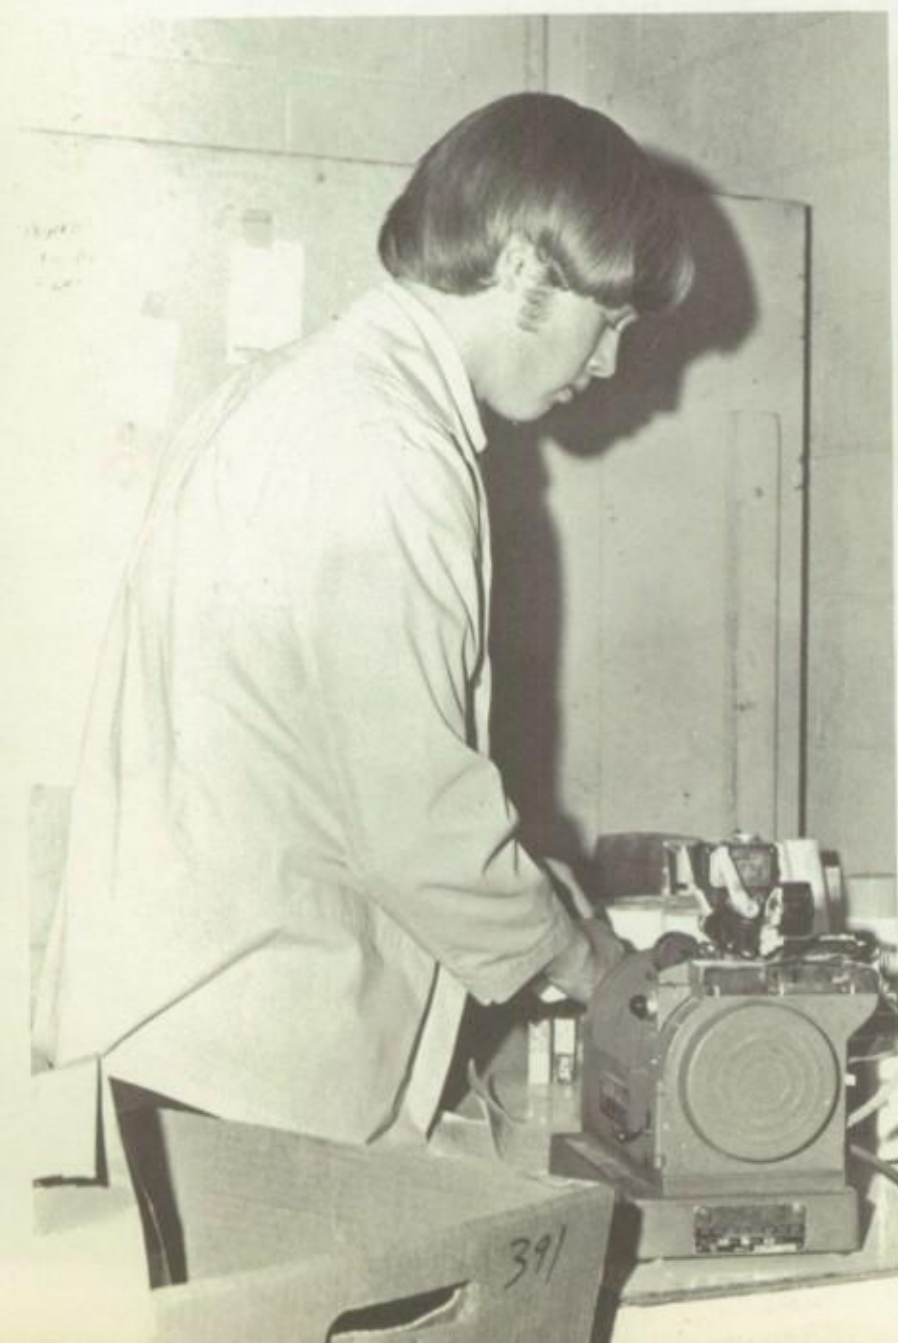

Business students organize club

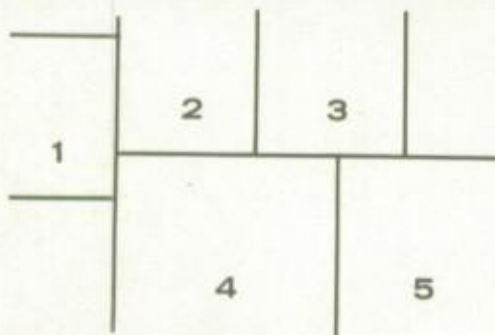

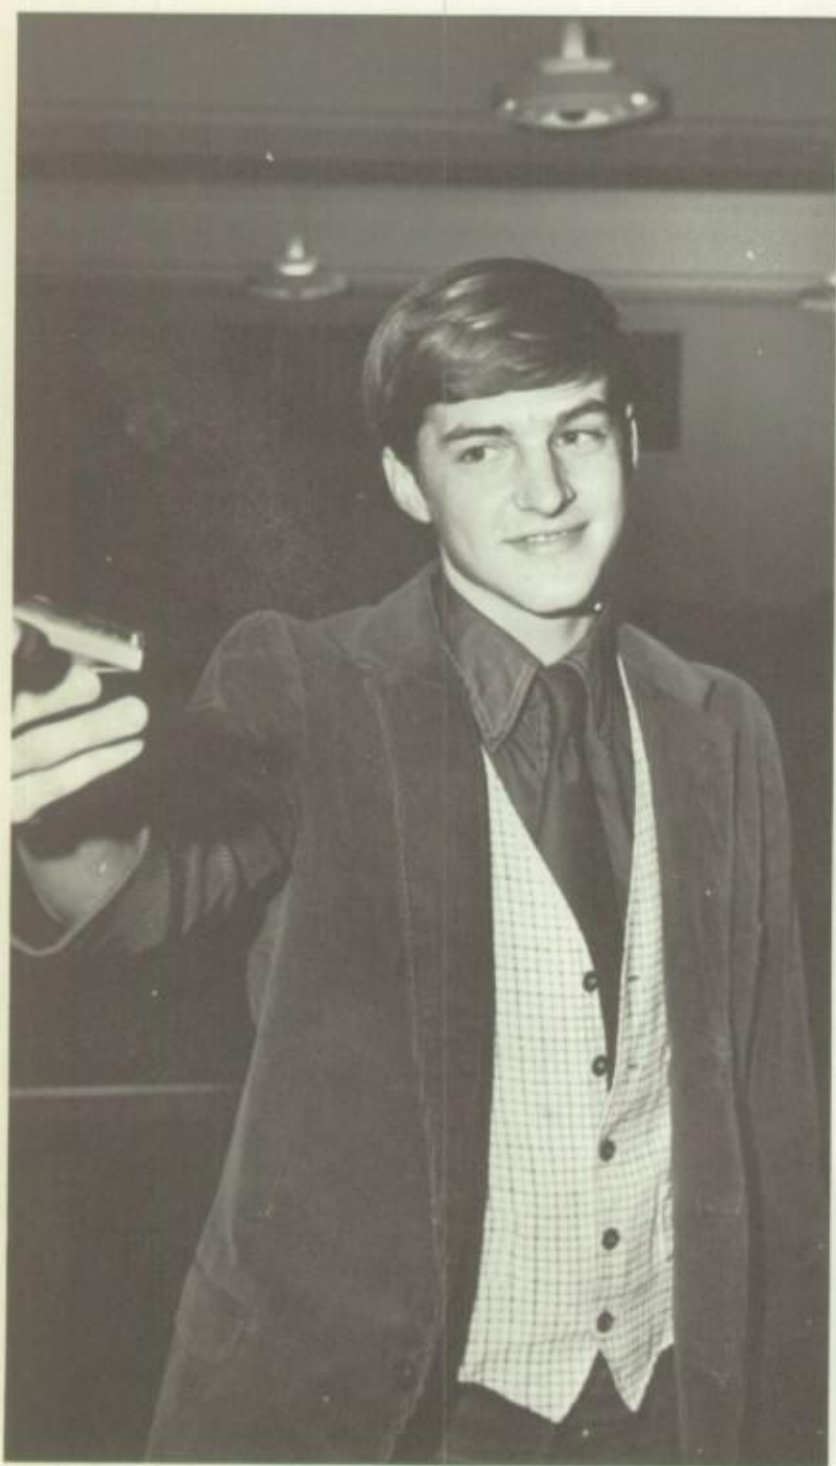

FHS's business club became a chapter member of the Future Business Leaders of America, a national business organization. FBLA gave interested students a chance to gather for social activities and encouraged civic responsibilities. The purpose of the club was to promote interest in learning more about the business world.

Club activities included a trip to Madison, Wisconsin to visit an insurance company. While there, the group visited the computer system. A bank examiner was one of the club's guest speakers.

Club officers for the 1971 school year were, Tom Kenneke, president; Mike Barr, vice-president; Linda Smith, secretary-treasurer; and advisors Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mr. Gerald Spinner.

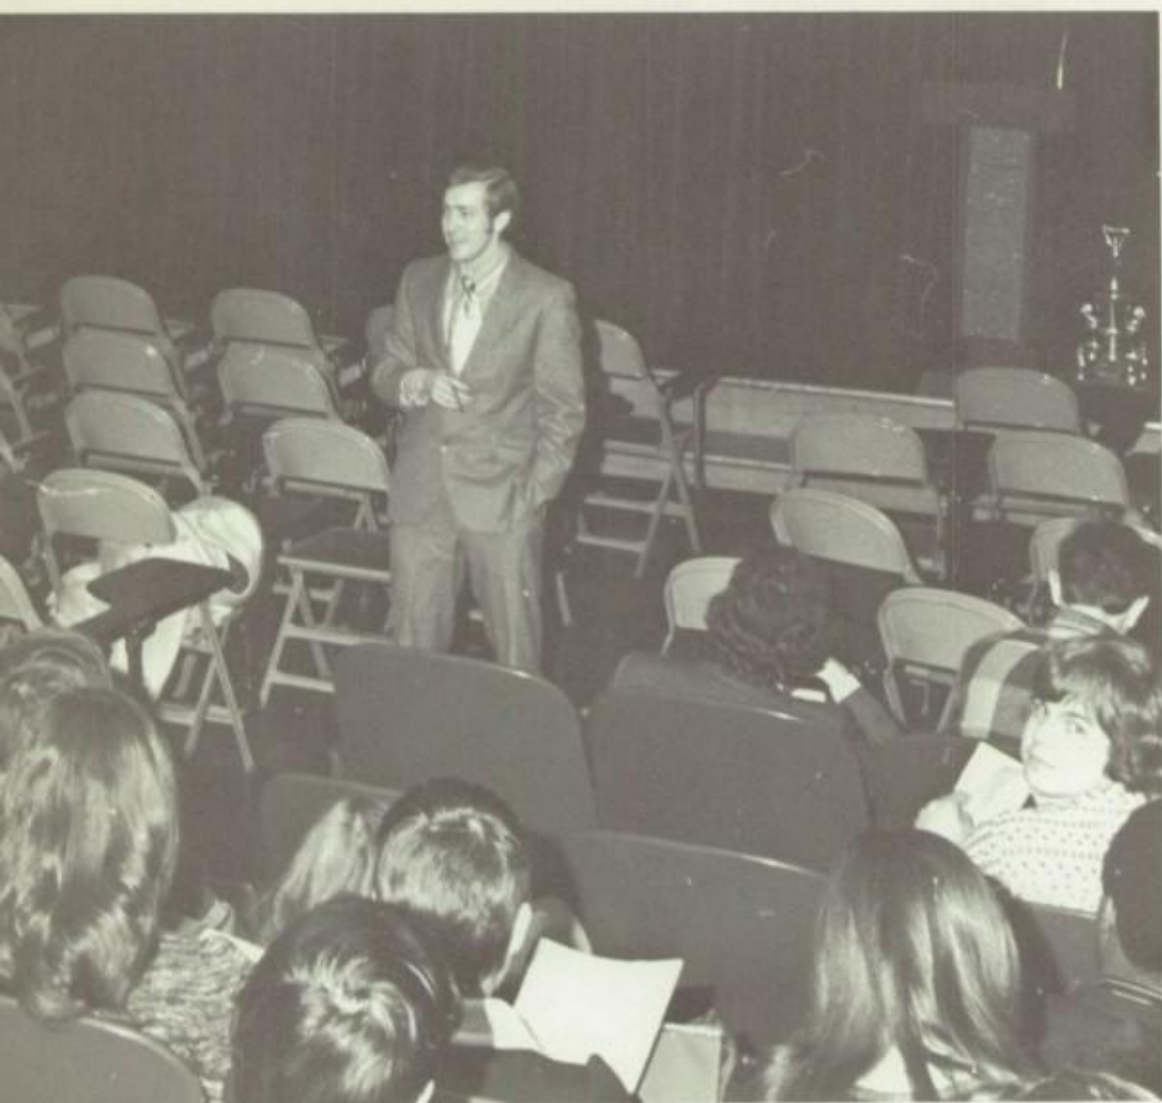

1. Chris Connell receives a medal for his performance in original monologue. 2. To prepare his speech, Jon Ocker reviews his evidence. 3. Big 8 speech tournament director, Mr. Conlon, announces the results to the participants. 4. The play "Anne of a Thousand Days" was used by Mary Stoik and Mike Chappell to gain first place in duet acting. 5. Clarence Norman receives the first place trophy for Freeport.

Forensic squad clinch Big 8

Under a new coach the FHS debate team took first place in Big 8 competition. The speech team also proved to be the best by winning the Big 8 speech tournament. Mr. Thomas Conlon directed the varsity team of Martin Glos, Scott Jacobs, Joel Kadarauch and Ken Katel to Freeport's second consecutive Big 8 title. The debaters also took first at Carthage College and placed highly in tournaments at Thorton, NIU, Evanston, Elmhurst, Rockford College and East Moline. With the aid of Miss Jeannette Lloyd and Mr. Conlon the members of the speech team also did well. Behind first place performances by Clarence Norman, Chris Connell, Mary Stoik, Michael Chappell and Kathy Burstrom, the team captured first place in the Big 8.

Students active in teaching

Future Teachers of America is an organization for those students interested in a career of teaching. By cadet-teaching in local grade schools, club members experienced teaching and could better decide what area of education they wanted to enter. In March the club hosted a regional FTA workshop which included all Northern Illinois high school FTA clubs.

Officers for the club were Diane Dornick, president; Nancy Loverude, secretary; Cindy Koester, treasurer; and Mr. Carl Rueter, advisor.

Miss Mathiesen helps Joan Homan plan the club meeting agenda. 5. Beth Good assigns Verlinda Coy and Debbie Whitmer to a car for the trip to St. Francis.

Visit made to St. Francis school

Promoting a better understanding in the field of home economics is the main purpose of the home ec club. Meetings were held the fourth Wednesday of each month with officers, Joan Homan, president; Beth Good, vice-president; Dorothy Seideman, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Lillian Mathiesen, advisor.

Club projects included bake sales, selling cookbooks and a visit to the St. Francis School for Exceptional Children. A mother-daughter tea was held in December with advanced foods classes preparing the refreshments. In June, the club held its traditional picnic and awards were given to outstanding students.

GAA gives girls athletic variety

Girls Athletic Association is a club formed to inspire girls who enjoy sports whether they be athletically inclined or not. The girls join together to learn good sportsmanship and co-operation. Officers for the club were Cindy Koester, president; Kathy Burstrom, vice-president; Barb Haas, secretary-treasurer; Karen Griebel, publicity chairman; Miss Donna Reed, advisor.

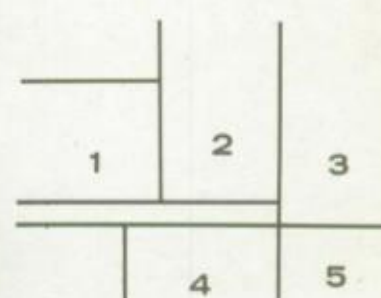

Area GAA clubs held a play day at which all participated. At a gathering in the spring, awards were presented to girls who had accumulated enough points.

Chapter sponsors banquet

FFA and classroom instruction would be considered an intra-curricular activity because they are directly related in the occupational experience program of the student. FFA met every third Monday, with officers Remy DeSutter, president; Steve Kastning, vice-president; Merlin Weber, secretary; Tim Thompson, treasurer; Kevin Otte, reporter; Jim Hartog, sentinel; and Mr. Vernon Bokemeier, advisor.

Meetings consisted of three parts: business, education and recreation. Money raising projects included the selling of seeds and Christmas cards. Activities involved judging contests, speaking contests and a parent-son banquet.

1. Miss Donna Reed, advisor of GAA, aids Dorothy Seidemann in keeping the bowling scores. 2. After school basketball provides vigorous competition for advisor as well as club members. 3. Steve Kastning, vice-president of FFA, presents Mr. Larry Herbig the Honorary Chapter Farmer Award. 4. Perfect form is executed by Barb Richards in her bowling release. 5. FFA officers: James Hartog, Merlin Weber, James DeSutter, Steve Kastning, Kevin Otte and Tim Thompson.

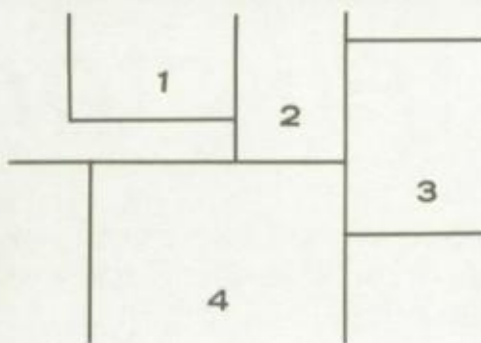

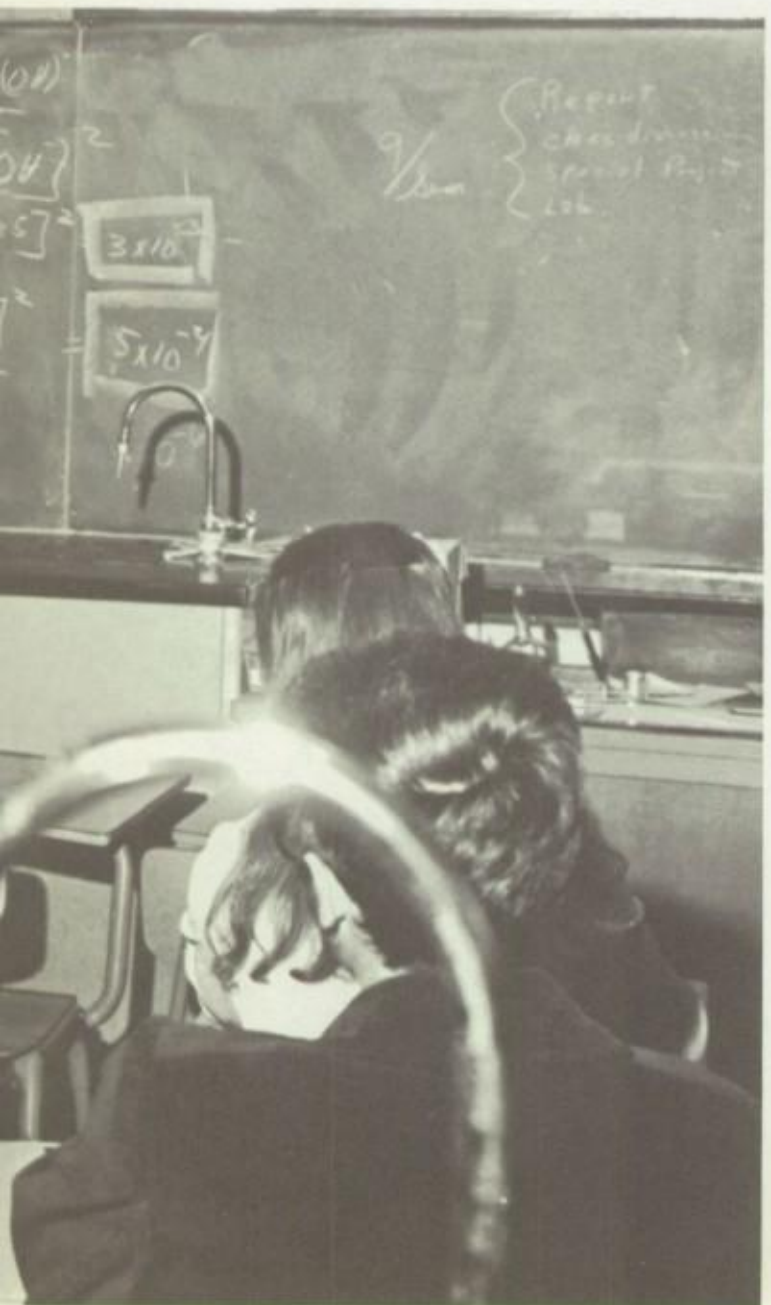

Jets club purchases telescope

Jets club met every second and fourth Tuesday of each month with officers Ellen Sieferman, president; Gene Kritsky, vice-president; Nancy Loverude, secretary; Julie Smith, treasurer; and Mr. Edsel Langdon, and Mr. Douglas Firebaugh, advisors.

Guest speakers invited to club meetings were Mr. George Goldsworthy speaking on "Glaciers" and Mr. Lee Hanson on "Algae as a Food Source of the Future." With treasury funds the club purchased a Questar telescope for purposes of photography. Jets Observatory at Park Hills Golf Course was open every Wednesday night, weather permitting. A Christmas party was an added activity of the club.

1. At Jets Observatory club members view the John Bennett Comet. 2. President of Jets Club, Ellen Sieferman, conducts a normal business meeting. 3. Club members and teacher are amused as Mr. Firebaugh holds their attention in his chemistry magic show. 4. Mr. Rolland Vander Zyl speaks to club of his flying experiences as a pilot.

Tableaux tell story

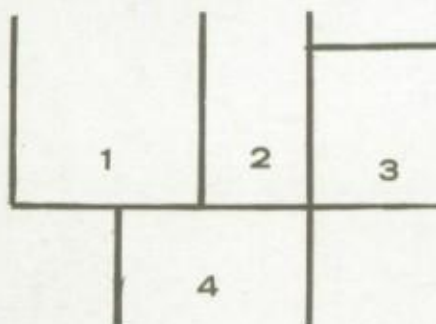

"Magnificent, . . . the best ever!", were some of the comments given to the 1970 Christmas Pageant. By using a turn-table, with stage craft students setting the scenes, tableaux were shown for each event announcing the birth of Christ. A nine foot high platform was built across the turn-table and decked with pine and glittering lights. This platform became an integral stage during several tableaux scenes.

Instructed by Miss Jeannette

Lloyd, the verse choir narrated the Christmas story while the Concert choir, girls glee, the Sweet Sixteen Ensemble and the Varsity Singers, directed by Miss Dorothy Nelson, accented each scene with appropriate songs.

Mr. William Baumgartner directed the backstage work. He commented that "it was a new experience for him, and for a school this size we had great possibilities."

1. Wise men are shocked and troubled when the King requests for them to return so he may go and worship the Christ child also. 2. In adoration, an angel gazes upon the sight of the Holy infant and his mother. 3. Seniors Merri Jo Bowers and Mark Wiskochil portray Mary and Joseph in one of the many tableaux presented on Sunday afternoon. 4. Shepherds pause at the sight of Joseph, Mary and the Christ child.

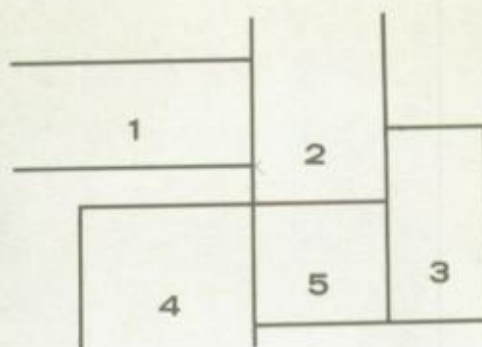

French club aids learning

French club gave students an opportunity to experience French in a place other than the academic classroom. The club met every third Wednesday of each month. Officers elected for 1970-71 were Sue Jeffrey, president; Nancy Snidtker, vice-president; Sue Twyman, vice-president; Tawny Palmer, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Mary Collins, advisor.

Christmas caroling was an activity enjoyed by French students, followed by a party. Students also attended the International Fair in Milwaukee with other FHS language clubs. In the spring, the club went roller-skating after their annual picnic.

1. Members listen carefully to the financial status of French club. 2. Preparing for the Sadie Hawkins dance, Allison Holtkamp plans a poster. 3. Sue Jeffrey discusses plans for Christmas caroling. 4. In order to get an idea for her poster, Sue Jeffrey observes Nancy Snidtker. 5. Members put ideas together to help Nicky Hart-sough come up with a good poster.

1. At the annual AFS carnival Jan Tippetts and George Lameyer enjoy bratwurst. 2. George Lameyer and Sue Harms try their talent at the Schuhplattler. 3. President of the German club, Kathy Burstrom leads a discussion on future activities. 4. Club members, Kimber Krueger, Sue Smith, Sue Harms and George Lameyer listen attentively to their president. 5. George Lameyer demonstrates a portion of a folk dance as Sue Harms observes.

Members use skills

German language skills learned in class were put to work when the FHS German club invited the Forreston club to a meeting and spoke only in German. The party also included playing volleyball and dancing the Schuhplattler, a folk dance typical of Germany.

Officers of the club were Kathy Burstrom, president; Joy DeStefano, vice-president; Kimber Krueger, secretary; Sue Harms, treasurer; and Mr. Wendell Kurr, club advisor. Activities of the club included attending the Folk Fair in Milwaukee and selling bratwurst at the Carnival in the spring. Several members entered an essay contest competing to win a trip to Germany.

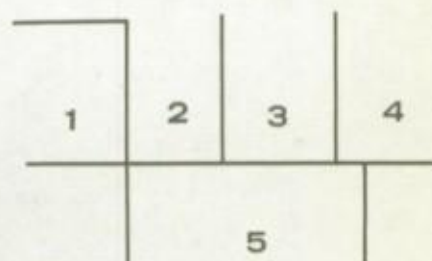

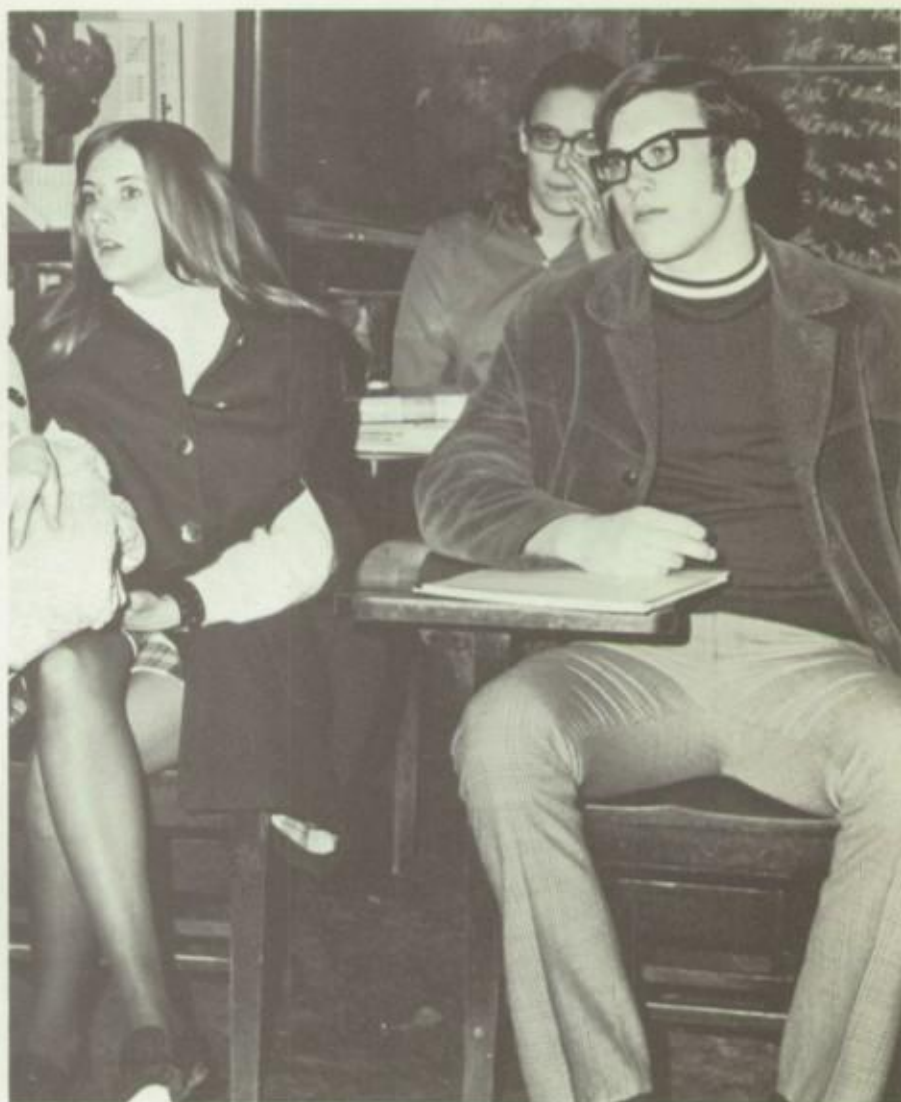

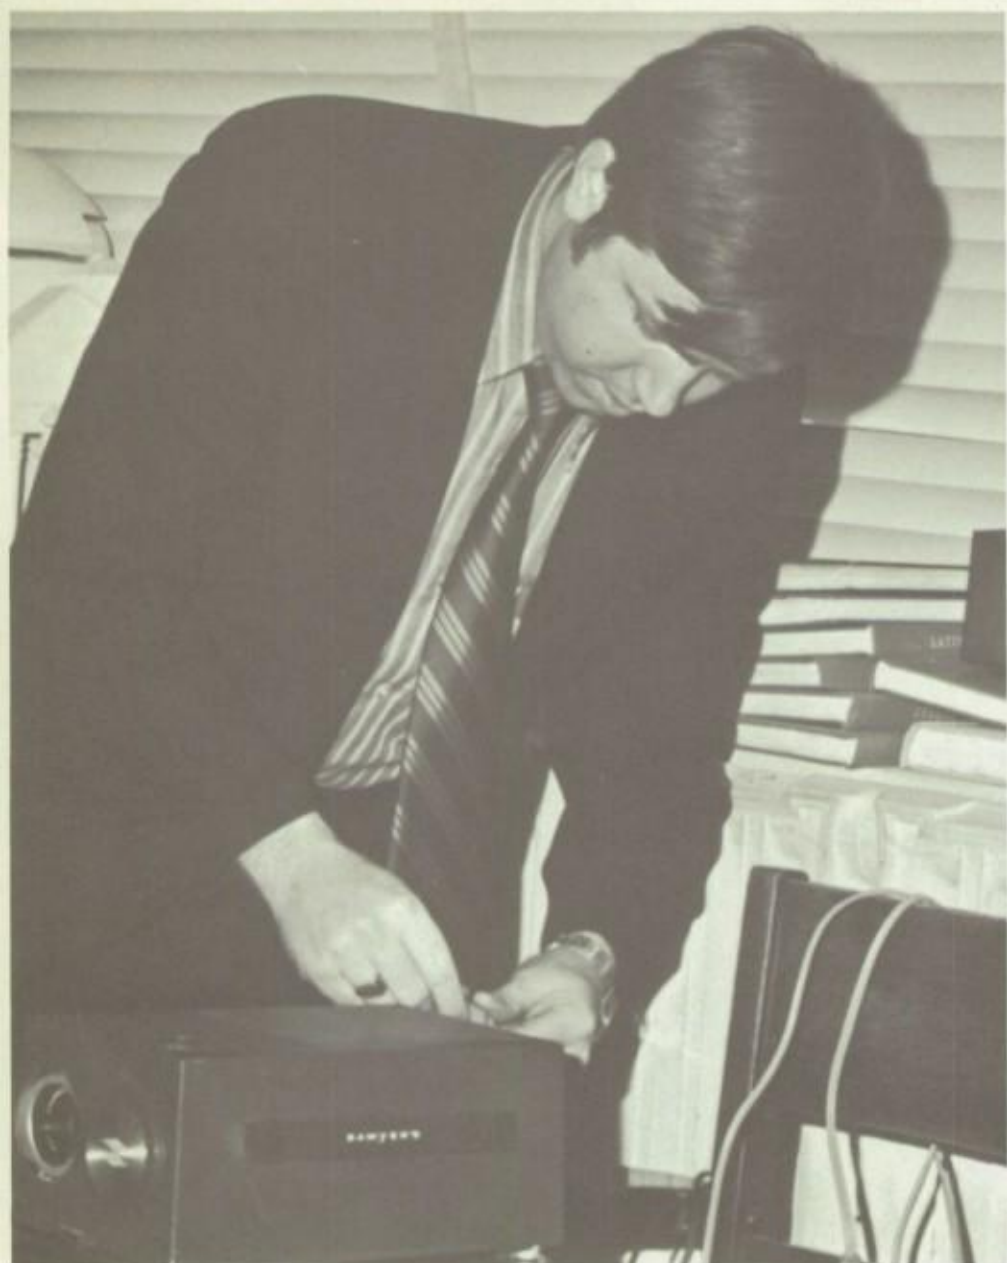

Slave auctions held

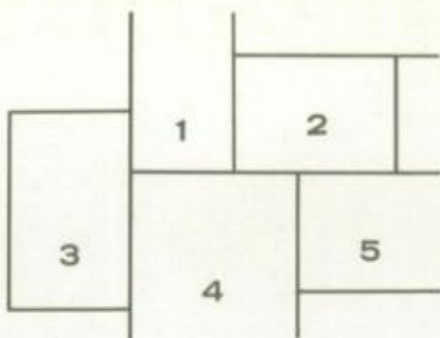

National Latin Week was a major activity of the FHS Latin club. Members met at various times throughout the year with club officers Rich Murray, president; Anne Vauterlaus, vice-president; Julie Smith, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Mary Ann Poracky, club advisor. The first meeting of the club involved planning the initiation for new members. A committee of old members did the planning.

October brought the annual pumpkin carving contest at which awards were given to the carvers of the most original, funniest, ugliest, cutest and other such pumpkins. A slave auction was held in the spring to help cover expenses for the Latin Week posters and costumes. The Latin club banquet, held in May, brought club members dressed in togas and doing as the Romans did, eating with their hands.

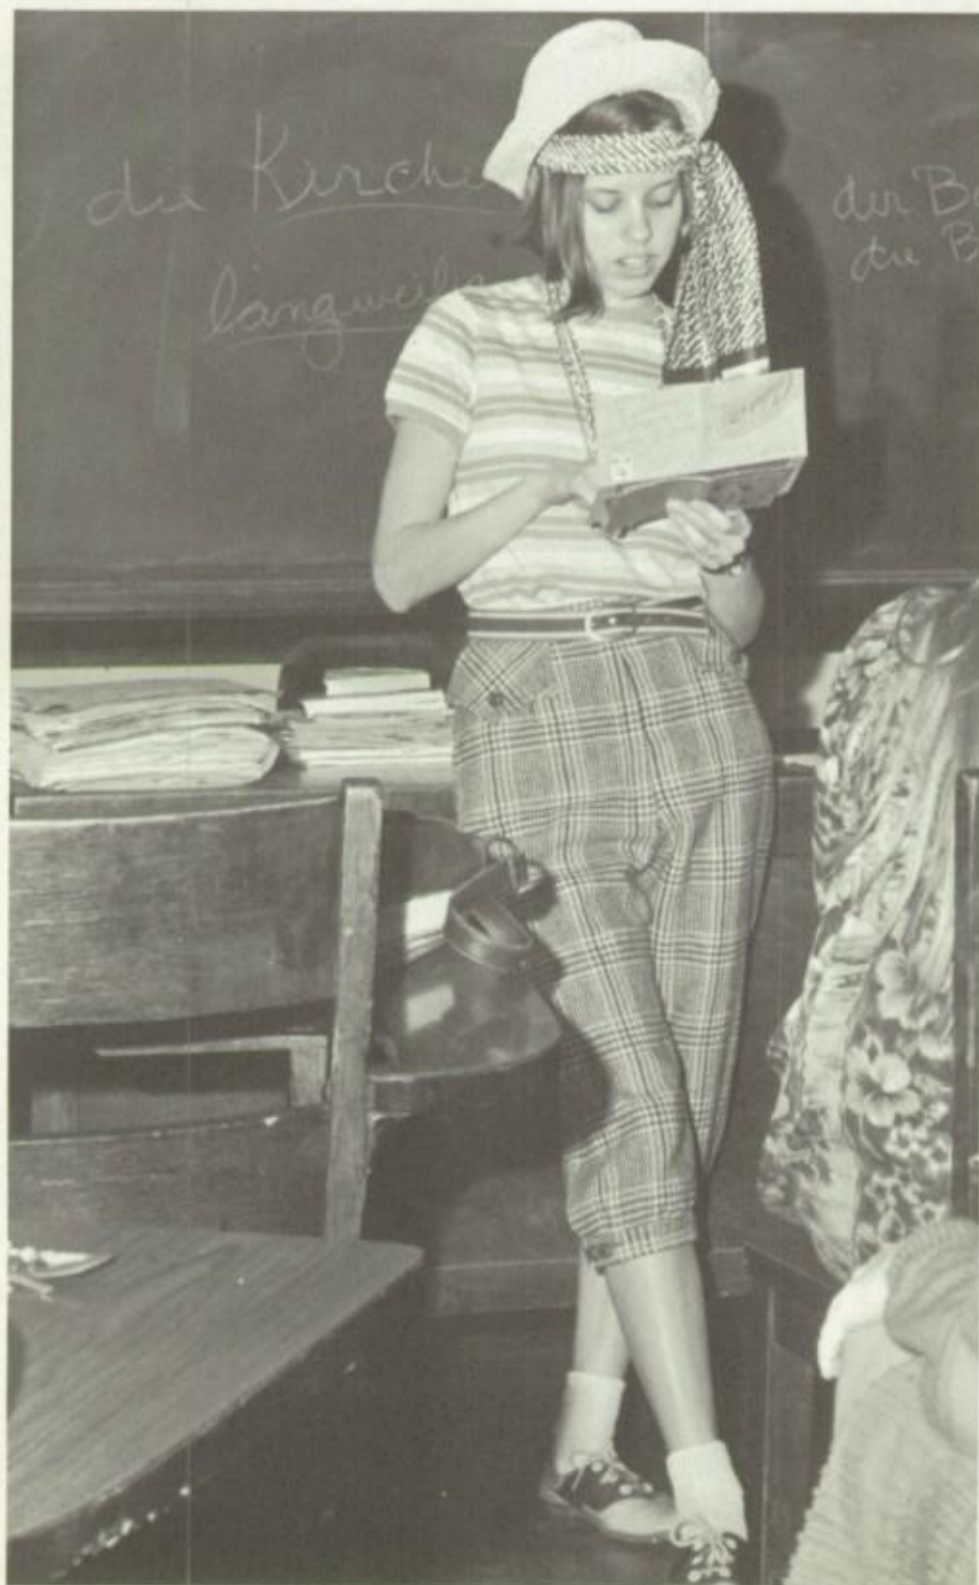

1. After a club meeting, Miss Poracky and members react to a humorous incident. 2. Vice-president of Latin club, Anne Vauterlaus leads a discussion on plans and activities for Latin Week. 3. Slides of Rome and Pompeii are shown by guest lecturer, Mr. Dick Patty, at the January meeting of the Latin club. 4. Club members watch slides presented by a guest speaker. 5. Members of the club display their approval of a proposal by pointing thumbs up. The club follows the Roman Senate procedure in voting on issues.

1. After setting up the projector, Mrs. Voigt waits for the film to start. 2. Explaining her films of Mexico, Mrs. Voigt talks of her various trips. 3. Dressed in clash day attire, Carol Devol reads a letter to the club. 4. Club members quiet down as the meeting is called to order. 5. Club members Anne Kuehl, Lynne Smith and Carol Devol attend a monthly meeting.

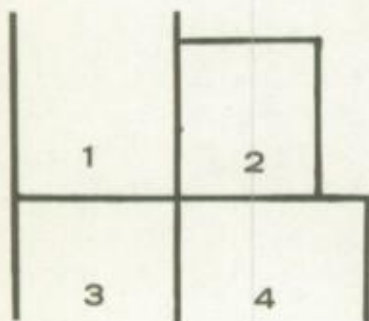

Puerto Rican dinner is enjoyed

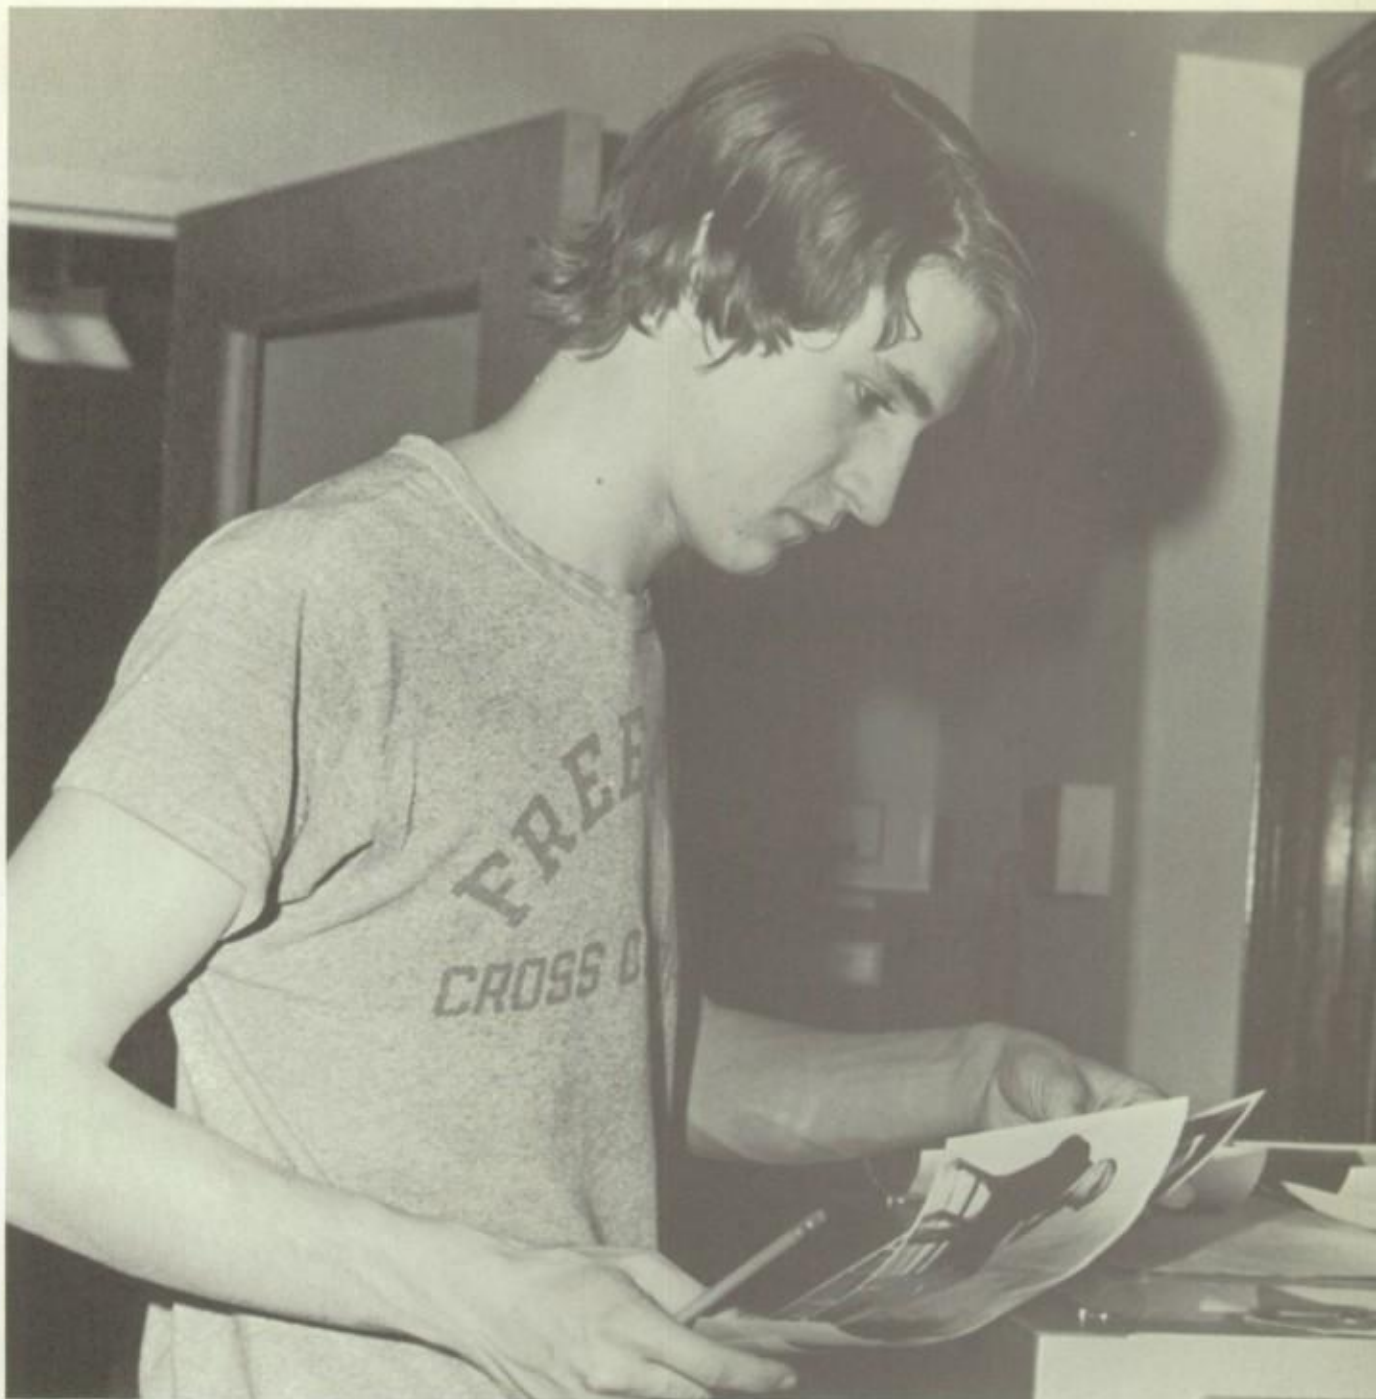

Approximately thirty members met once a month to participate in the meetings and excursions which the Spanish club engaged in. Advised by Miss Phyllis Hetrick, the following held positions as club officers: Carol Devol, president; Barb Wilhelms, vice-president; and Peg Wachtel, secretary.

Interested students spent a day touring Old Town in Chicago, finishing with a Spanish dinner at "El Conquistador". Miss Hetrick, who spent some time in Puerto Rico, prepared a meal typical of that country for club members. Other activities included seeing the play "Man of La Mancha" at the Candlelight Playhouse at Summit, Illinois and viewing Mrs. Voigt's slides of Mexico as she narrated them.

1. Editor-in-chief, Martin Glos, attends to the tedious job of cropping pictures. 2. Staff artist, Nancy Snidtker, prepares to draw cutline blocks for each two-page spread. 3. Photographer, Joel Kadarauch, loads the camera after school in preparation for the game that night. 4. Copy editor, Debbie Brokhausen, explains to staff member Beth Gingrich how copy should be typed.

Deadlines due; much frenzy

Flying pencils, erased lines, redrawn tri-copies and a noisy adding machine set the scene for the Polaris staff as they struggled to meet each deadline.

Copy staff members scurried through the corridors of FHS searching for colorful copy for various sections of the book. Photographers seemed to appear and vanish through walls as they flashed bright lights in unsuspecting faces. Those working on the layout staff conquered the job of uniting the book by using modrian layouts. Tedious jobs such as measuring and remeasuring pica widths and depths kept the staff frustrated when time pressured them.

Armed with information from workshops, press conventions and class instruction, fourteen staff members published the 1971 yearbook.

Beginners aid staff

Advertising determined the depth of the Pretz News issues varying from four to eight pages. Staff members spent many hectic hours writing copy which had to be completed ten days before the week of publication. The Pretz staff did their own paste-up before the paper was printed. Folding of issues was completed the night before they were distributed in homeroom.

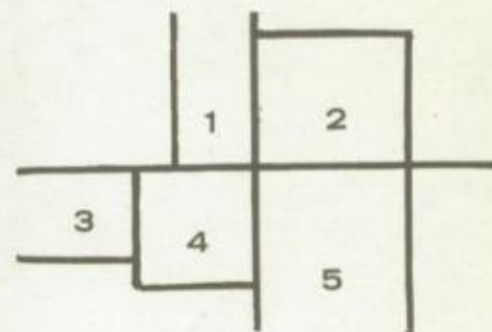

Publishing an eight-page issue was a portion of class learning for the beginning journalism class. Three students enrolled in beginning journalism transferred to the newspaper staff second semester, working as assistants to those who held the position in which they were interested. The beginning journalism class of second semester assumed all staff positions and completed an issue in April. The final issue was published by the 71-72 staff.

First Class awards were granted to the Pretz News by NSPA both semesters, 69-70. The newspaper received the NISPA Golden Eagle award for overall excellence. Individual awards were given to Mike Christensen, John Hostetter, Bill Heisler, Jeanne Joesten and Chris Connell.

Cover design, theme development and photography helped the Polaris receive a NISPA Golden Eagle award. The 1970 yearbook received a First Class award from NSPA.

1. Louise Clark assigns stories to staff members. 2. Kevin Heck and Karen Hughes, with adviser Mr. Minter, read over copy which has been submitted for publication. 3. Peg Schaus rewrites copy for the newspaper. 4. Carefully planning the page, Rich Schirmer pastes-up for publication. 5. After researching, Scott Jacobs writes an editorial.

Student council assists project

Student Council plays a very intricate part of Freeport Senior High School. Members consist of representatives elected by the homerooms. President, Ken Katel; vice-president, Eric Knight; and secretary-treasurer, Peggy Garrity were elected officers by open election among members of the student body. Mrs. Mardelle Voigt served as advisor to the student council.

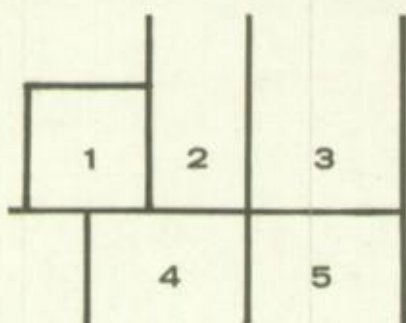

There were many money-raising projects in which the student council was involved. At each football game popcorn was sold. In the commons, they sold jackets, T-shirts, pencils and folders in order to raise money for the campus.

Among other activities they sponsored an orphan in South Viet Nam and a dance for Operation Upswing.

1. As a presidential candidate, Ken Katel gives his speech to the student body as election day draws near.
2. Advisory board meets every Monday to plan the agenda for the student council meeting.
3. David Jeffrey and Mrs. Voigt listen at a student council meeting.
4. President Ken Katel reads off the agenda to be used for the meeting.
5. Ken Katel counts the show of hands in one of the many proposals voted upon by Council.

1. Returning alumni Darles Snyder discusses the 1970 musical. 2. Entertaining club members, Toni Mitchell does a dramatic reading. 3. Make-up is applied to Mary Stoik for the senior play. 4. Singers in a barbershop quartet are introduced by Gary DeLander. 5. Guy Chulpsa and other Thespians watch entertainment at a meeting.

Members hold club initiation

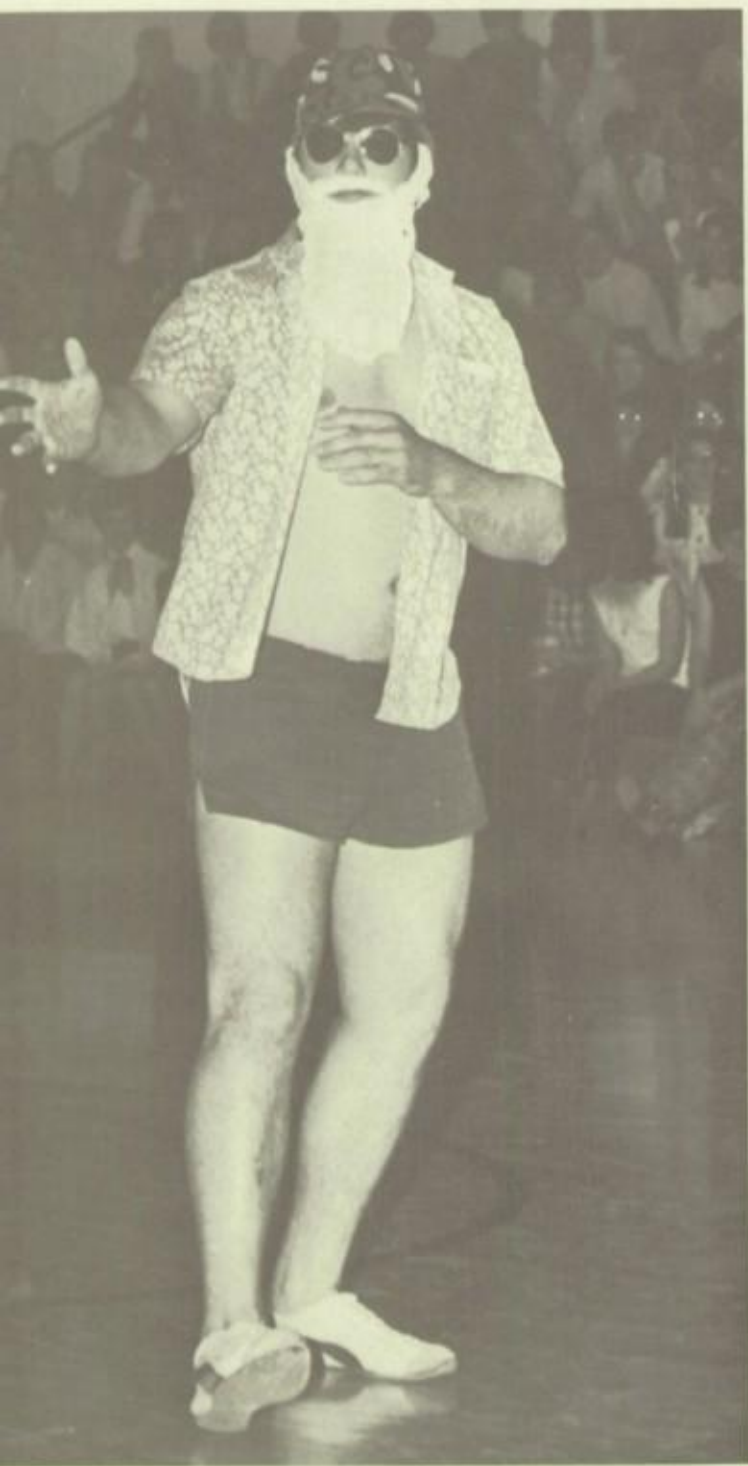

International Thespian Society is an organization for those students who have spent one hundred hours or more in either acting or technical work connected with dramatics or the theater. Thespian officers were Gary DeLander, president; Linda Bangasser, vice-president; Gay Knapp, secretary; Nancy Diddens, treasurer; and clerks Toni Mitchell, Allison Holtkamp and Louise Clark. Miss Jeannette Lloyd was the club adviser.

Eligible students became members once they had paid International Thespian dues. Meetings were held once a month at the homes of club members, with program and refreshments.

Thespian dinner-initiation was held in the spring at which the honor Thespians were named. Honor Thespians were chosen by club members on the basis of what they had contributed to the dramatic arts of Freeport. The club sponsored a dance, had bake sales and a pop bottle drive, and ran the coat check in the junior high in order to make money for their theatrical trip to Chicago in the spring.

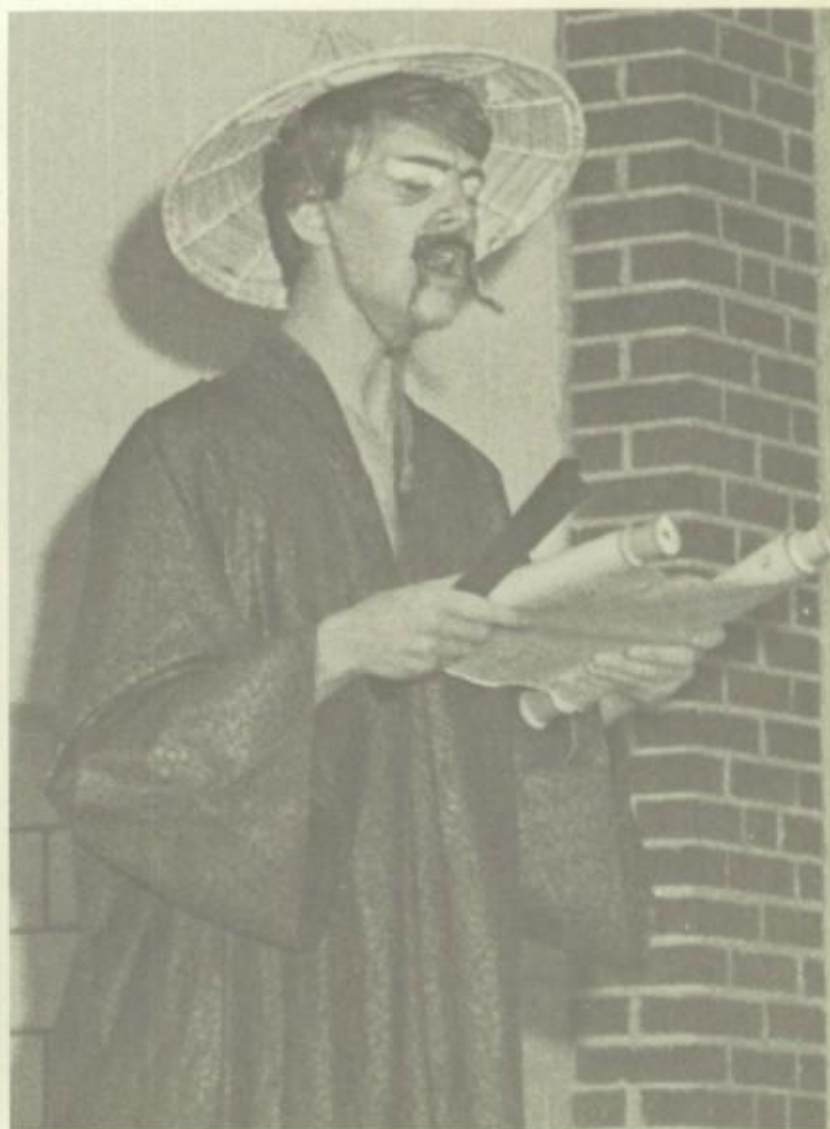

It's only The Beginning

We use activities to become involved in the life of the school. Through plays, skits, assemblies, dances and even graduation we better understand our school and our fellow students. Activities go beyond the normal school day. Those of us who participate in activities must devote extra time. Our school day is expanded beyond the 8:00-3:00 hours. Through activities we see it's only The Beginning.

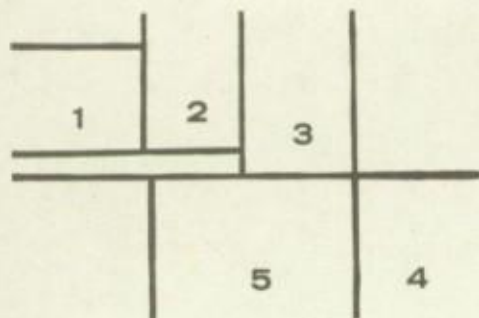

Jrs. design 1970 prom

For two weeks, the junior class worked constructing stone lanterns and cherry blossoms to make the 1970 prom, "Cherry Blossom Festival," a memorable event.

Couples arrived at 8:00 p.m. in the cafeteria for the dessert. Short skits based on oriental proverbs entertained the group of students and guests. Following the dessert, couples danced to the Professionals in the gym decorated with bamboo fences, a flowing waterfall and a tea house in which punch was served.

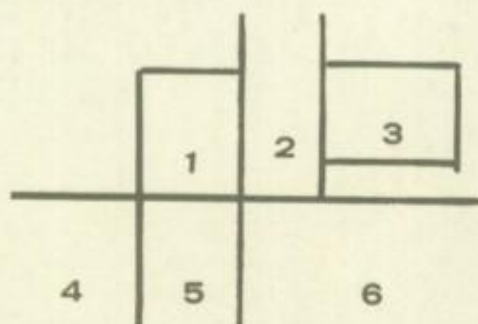

Tickets to the post prom party were issued at the end of the grand march as couples left the gym. Straw hats, giant flowers, refreshments and dancing to the Forest City Sound awaited everyone at the armory.

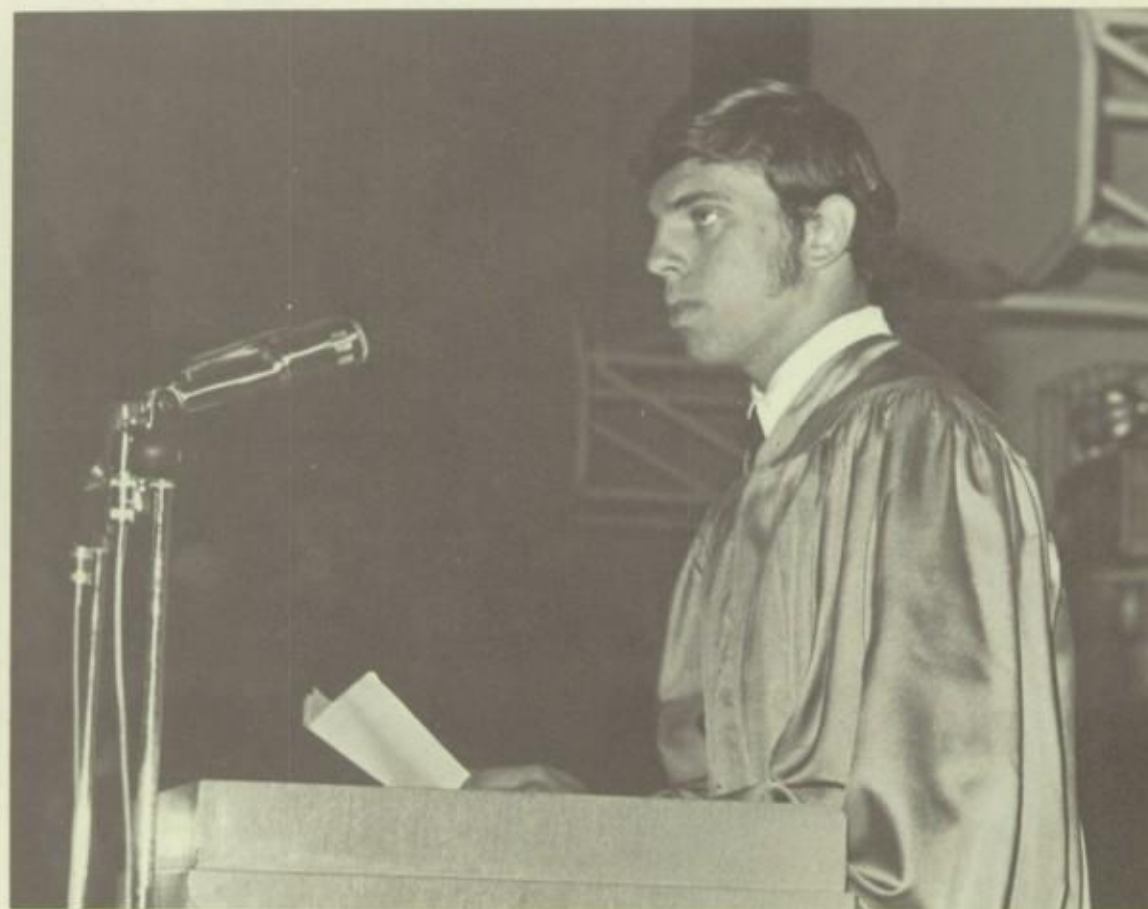

1. Sophomores Doug Brown and Chuck Heisler, with other class members portray Nate Johnson and Dan Humay at a typical football game. 2. Narrations at the beginning of each skit consisted of either wise old sayings or proverbs read by the oriental Confucious. 3. Couples attending the junior-senior prom dance to the music which creates a formal mood. 4. Members of the sophomore class, Jim Jacobs and Sandy Briggs, demonstrate their ability to mimic the 1969 Polaris staff. 5. In the oriental atmosphere of the east gym, couples dance to the music of the Professionals.

1. Five senior girls await the beginning of that which will close the doors to their high school days. 2. With her diploma grasped tightly in her hand, Valerie Bruce thinks about the accomplishments it stands for. 3. Senior class president, Greg Brodnick, acts as master of ceremonies at the honors day assembly. 4. Foreign exchange students, Ariane Delessert and Jose Juni, receive a standing ovation from the student body at the honors assembly. 5. Graduates, Kathy Dahm and Brian Bowen, return to the cafeteria to obtain their diplomas. 6. Led by juniors Peggy Garrity and Randy Howard, graduating seniors file into their places for commencement exercises.

Senior ceremonies

Three ceremonies ended the high school careers of 420 seniors. Baccalaureate services were held on Sunday, May 31. "What Mean Ye By These Stones" was the theme elaborated upon by Richard Born and Beth Hostetter.

June 4, the honors assembly, recognized seniors for the work they completed in high school. Three students, Michael Diestlemeier, Annette Schult and Janet Tippetts, received high honors for their scholarship.

Dr. Roger J. Fritz, president of Willamette University, spoke at commencement activities on June 4. The theme for the evening was "Crisis of Purpose."

Jr. class gives play

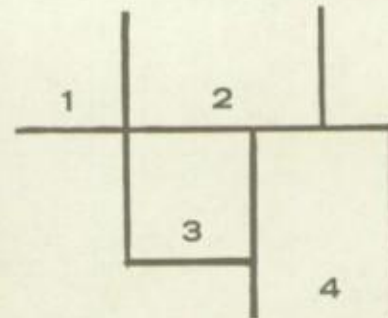

Dates for the junior class play, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" were set for April 10th and 11th. Miss Jeannette Lloyd, the director, was assisted by student co-directors, Bambi Campbell and Kimber Krueger.

Hank, the main character, reached down one night to unplug his recent invention, when it exploded, knocking him unconscious. He awakened to find himself threatened with death if he could not provide ransom.

By utilizing his knowledge of science, Hank was able to trick King Arthur into letting him take over. Modernization of the court began taking effect, and Hank was in control.

To improve voice range, cast members ran up and down the aisles of the auditorium shouting their lines.

Various sound effects were used to make the play more interesting. Mr. James Kotke was responsible for the special effects.

1. Lines are read at play try-outs by Ken Katel as Katie Clayton awaits her cue. 2. Spellbound, members of King Arthur's court listen to threats made by Hank as he holds a 'fire box' in his hand. 3. Clarence and Sandy realize their Queen's life is at stake as Sir Sagramor warns them not to move. 4. In an attempt to take over Arthur's court, Queen Morgan LeFay tries to seduce Hank into believing she loves him.

First win of season

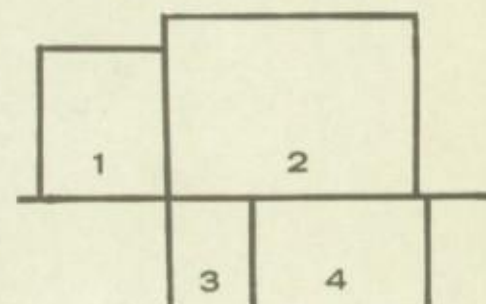

Homecoming '70 was spent sitting under umbrellas as the FHS Pretzels tromped the Auburn Knights 19-6, for their first victory of the season. Homecoming festivities began with a bonfire held on October 22. A kangaroo court tried a Knight and after finding him guilty, burned him in effigy.

Homecoming attendants were escorted by members of the football team at the assembly on October 23. Sophomore and junior attendants were Emily Oppenheimer and Sue Meyers, respectively. Tamia Riddell was crowned Homecoming Queen, with attendants Beth Armagost and Kristi Ludolph.

Peter Pretzel starred in the junior class' winning skit as he scored touchdowns with the aid of a curse on the Knights. "Lillies of the Field" was the winning junior float, bearing tombstones and lillies. The senior float was titled "Check the Knights" and the sophomore theme was "I Drub Thee Knight."

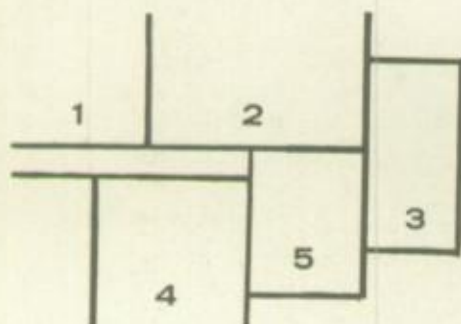

1. Posed under umbrellas, the homecoming queen and court for 70-71 were Emily Oppenheimer, Sue Myers, Tamia Riddell, Beth Armagost and Kristi Ludolph. 2. Crowded around the flaming logs, the cheerleaders arouse spirit for the following night's game. 3. Juniors were victorious in their skit entitled 'Peter Pretzel.' Sue Kerkhoff as Captain 'Knight' Hook realizes that her attempts for winning the game are threatened by the Freeport team. 4. Their first float-building attempt brings many headaches as found out by sophomore Kim Johnson while trying to cover all the newspaper with spray paint.

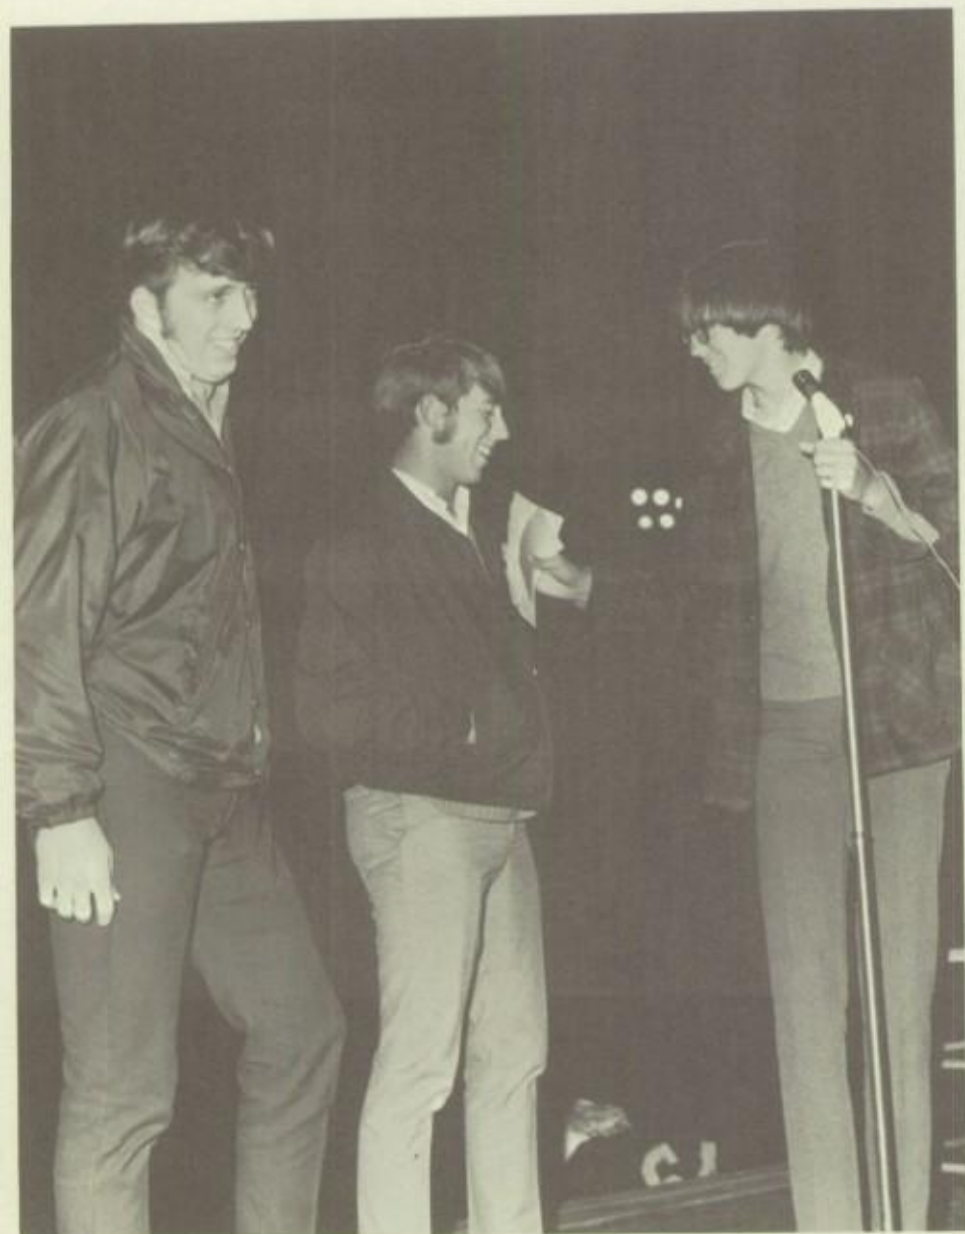

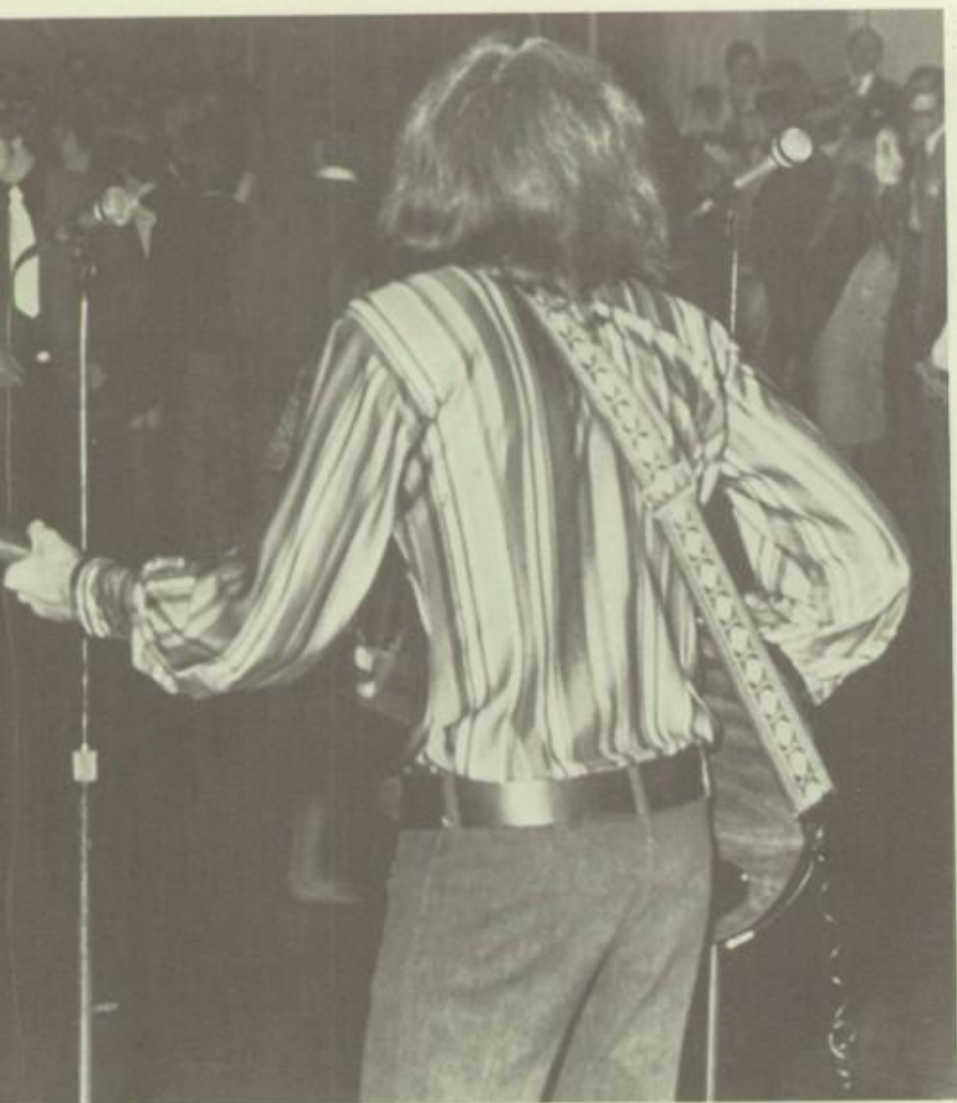

Tamia Riddell crowned queen

1. Many hours of dancing and a hot gym effect dancers and flowers. Debbie O'Neal points out to Jim Hughes the petals that have already wilted and fallen out of her mum. 2. Rain didn't stop the majority of students from turning out for the annual homecoming dance. 3. Dressed in the appropriate Mother Goose attire, junior Sandy Briggs narrates their fairy tale homecoming skit. 4. Delivering the hay wagon to the barn for their float are Louise Clark, Martin Glos, Steve Cascio and Blaine Albert. 5. At the annual bonfire seniors Dave Schwartz and Ken Katel discuss predictions for the homecoming game.

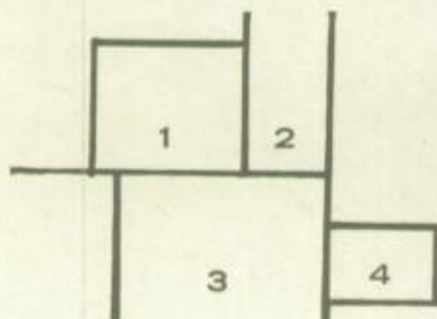

Contrasting ideas set in theme

"Every family has got curious little traits," was a key statement in the senior class play, "You Can't Take It With You," presented November 19 and 20. The production was directed by Miss Jeannette Lloyd, Mr. William Baumgartner, technical director, and Melanie Miller, student director.

At first the home of the Sycamores seemed crazy. In contrast were the unhappy Kirbys, tied up in the rat race of Wall Street.

When Tony Kirby falls in love with Alice Sycamore, it seems hopeless because of the strange "hobbies" of the Sycamores. Mr. Kirby is gradually swept into the Sycamores carefree madness and Tony and Alice find happiness at last.

1. Rheba and Donald discuss the mishaps of the night in jail in the comfort of the Vanderhoff home. 2. Practicing their new dance step, Ed and Essie attempt to perfect their routine in the living room of their home. 3. Reviving her eight-year-old art masterpiece, Mr. DePinna assumes his role as Penny's model while Donald looks on. 4. With clenched fists, Grandfather refuses to pay his income tax.

Art show is a profit

Any student interested in art could join art club which met the third Tuesday of each month. Club officers were Jeanine Mellinger, president; Guy Chulpsa, vice-president; Nancy Snidtker, secretary; Anne Vaterlaus, treasurer; and Miss Rosalee Rockman, advisor.

Two activities of the club were Christmas caroling and a folk festival at which about twenty students entertained all who attended. The most successful venture of the club was the art show held each year the first Saturday and Friday in May. Proceeds have bought original paintings for FHS, a potter's wheel for ceramics and contributed $125 to buy trees for the school campus.

1. Taking in a session of art club are Jeanine Mellinger, Pam Smith and Jim Blask. 2. Performances were given by the pom-pom squad at home basketball games. 3. Cindy Roenneburg and Adele Hershberger perform at the art club folk festival. 4. Guy Chlupsa and Miss Rockman listen to plans being made for the spring art show. 5. Front Row: Vicki Osbaugh, Kim Krueger, Sheila Suggs, Linda Bangasser, Kathy Rhodes, Diane Dornick. Row 2: Sue Twyman, Allison Opel, Nancy Chapman, Jan Melnick, Helen Ostapik. Row 3: Julie Smith, Mary Washburn, NickyHartsough, DebMarske, Rosalind Parker, Cindy Koes-ter.

Spirit is boosted by signs, pins

Pep club is the one that promotes the Pretzel spirit at FHS. Officers for the club were Linda Bangasser, president; Sandy Briggs, vice president; Sue Jeffrey, secretary-treasurer, and advisor, Mrs. Sandra Toerber.

Money raising projects of the club included selling of buttons, homecoming mums and sponsoring a dance after the Regional Basketball Tournament in March.

New to pep club was a pom-pom squad with officers Nicky Hartsough, president; Debbie Marske, vice-president; Sue Twyman, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Lois Teesdale and Miss Tana Horine, advisors.

Missitucky is scene of musical

Hurried excursions to the nearest drive-in were often necessary to fill an empty stomach during the frustrating, boring and fun hours of practice. However all of the time and effort contributed proved to be rewarding as "Finian's Rainbow" was viewed February 10,11,12 and 13. The curtain went up displaying the mystical community of Rainbow Valley located in Missitucky.

Settings and costumes were designed by Mr. Baumgartner's stage crew and Miss Rowley's costume committee. Miss Jeannette Lloyd and Mr. Hez Diefenthaler directed all dramatic aspects of the play assisted by student directors, Gay Knapp and George Issac. Miss Nelson and Mr. McLain directed all background music. Nancy Lehman served as accompanist.

Children add to play's delight

From Ireland Finian McLoner-gan, his daughter Sharon and Og, the leprechaun, bring richness and happiness to the poor sharecroppers of the valley in the form of a crock of gold. These strange folk of Ireland are well accepted as the gold is buried in the sharecroppers land. The Irish prevent Senator Rawkins from purchasing the sharecroppers land. The production portrays the central theme which emphasizes that whether black or white, rich or poor, each man is created equal with equal rights.

Colorful costumes and dances such as the "Irish Jig" dressed the stage's setting which consisted of an oak tree and a well. Choruses of "Necessity", "How Are Things in Glocca Morra?" and "Look to the Rainbow" accompanied the dialogue and climaxed numerous scenes.

1. Directors Hez Diefenthaler and Jeannette Lloyd accept the applause of the audience and the cast during curtain call. 2. Finian McLonergan watches his daughter Sharon marry Woody. 3. In hopes that his gold will grow in the land by Fort Knox, Finian buries a stolen pot of gold. 4. The inhabitants of Rainbow Valley warmly welcome the well-known retailers, Shears and Robust. 5. Woody and Sharon sing of the love they have for each other under "That Old Devil Moon."

Queens and royalty are elected

Petitions were signed for beauty queens in the weeks before the musical and five finalists were elected by the student body. Those selected were Wendy Beam, Nancy Chapman, Lonnie Ferrari, Peggy Garrity and Beth Gingrich. Finalists were dinner guests of the manager of the Wagon Wheel in Rockton, Illinois. The beauty queen was selected by him on the basis of poise and congeniality. Peggy Garrity was selected 1971 Beauty Queen.

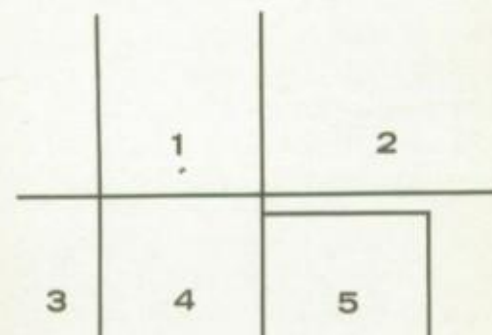

Class royalty were also nominated by petitions, but each class selected its own royalty. Representing the sophomores were Emily Oppenheimer and Paul Midstokke. Juniors selected Sandy Briggs and Steve Mason. Seniors honored by their classmates were Karen Wheat and Tom Kenneke.

School is enlivened

Corridors at FHS simply weren't the same during the week of February 15 through 19. The cause could be contributed to the spirit aroused in everyone during Color Week. Daily events were planned with various antics which led up to the game with Belvidere Bucs played on Friday night.

Students wore favorite outfits on 'Dress-Up Day'. On Tuesday the junior class sponsored an 'I Hate Girls Day'. Thursday was revenge with 'I Hate Boys Day'. On Wednesday imaginations went wild for 'Clash Day'. Friday climaxed the week with the Color Day activities.

1. Peggy Garrity is selected as the 1971 Beauty Queen to reign over the musical, "Finian's Rainbow." 2. Beauty Queen candidates. Beth Gingrich, Nancy Chapman, Peg Garrity, Lonnie Ferrari and Wendy Beam. 3. Portraying "Pretz" in the junior skit is Bob Werntz with classmates playing magic beans. 4. Class Royalty. Karen Wheat and Tom Kenneke, seniors; Sandy Briggs and Steve Mason, juniors; Emily Oppenheimer and Paul Midstokke, sophomores. 5. In the middle of "Senior Country" is Denise McGee admiring her classes decorations.

1. Junior Lisa Anselme displays her outfit on Clash Day. 2. Many people with different costumes could be observed in the cafeteria. 3. Priscella Pretzel desperately tries to escape John LaFoot in the senior color day skit. 4. Caught off guard by Robert Chamberlin, Gayle Nese-meyer loses her tag on "I Hate Boys Day." 5. Dressed in the traditional attire for the "Sadie Hawkins" dance, Mark Ohlinger and Yvonne Ester enjoy the music.

Juniors claim winning skit

Long nights and hard work were as much a part of the gaiety of Color Week as clash or dress-up day. Class officers and members brought their ideas together to prepare their floor for Friday, Color Day. Sophomores portrayed their "Peel the Bucs" theme by arraying the third floor with orange crates and an orange tree.

Juniors emphasized their theme, "It's Springtime" by decorating the second floor in green. Captions for some of their decorations such as a garden were "Peas lettuce win" or "Rooting for the Pretzels." Their skit, "Pretz and the Beanstalk" took first place.

First floor depicted the French Quarter with the senior theme of "Mardi Gras 'Em Yellow". Yellow paper rings, balloons and boutiques conquered first place for the seniors in floor competition. Freeport downed Belvidere 60-53 at the game.

Club enters contest

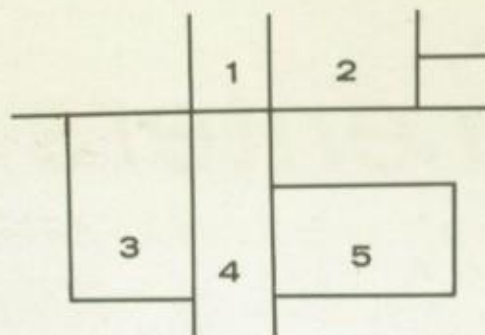

Honor Math Club members had to receive three A's out of four semesters and plan to continue their math education in order to be a member of the club.

Club meetings, held the first Wednesday of every month, included plans for bake sales and a trip to Chicago. Guest speakers invited to club meetings were Mr. Warren Burstrom of Highland Community College who spoke on Arithmetic Progressions and Mr. Melvin.

Martin of FHS who spoke to the group on Continuous Fractions. Honor Math members participated in a national math contest in which three local finalists were sent to compete with other schools for state finals and then on to the national finals.

Officers elected for the 70-71 school year were Carol Enzler, president; Nicky Hartsough, vice-president; and Kathy Burstrom, secretary-treasurer. Club advisor was Mr. Donald Hunziker.

1. President of Honor Math, Carol Enzler, calls the meeting to order. 2. Solitaire and other card games are common pastimes for Romona Whitehead and her spectators Carol Green and Steve Harrell in the student commons. 3. Future plans for honor math club are explained to members so they can be voted on. 4. Guest speaker, Mr. Melvin Martin, speaks to honor math on Continuous Fractions. 5. Every Wednesday morning these members of the commons committee, Mrs. Ruth Ann Gruneau, Debbie O'Neal and Michael Barr, met in the guidance office to prepare commons passes.

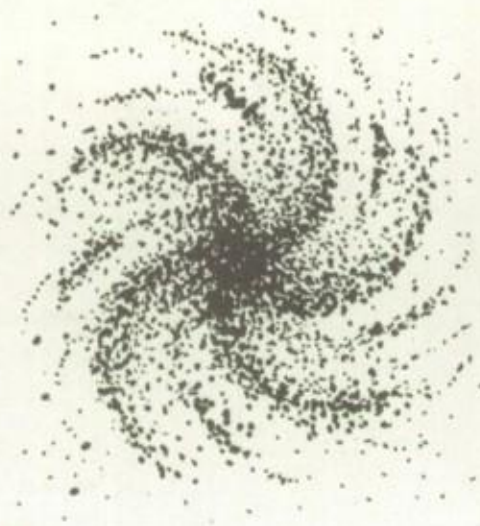

New commons committee formed

In order to assure students a good place for relaxation a commons committee was formed by student council and the administration. Posters were made by Debra O'Neal, president of the committee, stating the rules of the commons. Committee members went to the commons during their unscheduled time to supervise and "keep an eye on things".

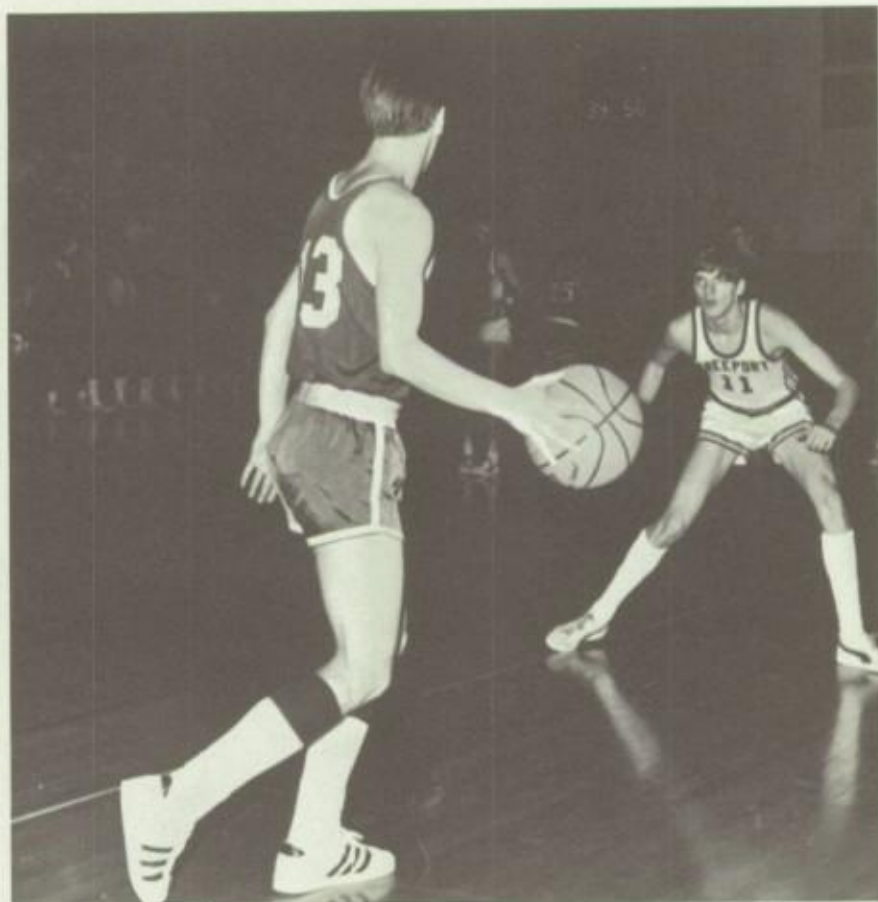

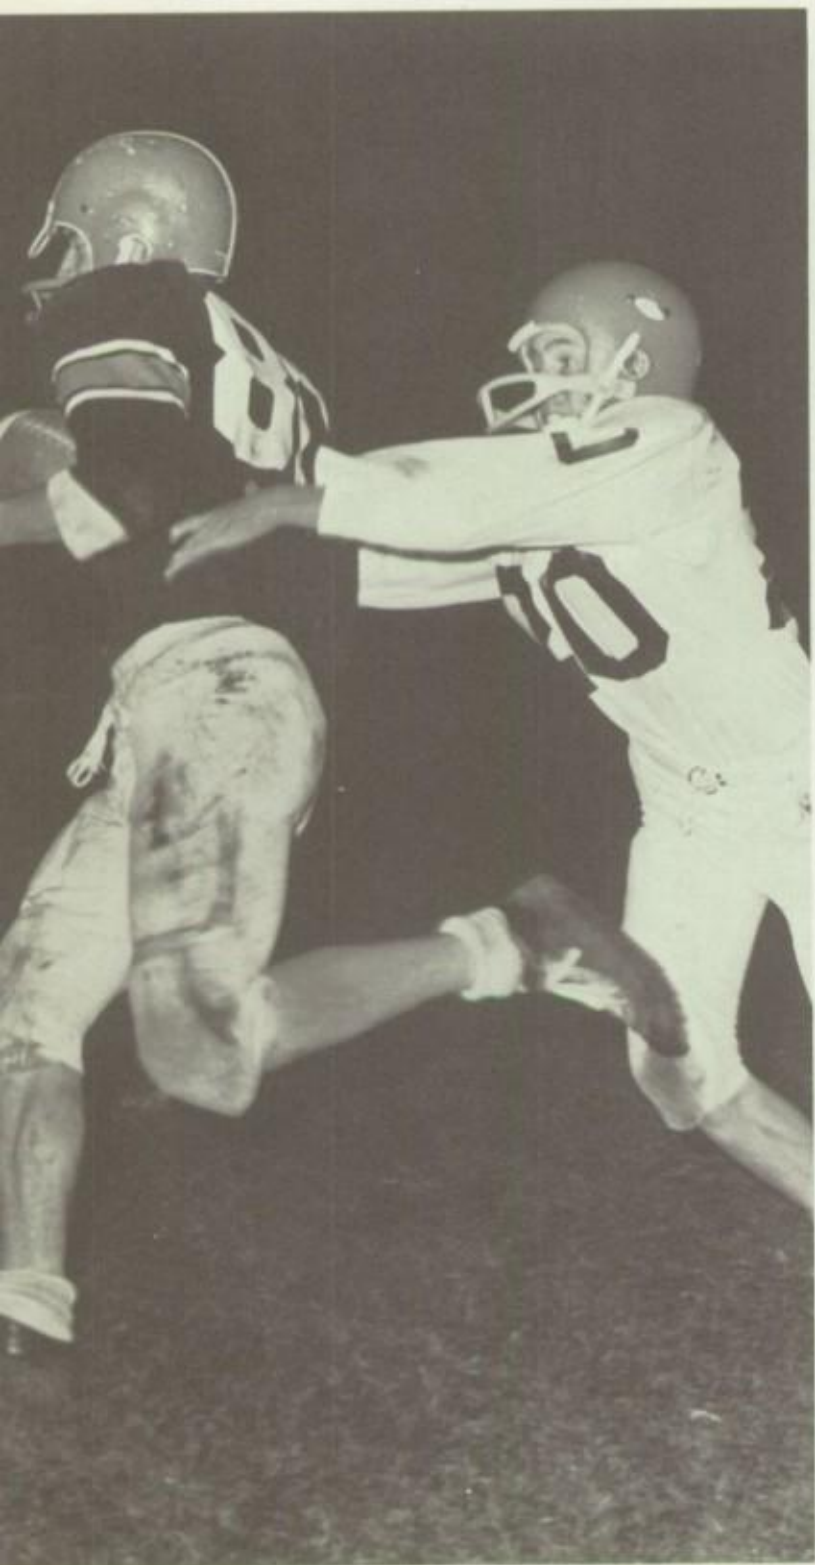

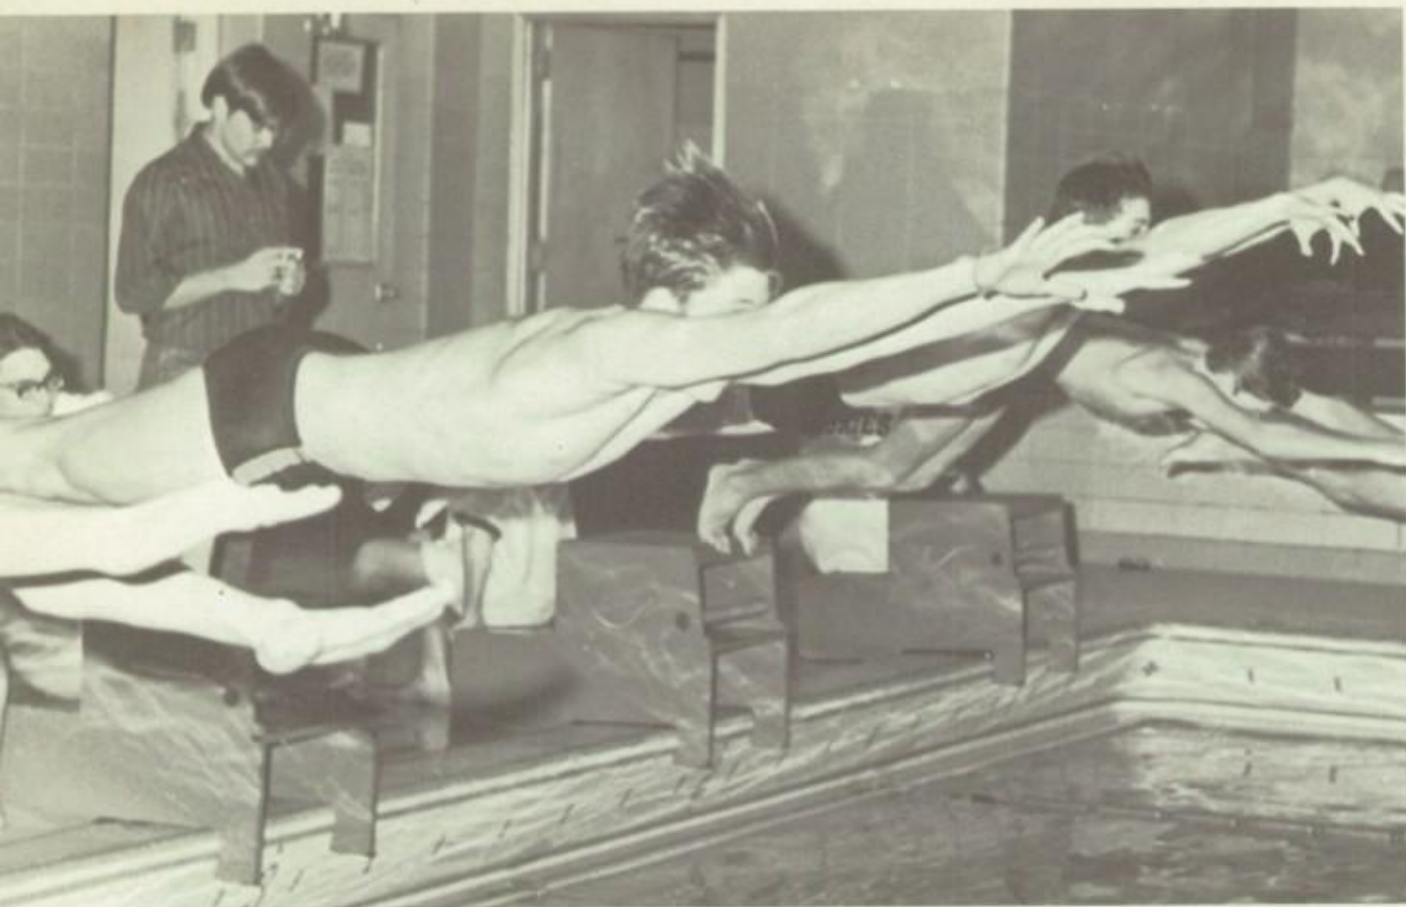

MR. JAMES JACKSON

It's only The Beginning

The knowledge of how to compete is taught by sports. In order to compete with others we must learn dedication and discipline. We must learn how to accept pain, how to work effectively with fellow team members and how to use criticism to better ourselves. More importantly, however, through sports we learn the proper way to win and to lose. When we realize the aspects of sports we reach The Beginning.

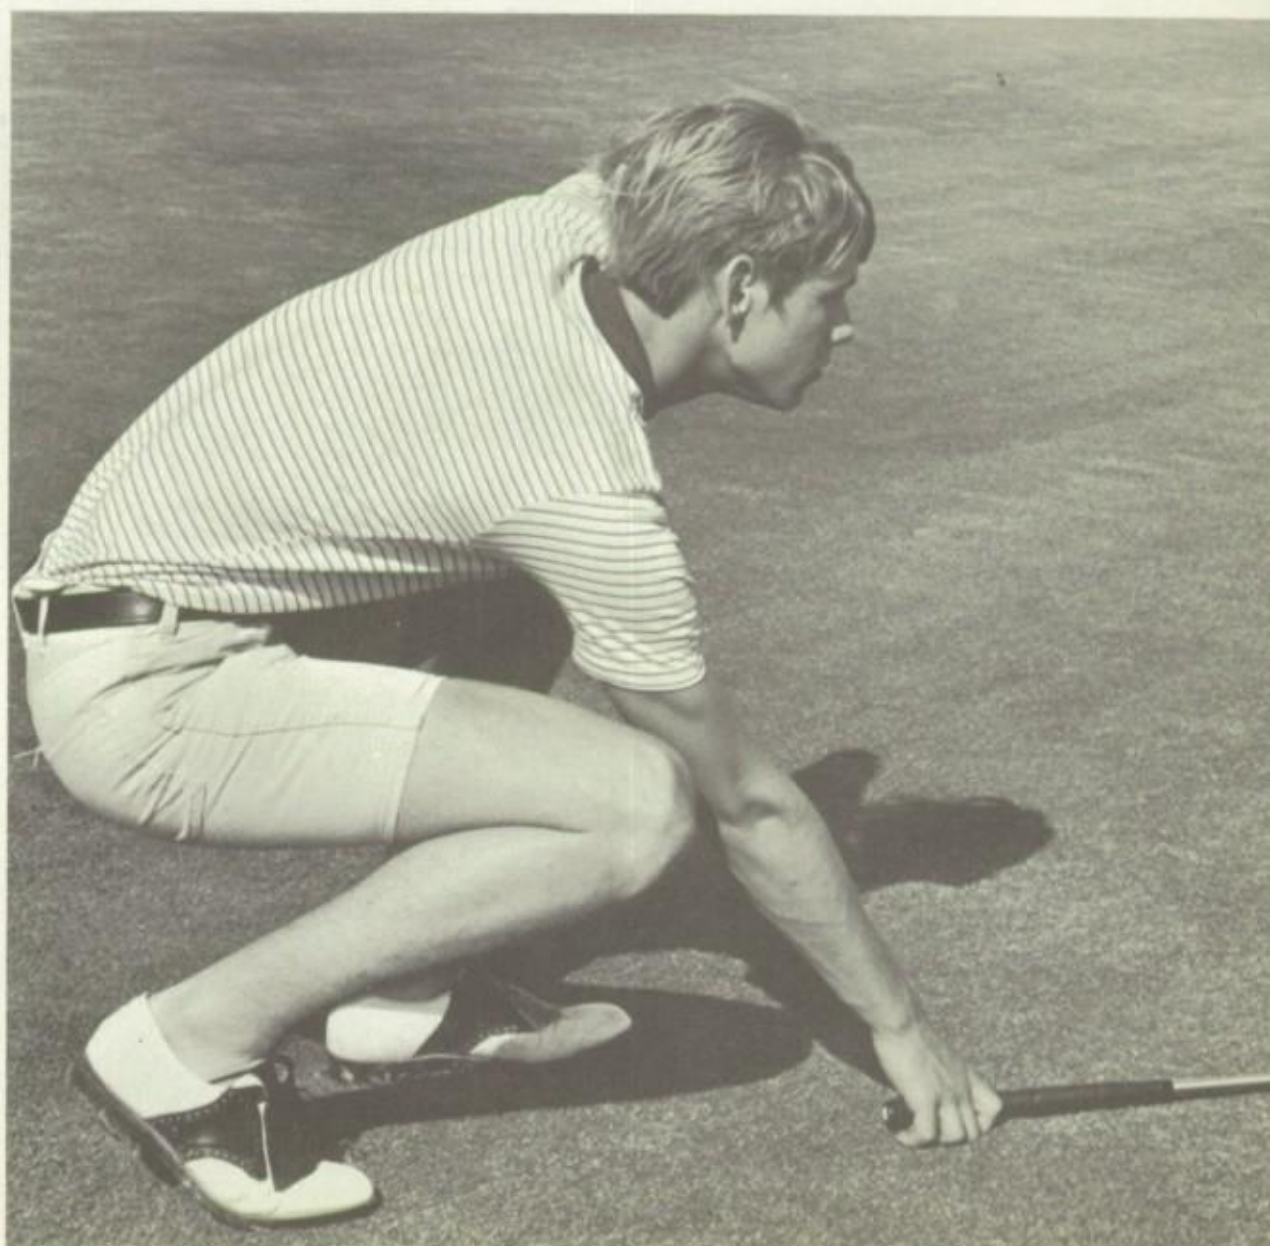

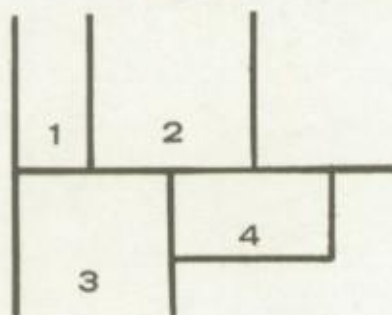

Golf 2nd for Pretz at district

With only one returning letterman, the FHS golf team still posted a winning record for 1970. As Coach Ron Norman pointed out, "They were inexperienced, but everyone practiced hard, played hard and tried hard." Freeport opened its season with a 212-202 loss to Monroe. Led by Mark Roche, the Pretzels defeated Sterling 5½-4½. Freeport then lost to Dixon 8-2 and fell to East 9-6.

Behind captain Rich Born the golf squad defeated Monroe 7-3 and beat Boylan 6½-3½ before losing to Guilford 8-7. Freeport got on the winning track again by defeating Auburn 8½-6½, Belvidere 9½-½ and Harlem 7½-2½. Freeport lost to West by a score of 13½-½ in the final dual meet of the golf season.

The team's district finish of second out of a field of sixteen was termed the high-point of the season by Coach Ron Norman. Pretzels finished 12 strokes behind East at the district. In the Big 8 golf meet, Freeport finished in seventh place. In their only other big meet the squad finished fourth out of six, 32 strokes behind the winning Guilford team. Rich Born who was elected Most Valuable Player failed to qualify for the state meet for the first time in years.

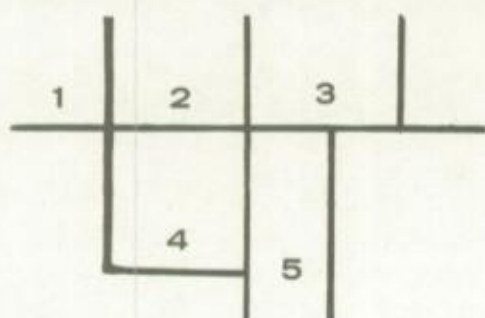

1. Pausing a moment from play, Scot Jacobs uses the time to record his score. 2. Varsity golfers, Rich Born and Mark Roche, observe the progress of their teammates. 3. Careful evaluation of a play is important to junior Mark Roche. Care and skill will go into sinking this putt as all golfers know. 4. Front Row: Keith Downs, Jerry Bender, Rich Born, Doug Brown, Jim Jacobs, Chuck Heisler, Drake DeFrane, Jeff Eder. Row Two: Alan Lutz, Chuck Beckmire, Steve Kuntz, Mark Winter, Doug Wessel, Tom Fransen, Mike Bauch, Rich Schirmer. Row Three: Jon Ocker, Bob Fish, Mike Perry, Chuck Ackerman, Mike Schirmer, Tom Fenton, Scot Jacobs, Kerry Hughes, Mark Roche, Coach Ron Norman.

Pretzels place third

In spite of a tough schedule, the 1970 baseball team experienced a winning season. In the first game of the season, Belvidere shut-out Freeport 1-0. The Pretz rallied in their next two games by defeating Boylan 7-4 and Byron 6-2, in a non-conference tilt. Guilford then squeezed a 7-6 victory from FHS in a come-from-behind effort.

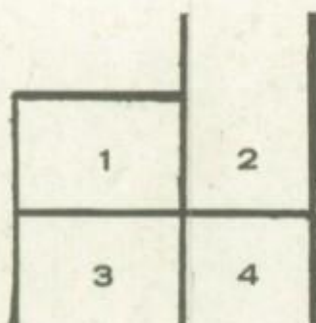

The Pretzels gained two more victories by pounding Auburn 11-3 and upsetting undefeated Belvidere 2-1. Splitting a double-header with Rochelle 13-4 and 7-9, they went on to win 7-2 against Harlem and 4-3 against West. A loss of one run against East's ten broke Freeport's winning streak of four games.

A four run homer by Mike Sanders gave the Pretz a 9-6 victory over Boylan. Freeport was downed by Guilford 4-1 but went on to a 13-5 victory over Auburn. The highpoint of the season was a double victory over Lane Tech, rated fifth in the state, with scores of 5-4 and 14-6. The Pretzels then shutout Harlem 4-0 and triumphed over West 10-9.

Freeport saw defeat in the last conference game as Belvidere won 9-6. They ended with a 9-5 record in conference play; 15-7 overall, to finish third in the Big 8.

Big 8 first is season highpoint

Coached by Bob Luedeke, the 1970 Pretzel tennis squad attained an outstanding dual meet record of sixteen wins against one loss. Freeport blanked Harlem 9-0 in the season opener, and beat Monroe $6\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$, West 6-3, East 8-1, and Boylan 6-3 in the games that followed. The Pretzels posted another victory over East and remained unbeaten in their next four dual meets: 5-4 Guilford, 5-4 Boylan, 6-3 Dixon, and 7-2 Auburn.

Freeport suffered their only defeat of the season in a non-conference meet with a 2-7 loss to Sterling. The squad recovered easily and went on to triumph over Guilford 7-2, Reedsville, Wisconsin 8-4, Belvidere 7-2, and Beloit Catholic 4-2. In the final meets of the season, Harlem went down in an 8-1 loss and West was defeated 6-3.

Varsity netmen went undefeated in conference competition to gain first place and finished third at the district meet. MVP and captain honors went to Tim Opel, who lost only one singles match during the season and earned the title of Big 8 singles champion. The doubles team of Opel and Larry Gagnon advanced to state tournament play.

Two field members at district

Members of the 1970 track team worked hard with Coach Alex McKnight on hand to supervise their efforts. The Pretzels saw defeat in the first meet as East won 88-39, but won the next meet with Boylan 75-62. The Pretzels kept trying but were downed 76-53 by Guilford and Auburn 92-35. In non-conference competition with Monroe, the Cheesemakers narrowly edged Freeport 64-63. Belvidere came to defeat 72-55, but Freeport lost to Harlem 70-57 and to West 88-39. The varsity squad ended in fifth place in the Big 8 standings.

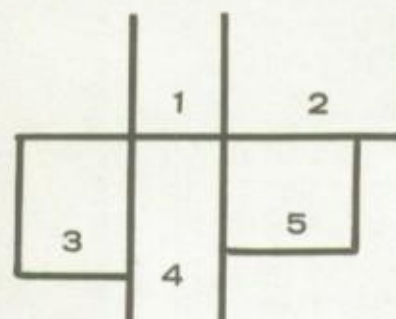

One outstanding member of the team was high-jumper Scot McKnight, who finished first in district competition as Freeport's only representative down state. Scot scored the most points for the Pretzels during the course of the season to become the most valuable member of the team. Doug Engle was the only other team member to place in the district meet, managing fourth in the shot put. Mike Diestelmeier won the award as the outstanding distance runner. Keith Jennings and Diestelmeier were co-captains. Freeport won both its triangular meets and the sophomores exhibited their strength in a second place district effort.

Harriers' attempts effective

One of the most demanding sports offered at FHS is cross country. Although many boys were on the team, rules allowed only seven to compete in each meet. The team with the lowest score was the winner.

Most practices and meets were run on dry ground. In the first of the dual meets, the Pretzels lost to Sterling 31-24, and East 40-18. They defeated Harlem 23-34, but lost to Guilford 47-16. Their record improved with wins over Boylan 21-40, Jefferson 17-41, and Auburn 19-41. Dixon proved strong with a 15-45 win over the Pretzels, but Freeport took the first five places to defeat Jefferson 15-46. The 1970 cross country squad ended their string of dual meets with a victory of 17-46 over Belvidere and a loss to West 41-15. They posted a 6-5 record overall, finishing fourth in the Big Eight with 4 wins, 3 losses.

Freeport took twelfth at Janesville Midwest Invitational and seventeenth in the Sterling Invitational. They ended with a sixth in the district.

Sophomores finished twelfth at Sterling and fifth in the Big Eight with a 3-4 record. J-V placed third in the Big Eight Standings.

Captain for 1970 was Mike Hutmacher and co-captains chosen for the 1971 team were Bruce Brei and Scot McKnight.

3 Pretzels honored

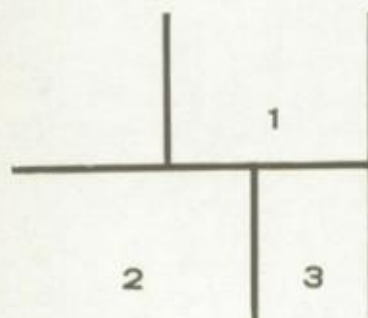

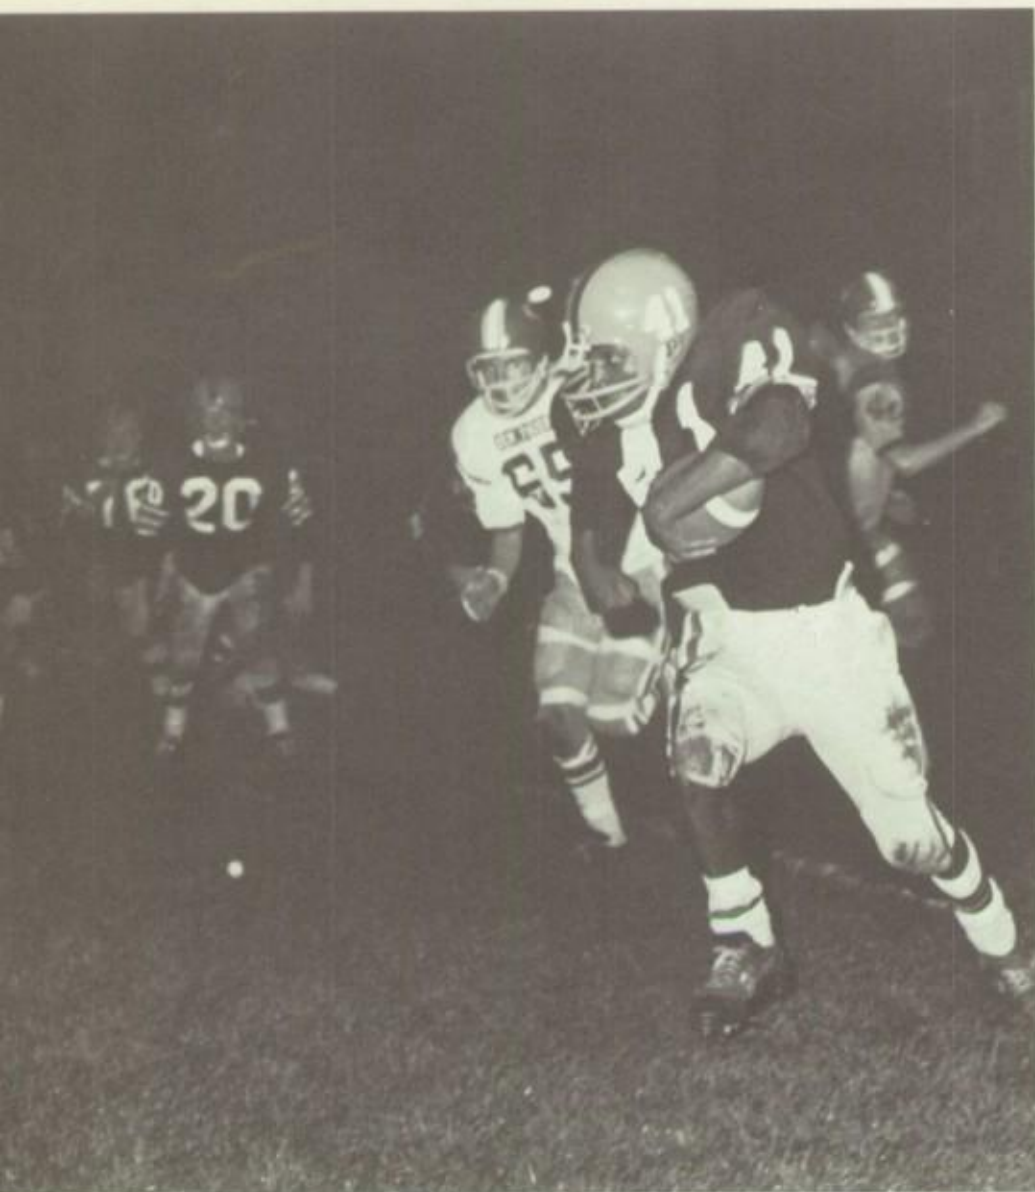

Practice began late in August for members of the football team. Freeport traveled to Dixon for their season opener. The Dukes won 14-0. In their first home game the Pretzels hosted the Geneseo Maple Leafs and were defeated 24-7. Conference games began with East on home ground. An aerial attack enabled the E-Rabs to emerge victorious, 27-7. The Pretzels were shut out 22-0 by Boylan, and lost to Guilford 34-7.

With much homecoming spirit and team effort, Freeport upset the Auburn Knights 19-6 in their best game of the season. Turning in another fine performance, they shut out Belvidere 13-0. In their last home game, Freeport was blanked 12-0 by Harlem. The Warriors of West won 40-0 over Freeport, ending the season.

Freeport's varsity football team for 1970 finished with a 2-7 conference record and 2-9 overall. They were sixth in Big Eight standings. Co-captains for 1970 were Steve Nott and Dave Schwartz. Those elected for 1971 were Greg Garman and Scott Stewart. Dave Schwartz earned honors as MVP for his contributions on both offense and defense. All conference honors went to Terry Frint, defensive end; Joe Stebbins, interior lineman; and Cal Stewart, fullback. The fall of 1970 marked the close of Nate Johnson's career as head coach at FHS.

Geneseo loses 47-6

Anticipation described the Freeport Pretzelets in their first game in their high school career, although unable to get a tight defensive unit together, they lost to the Dixon Dukes 36-6. They mounted a tremendous offensive showing against Geneseo which led them to a 47-6 victory.

In their first conference efforts, the Pretzelets suffered losses of 25-7 by East and 22-0 by Boylan. Traveling to Rockford they were defeated 24-14 by Guilford. Freeport's sophomores played to a 20-20 tie with the Auburn Squires on homecoming. They then lost to Belvidere 34-7 and were defeated 27-12 by Harlem. In the final game of the season, Freeport narrowly lost to West 8-7.

They finished last in the Big Eight sophomore conference. Mark Seely and Clarence Dickens were named honorary team co-captains.

Pretz top Big eight rivalries

Under the direction of head basketball coach Farrell Benefiel, the 1970-71 Pretzel basketball team got off to an unexpected start by winning their first four games. Playing host to Sterling, the Pretzels defeated the Golden Warriors 71-60 in the season opener. Three more teams saw defeat as Freeport won over Monroe 62-48. West 58-57 and East Moline 56-55 in overtime. Traveling to Rockford, the Pretz lost to the East E-Rabs 70-66, then went to Dixon to lose 75-69. Guilford emerged victorious 62-55, as did Boylan 76-56.

Over the Christmas holidays the Freeport Pretzels played in the Centralia Tournament, losing to Centralia 74-54 and West Frankfort 80-68. Auburn narrowly edged Freeport 63-61, as did Belvidere 35-34. In other games Harlem won 83-75, Rock Falls won 66-57 and West won 89-66. It should be noted that due to an ineligible player West had to forfeit this game, and also a football game to Freeport. The final football standings put the Pretzels in 5th place with 3 wins and 4 losses. Freeport was 6th in overall standings.

In a surprise basketball victory over East, Freeport won 60-54, but lost to Guilford 69-56, Boylan 74-56 and Auburn 70-48. The Pretz squad defeated Belvidere 60-53 and played Harlem in the final conference contest of the regular season.

Five wins for sophs

In nineteen games the sophomore basketball squad came up with five conference victories. The Pretzelets defeated West 39-35, East 60-54 and Belvidere 71-55. The sophomores defeated Boylan on two occasions, winning 69-57 and 62-44. The Pretzelets showed many improvements as the year progressed but were without the talents of Dave Timmersman, who was moved up into varsity play.

Freestyle record is improved

Even though the swimming team suffered a losing season, they managed to break two records. The 400 yard free-style relay team of Bruce Brei, Chris Donahue, Greg Garman and Glenn Sharkey recorded a time of 3:45.8 to break the old time of 3:47 set in 1965. Kurt Miller set a new diving record with 211 points against Jefferson. In dual meets Freeport lost to Elgin 81-15 and 53-43, to DeKalb 55-47, Jefferson 49-46, Auburn 57-39 and 51-45 and to Guilford 75-20. The FHS swimmers then rallied to defeat Harlem 67-28, 70-25, and 71-24, but fell to East 78-17, West 50-36 and Auburn 56-40 and 57-39. They ended the season with a 3-11 record, finishing sixth in the conference meet. Most valuable team member was Chuck Kaney, and Glenn Sharkey and Bruce Brei were picked as honorary co-captains.

Grapplers defeat Galena 32-16

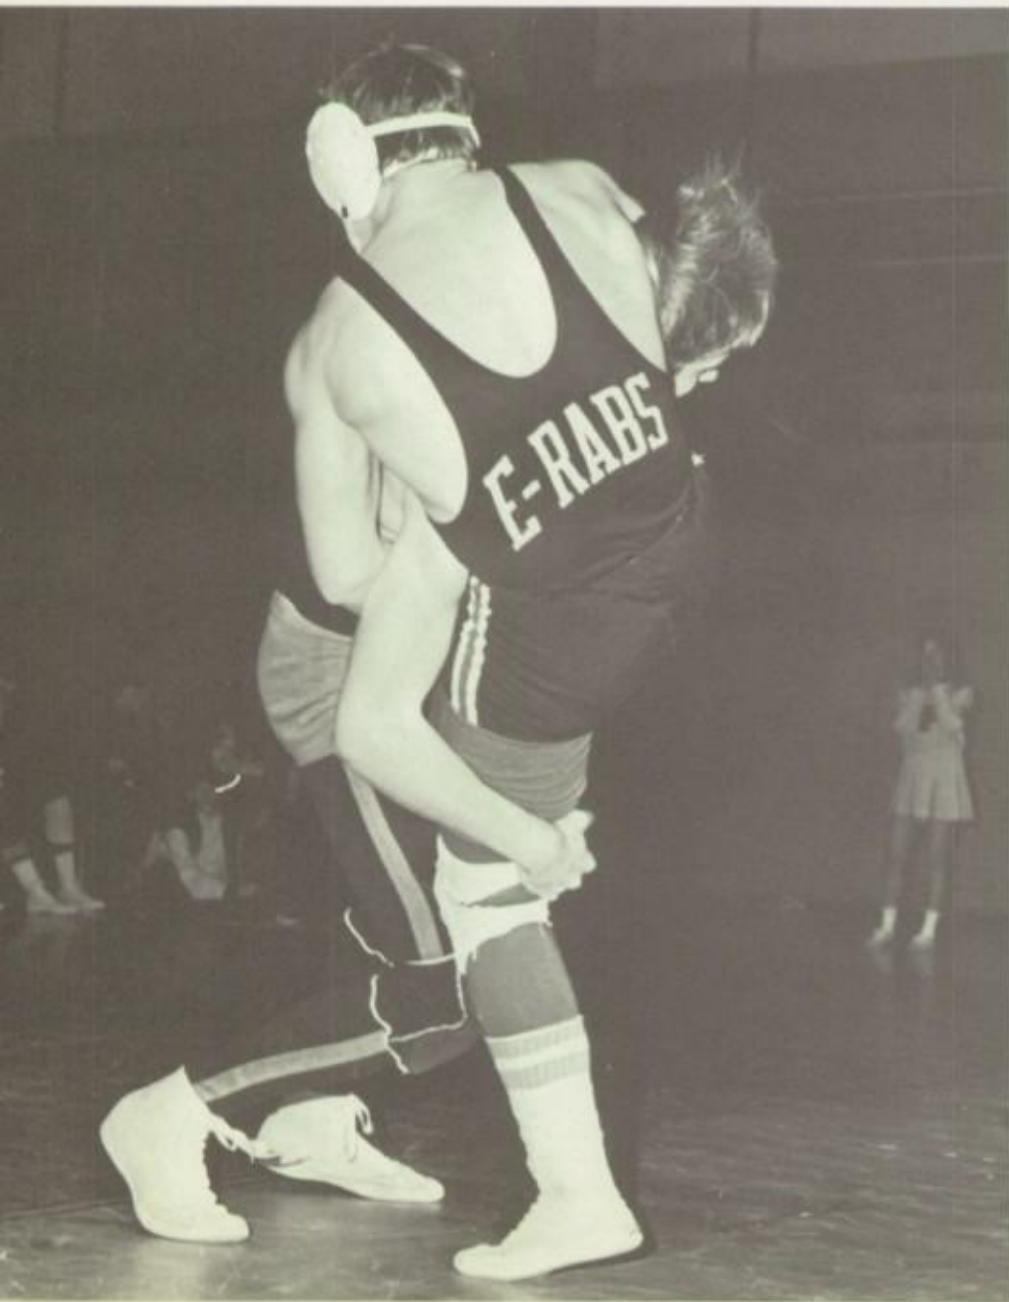

Freeport wrestlers got off to a slow start, improving some throughout the season, but hindered by lack of experience. In non-conference meets they lost to Sterling 52-0, Rock Falls 35-8 and Hononegah 39-9. The 70-71 squad then fell to Harlem 30-9, Boylan 28-16, Guilford 37-13 and Belvidere 41-3.

In other nonconference meets, FHS lost to Sterling Neuman 35-8 and Stockton 42-6, but defeated Galena 32-16 in their only victory. The Pretzels finished out the regular season with losses of 25-23 to West and 39-7 to East. Honorary captains were Kevin Becker, Gary Luthin and Phil Perry. Doug Hotek was elected the most valuable wrestler.

1. Shaking hands, a traditional start to every match, is done by Craig Perry and his opponent from East. 2. During a match, an opponent has a Freeport wrestler in a hold after starting from a referee's position. 3. Mr. Stallings helps Curt Wilson remove his headgear after a J.V. wrestling match. 4. Front Row: Dan Osterguard, Doug Hotek, Rick Heiden, Gary Luthin, Mike Frautschy, Kevin Becker, Scot Aten, Frank Petta, Craig Perry, Phil Perry, Darryl Wilhelms, Coach Rich Stallings. Row 2: Bob Kane, Tim Heiden, Jim Veith, John Mason, Richard Schreck, Kevin Otte, Chuck Luthin, Gary Edison, Jeff Swanberg, Randy Whitson, John W. Brandt. Row 3: Greg Taubert, Mgr., Dave Wine, Mgr. Bruce Knecht, Jeff Harrenstein, Steve Sewell, Dave Lieper, Ransom Wolfe, Albert O'Neal, Brian Aupperle, Jim Kuehl, Curt Wilson, Coach Ervin Olson. 5. A Pretzel grappler attempts a take down on his East opponent.

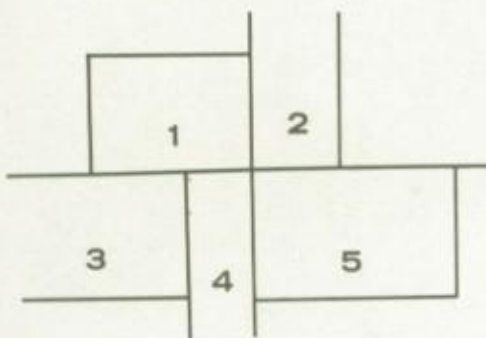

20 girls make up cheerleaders

Twenty girls, ranging from sophomore to senior, made up the cheerleading squads for FHS. Tryouts held in April determined the varsity squad of six, two wrestling and two swimming cheerleaders. Tryouts held in September added two swimming, two wrestling and six JV cheerleaders. Both varsity and the JV squad practiced three nights a week and wrestling and swimming two nights. Alternate for the varsity was Cathy Meier and Claudette Carter for JV. Advisor for the cheerleaders was Miss Nadine Boyer.

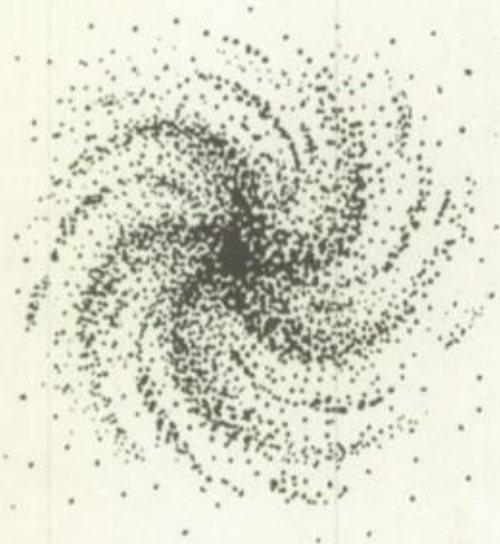

New uniforms were purchased by the varsity squad. An added activity of the cheerleading squads was to alternate cheering for the JV games played every Monday night.

1. Varsity Cheerleaders. Front Row: Diane Scofield, Debra O'Neal, Crystal Moore. Row 2: Kristi Ludolph, Tammy Riddell and Micky Pontius. 2. Varsity cheerleader, Diane Scofield, displays a look of happiness as she cheers at a basketball game. 3. Swimming and Wrestling. Front Row: Becky Naylor. Row 2: Eddie O'Neal, Julie Fogel, Garnet Engleman, Beth Anderson. Row 3: Deb Boyer, Emily Oppenheimer, Rhonda Maines. 4. Pretzel Annie, portrayed by Carolyn Morgan, encourages spirit at a home basketball game. 5. JV Cheerleaders. Front Row: Barb Tkocz, Diane Dilworth, Lisa Anselme. Row 2: Pam Marks, Debbie Ditzler, Kim Kinzig.

It's only The Beginning

Without students there would not be any academics, or activities, or organizations or sports. And without these we do not have a beginning. At High School we find students learning how to react to society and how to live in it. This is where The Beginning lies; in High School, with the students. With our friends we find a beginning. Here; and it is only The Beginning.

Sophomores given orientation

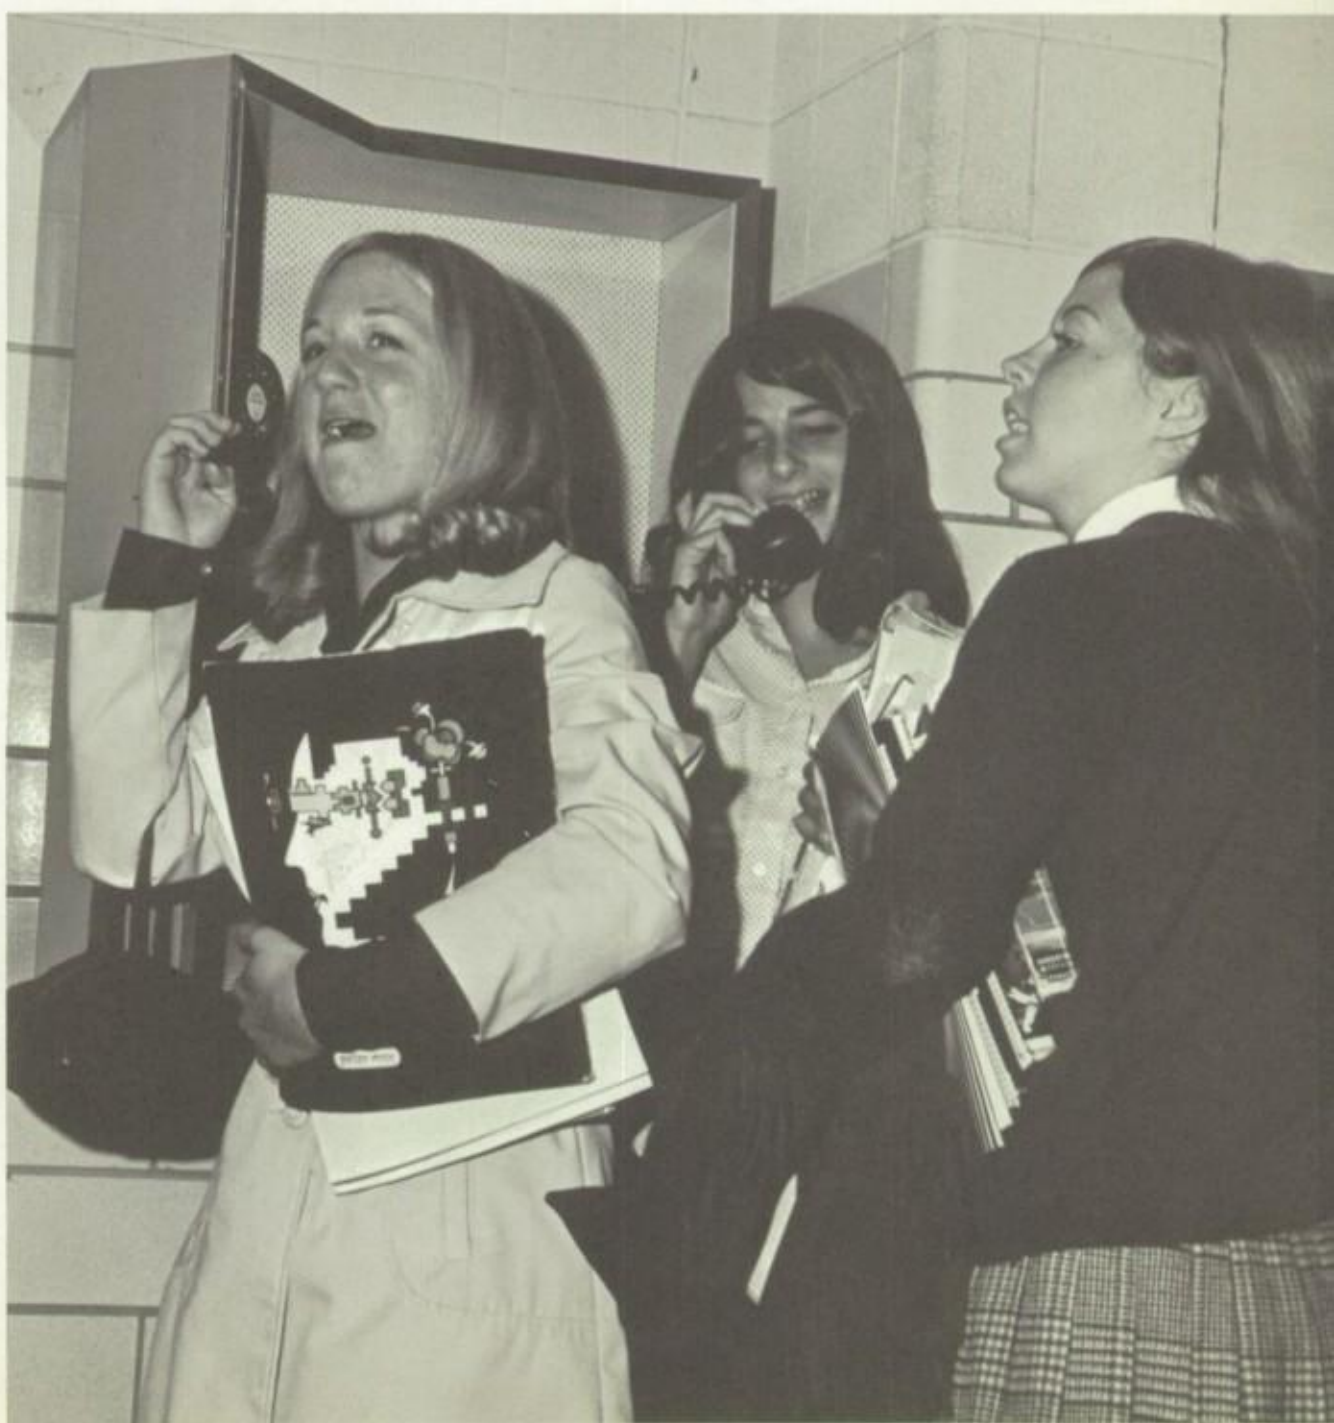

A huge gymnasium packed with kids seemingly no one knew with teachers trying to 'organize' them. This was the sophomores first experience in high school. All explained, questions answered and information given, but generally little of it seemed to be heard or understood. Comparing class schedules was much more important than orientation.

With leadership provided by Scott Brodnick, president; Steve Knight, vice president; and Linda Powell, secretary-treasurer, the class began to work on homecoming. The float with 'I Drub Thee Knight' as a theme, and a skit about dragons and knighthood.

Starting early to raise money for the prom, the class sponsored a dance during football season. However much of their dance profits went for expenses during color week.

1. Inquiring about an announcement read over the P.A., Tad Bassett waits in the main office. 2. Jan Winter asks Miss Freiding for help with her French assignment. 3. A Pretzel win affects Ellen Zrimsek, Emily Oppenheimer and Debbie Boyer in a special way. 4. This art display holds the interest of Russell Schafer. 5. Homecoming attendant, Emily Oppenheimer, is escorted by Paul Midstokke.

Class of '72 enjoys active year

After one year of high school, the junior class decided that it was going to be their best year at FHS, so far. Presiding over the class was Dave Jeffrey, president; Rick Noble, vice-president; and Sherri Brokhausen, secretary-treasurer.

With homecoming their first major project, the juniors pulled through victorious winning both the skit and float competition. The skit, a take-off on Peter Pan, was entitled "Peter Pretzel". The float theme was "Lilies of the Field", and depicted two Auburn Knights falling into their graves. Juniors participated in one event that wasn't so triumphant, the faculty-junior boys football game, at which the boys lost to the faculty 57-14.

Prom was the main concern throughout the year and raising money for the event was important. The juniors sponsored a dance, bake sales, car washes, and staged the annual junior class play in April.

1. Playing the part of Tinkerbell, Barb Tkocz adds humor to the junior homecoming skit. 2. Junior homecoming attendant, Sue Myers, is escorted by Greg Garman at the afternoon assembly. 3. To answer a question asked by Jeff Prasse, Mrs. Ayers refers to papers on her desk. 4. Biology student Mark Holey feeds a hamster during an unscheduled mod. 5. A Pretzel ball carrier tries to avoid being tackled by an opponent.

Louise Clark chosen president

If there had to be one word that would wrap up the senior's three year stay at FHS, it would be originality. Changing tradition, the class of '71 elected three girl officers, a boy and girl commencement leader and had a comedy senior play.

Although this class wasn't very successful in class competition at homecoming, they busied themselves in other worthy projects. Money for charity projects was raised through the sale of senior buttons, taffy apples and sponsoring a dance. Talent was exhibited in the senior class play, "You Can't Take It With You" and color week activities.

Much of the senior's time was spent determining future goals and vocations. Class officers, Louise Clark, president; Carol Enzler, vice-president; and Nicky Hart-sough, secretary-treasurer, led the class through all their endeavors to everyone's final high school goal—graduation.

It's only The Beginning

A beginning is a starting point. We are at a starting point in High School. We are all at the same beginning, but each one of us will take a different path from this point. Because of this we all participate in the total life of the school in different ways. Some might only go to classes, others will be in every play and a member in ten clubs. We see a beginning. It is only The Beginning.

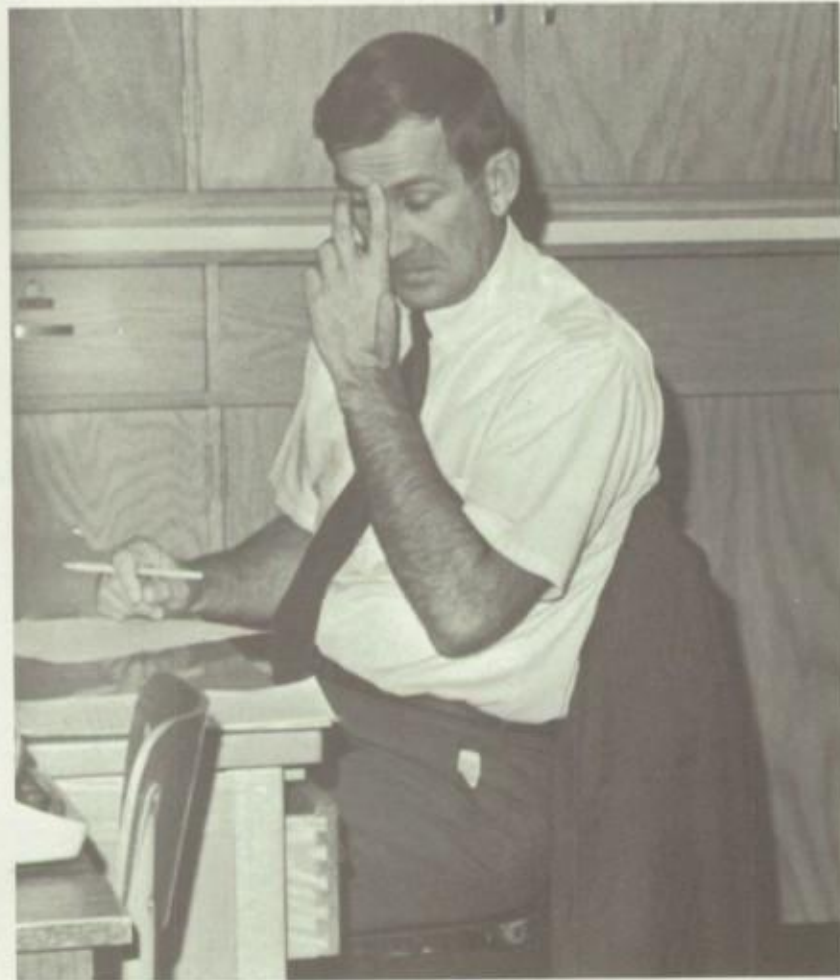

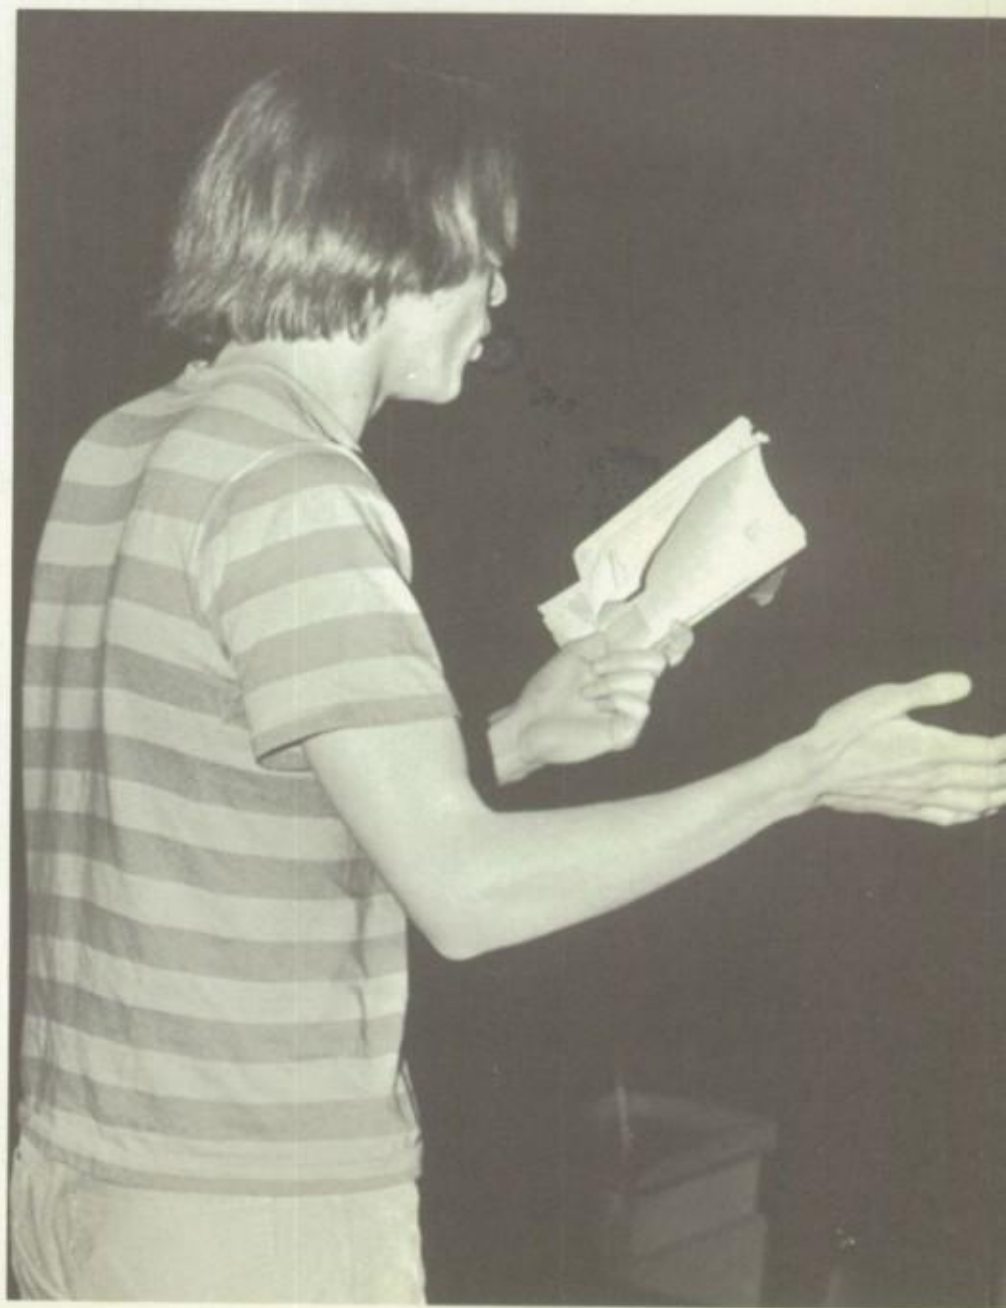

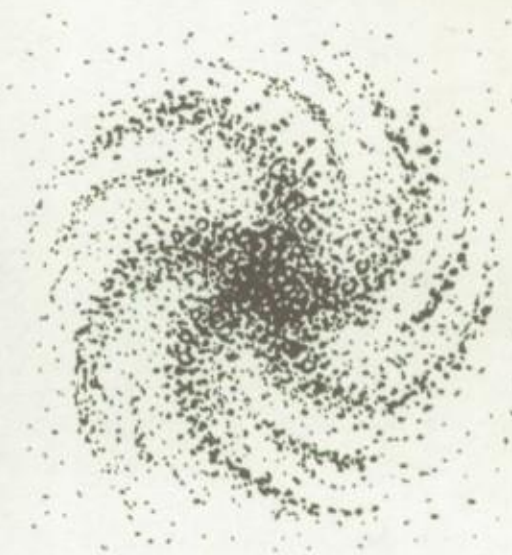

It's only The Beginning

High School is the end of a type of security. After High School we have greater control over what we want to do with our lives. No longer will we have so many rules to follow. However, by our own participation in the school events we formulate ideas relating to our own goals in later life. We can see that while High School provides security it prepares us for an unsheltered life. It's only The Beginning.

It's only The Beginning

High School puts us at the center of the spiral galaxy. Whichever direction we choose to go we move away from the starting point. In High School we learn how to deal with other people and ourselves for the first time. We develop ideas and attitudes that we will use to attain our goals that we have set up. Ideas and attitudes that were formed in High School; at a beginning. This is The Beginning.

The End—Yet The Beginning

This is The Beginning. We know that in whatever direction we choose to go we all have the same beginning or starting point. In High School we set up our future goals and try to prepare ourselves for them. We prepare ourselves by taking special courses, by being in certain plays, by joining organizations, by going out for sports, by running for certain positions and by just associating with people. We know that in whatever direction we choose to go, we all prepared for this direction at the same place; at the same beginning. Although each person starts at the same place he utilizes high school in different ways to attain a particular goal. For the first time in our lives we have to make decisions that will significantly affect our futures. We are no longer the children who have everything planned for them. For the first time we realize that we must plot our future. Now we prepare our future. This is The Beginning. It is only The Beginning.
